Hello Admins,

Today during my third period, three students walked out of my class before the bell rang and without permission: [redacted] (9th grade), [redacted] (9th grade), and [redacted] (10th grade). I told them to come back and close the door, but they wouldn't listen.

I tried making a referral, but the link doesn't let upload in my computer. I did log the incident onto power point.

I did call their parents and left a voicemail, but I would also like to request detention for all three of them, especially [redacted] and [redacted] because they were running around my class, even when I told them to sit down they wouldn't listen. Thank You.

Sincerely,

Mr. Torres

Howdy!

Would you still be able to support in 7th period today? We're watching a documentary for the first part of class, but starting about 1:00 we will be moving into rotations with new seating charts, and I can already tell who is going to resist and how. Having another adult in the room would be helpful for that transition.

Thanks in advance!

Hey 9th Grade Advisors,

I have already spoken to a few of you about meeting every Tuesday for lunch next semester.

I think we can work together to put what Ms. Rubin / Lara give us into practice each week. It takes an inordinate amount of energy on my part to keep my 27 freshman from running off the rails. If we work together, I think we can solve the problem for next semester.

How about if we meet in my room 220 every week for lunch? We could start in Spring Semester.

We can bring resources and strategies to solve the behavior and performance problems our advisees are having. We can also invite freshman teachers to this as well.

We can also plan grade level meetings with all of our advisees.

What say you?

I would love to meet Spring Semester to discuss:

1. Consistent classroom protocols – entering / exiting / raising hands / transitions / etc. These protocols could be global for our grade level
2. Weekly pulse check - How are you doing? How are your students? What supports have you received from admin / teachers? Discuss Pos / Negs
3. Rigor – how to increase / improve results
4. Team work – how to help each other – 10 min. prep period supports(visit during your prep another freshman teacher)

How can we improve culture / community with our Freshman:

1. Monthly / Quarterly Deans Lists Award Ceremonies in Gym – plan / support from Administration
2. ASB Reps in each Advisory – Meet once a month with ASB to discuss events – plan / support from Admin / Ms. Garcia
3. Semester Competitions – Three As: Academic/Athletic/Aesthetic

Finally, as a freshman advisor, I am willing to follow whatever consistent protocols the 9th grade team has / will set up.

I hope you are available on Tuesday lunches. I will bring treats.

Good Morning Admin,

As we met to discuss possible SST candidates, we discussed [redacted] progress this year.

As you can see, he has the lowest GPA among the entire 9th grade. We are asking for your support with this student.

Can you please hold a parent meeting with the student and the parent to see what is going on with? I met with the parent in September of last year as an early, intervention meeting, but it was very unsuccessful. Mom and dad were present, but it seemed that mom was the only one concerned with the meeting. Dad was not engaged, he would not look at me, and did not seem very interested in anything I had to say.

Can you please meet with parents to discuss the following:

No improvement, no parental support, parent meeting took place, no improvement.

Hi Everyone,

I just wanted to follow up on the 11th grade meeting that happened today. With Lily gone, I want to make sure the SPED department and students with IEPs in the 11th grade don't get overlooked. Next time there is a meeting involving logistics for 11th grade testing, projects, or activities, can you please make sure someone in the SPED department is kept in the loop and/or invited to the meeting? We have divided most of the 11th grade workload and it is important we are kept in the loop because we are in contact with parents, assisting with student supports, and participating in IEP logistics. We also want to make sure supports are built into AS so that the students can be successful.

Can you please send us the notes from today's meeting so we can review?

Hi team,

Please see attached spreadsheet with information on next steps and roles for the 11th grade caseload for IEP writing and facilitation. Please reach out if you have any questions!

- Glynis will need support with the following:
  - I sent the MM to all teachers the student has. I may need support securing the teacher if I don't get responses.
  - Ensuring I didn't schedule an IEP at a time/day that doesn't work for your schedule or for the school. I sent MM for all of the IEPs today. If you can look at these dates and let me know if any are problematic. I will begin creating IEP notifications this week, but want to ensure there are no conflicts.
  - Passing out the IEP notifications to the students, and collecting back from students.
  - Is there a specific form you use for collecting teacher input? I have the one I use, but I don't want to confuse people if you have one you are using. If so, can you please send me either the soft copy or Google link (whichever you are using).

Thank you for all of your help!

There is a Google Spreadsheet that is linked in the agenda (Link just in case: https://tinyurl.com/12thparentconferences). The spreadsheet can be used for scheduling parent conferences. I already added our SST students and two other students I think need parent conferences to the list.

Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks for facilitating!

Subject:	72-hour Flash Incentive for Venice to win $1,000 Staples gift card
Date:	Thursday, December 20, 2018 8:20:35 AM
Attachments:	image001.png image002.png

Hi Julio,

Great news! Thank you for raising donations for Animo Venice CHS's College Access for All Campaign. It's been quite a success for most schools across the network. More than 700 total donations have come in, and <X> gifts to Animo Venice CHS specifically.

To keep things exciting and to help you reach your goals before winter break begins, we are offering a flash incentive, which starts TODAY.

72-hour 'FLASH' incentive

From TODAY, Thursday, 12/20, at 8:00 a.m. PST.
To Sunday, 12/23, at 8:00 a.m. PST

Win $1,000 Staples Gift card for the 1st school to get 50 new donors to support the End of Year Campaign, *College Access for All, during the 72-hour window.

Rules to qualify:

- All donations must be from new donors - identified by different names and different credit cards - to the College Access campaign. (If someone already gave to the campaign and gives again during the 72-hour window, it will not count toward the '50 donors' incentive).
- All donations must be $5 or greater.
- Donations received outside the timeframe of Thursday, 12/20, at 8:00 a.m. PST and Sunday, 12/23, at 8:00 a.m. PST will not count toward this incentive.
- The first school across all of Green Dot's network (TN, WA, and CA) to qualify with 50 new donors will receive the $1,000 Staples gift card. There only will be one winner.

Tips:

- Create a sense of urgency around your campaign with the 72-hour goal to win.
- Share this incentive with your teachers and staff at meetings and winter parties, through email, and by word-of-mouth.
- Inspire others to share the campaign link with their wider networks of friends, neighbors, and family.

Please don't hesitate to call/text me with any questions. We are here to support Animo Venice CHS in winning the prizes and raising money for college access. Good luck!

Dear Artist-Students,

Many of you did not begin your assignments. Please take this weekend to attempt them. You have up to one week to complete any late work without receiving an F for the assignment.

In Powerschool, I have posted this information: All students will have up to 1 week from the due date of assignment to turn in late work. After that 1 week period, the grade will turn into a maximum of 50%/F.

Review below for what is due:

Hey Jesse,

I hope all is well.

Laptop issues:

1. Laptops 15 and 28 do not have Photoshop, which is odd. (it looks like a Windows update might have done something)
2. If that is the case, please wait until semester break for Windows updates.

You can update a new laptop for me and I can integrate my old laptop into the cart, if that works out with Animo Venice and Mr. Murcia.

Hi Mr.Murica,
I'm writing to inform you that i solved the math problem you created. The answer is there would be exactly 185,745 handshakes in total. I found this when i realized that i would have to subtract myself from the 610 making it 609, but when i multiplied it was double the amount it should have been compared to when i used the pattern. that was another thing i realized it didn't have a constant first term but it did have a constant second. the formula i created was

i created it so that no matter the amount of students you would still be able to calculate the number of handshakes for example if it were 899 students it would be 899(899-1)/2 the total would be 403651.

i am [redacted] but everyone knows me by Alex.
thank you for creating this problem i really needed a challenge.

Hey team,

We talked about how to celebrate students who are reading at the 1300 Lexile level. One idea that Julio and Wendy and I were thinking was adding these 44 students to the honor roll celebration and giving them a 1300 club pin that came with certain benefits like if you are wearing your pin you can; go to the front of the line at lunch, wearing free dress on the first Monday of the month, etc…

Do you all have any other thoughts of how we can celebrate these students? You can see the list below based off of our most recent test. ☺

Hi all!

As we mentioned in early December, the 2019 Letter of Intent (LOI)* process has moved into Workday!

On Tuesday (1/15/19), all GDPSCA teachers- and counselors-of-record will receive an email requesting they complete an LOI via a notification in their Workday Inbox. The initial deadline remains 2/14/19, with changes accepted through 3/1/19.

You will be able to access tracking information via an icon on your Workday home page (this icon should appear on Tuesday…):

Attached are step-by-step instructions for navigating the tracking document…and a couple of things to note:

- In addition to returning or not returning, we still ask teachers/counselors to indicate if they are interested in transferring, but we no longer ask them to list the specific schools in which they are interested. Since those interested in transferring were not limited to reaching out only to the schools they listed (nor should schools use that info to 'recruit'), this information was not being used in any meaningful way.
- When a teacher or counselor makes a 'change" to his/her LOI (after the initial submission), the relevant Principal/Assistant Principal(s) will receive a notification to their Workday Inbox. (Notifications are not being sent for the initial submissions – just for changes, and only to the relevant Principal/Assistant Principal.) HC/HR will also receive notification of all changes.

This evening, teachers/counselors were sent step-by-step instructions on how to complete (or change) the LOI (and they are attached here as an FYI). We are also working on uploading these to the HC and HR Connect pages.

I will remain the main point of contact for all things LOI, but if something is urgent and I'm not available, you can also contact Sheena.Hess@greendot.org and/or Workday@greendot.org. (Please do not contact Nerdfone as they will redirect you to me.)

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

For those of you who are new to Green Dot, the Letter of Intent (LOI) is a document sent annually to all Green Dot teachers- and counselors-of-record (per the AMU contract) asking if they plan to return (or not) to Green Dot for the following school year, and if they are interested in a possible transfer to another Green Dot site for the following school year.*

A More Intentional Approach to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion at Green Dot

In order to deliver on our promise of preparing all students for college, leadership and life, we believe we need to foster school cultures that embrace both individuality and unity, beginning with our own team members. When we explore, acknowledge, and embrace the differences between us, we can teach our students to do the same thing, paving the way for truly inclusive environments and teaching with equity in mind. That's why we launched the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) initiative at Green Dot Public Schools.

Subject: [redacted] - home schooling

Attachments: image001.png

Hi teachers,

[redacted] (10th grader) is home due to a leg injury and will be out through January 15. Consequently, for the 1st two weeks that we're back in school (1/7-1/11 & 1/14-1/18) we need to provide him with home instruction. Due to the timing, our option for LAUSD to provide homeschooling is not feasible. This is where we need one general education teacher to support him at home.

Details:

- Time commitment: 5-hours per week involving about 1-2 hours of planning/collaboration with Gauthier and 3-4 hours of direct instruction (this is up to you based on what you think he needs).
- Pay: $35 per hour (5-hours of total per week).
- Duration of commitment: First two school weeks of January
- Location: Instruction would need to be at Armando's home since his cast renders him immobile. [redacted] lives in Culver City – nearest major cross street is [redacted].
  - - Side-note: Ms. Z (former AV teacher) provided home instruction for a student last year. She had a 7th period prep so she was able to schedule the home instruction within her work day. It can be done on the weekends also if that is better for your schedule.

If you're feeling inclined to help support our student while he's recovering (and want a little extra $$) please contact Julio and myself. Mom has all the work he needs to complete and Ms. Gauthier can also support in structuring the lessons. Please let us know ASAP so we can help set you up.

Thanks in advance and HAPPY WINTER BREAK!!!!!!

Good morning all,

As Mr. Murcia wrote in the principal's post there is a 10th grade student who need home schooling while he is out. This will extend through winter break. The requirement is for the student to receive 20 hours of home support. This comes out to 5 hours per week because it goes from last week until after the break, 12/11-1/15. The rate is $35/hr.

Please let us know if you are interested.

Hey Miss,

I called [redacted] Dad and let him know about [redacted] skipping class 2nd period and appearing to be high after school. Dad was upset and said he would speak to him and check him out when he got home. I informed dad that [redacted] would need to attend detention today for being truant during 2nd period. I spoke to [redacted] just now and let him know of the detention as well as the mandatory tutoring tomorrow for your class.

Please let me know if he does not attend.

Hi Jessica—

I have a real concern about [redacted]—11th grader—in Pre-Calculus.

He failed first semester with barely above a 50%, was anywhere from a few minutes to a half-hour late every single day (5th period) and never did any homework or classwork. Today he was 37 minutes late to class for iReady testing and was on other websites during the session. Last semester I told his mother at BTSN that he was already demonstrating these habits and then also communicated his lack of progress during the semester. She seemed concerned in person but I never heard back from my phone call.

I don't have confidence that he will fare any better this semester. It doesn't seem productive to have him sit through the semester if he is headed toward a failing grade again. Is there another grade for a lower math class that he might need to make up? Anything in Geometry…because he would have more knowledge about that area in particular from our first semester.

Hi, Wendy,

I'm going to be out this Friday, and I will need a sub for my periods 6 and 7. Since I don't have an advisory, the sub doesn't need to be there until 8:30. The students will be taking a multiple choice vocabulary test, so I don't anticipate that the sub will need much support. I'll send along the lesson plans ASAP.

Thanks for your help!

On Friday, Dec. 21st, my father-in-law is going to be sworn in as Presiding Justice of Division Five of the Second District Court of Appeal in California. I am planning on joining him in San Francisco that day for the swearing in, so I will be absent from work. I will make appropriate arrangements with Wendy for the GDCAP that the students will be taking that day. Date: Thursday, December 13, 2018 10:04:13 AM

Hi Glynis,

Almost there to winter break!

I want to check in on next steps for [redacted].

1. For the dates November 26 through December 11th, he should be marked absent from services in Welligent since there is no doctor's note for this time period, correct?
2. He has submitted the paperwork for homeschooling since he got a full leg cast this week. Starting on December 11th, how should his absences be entered in Welligent?
3. Greego and I conferred with mom that we can hold an amendment IEP this Wednesday to change the services to homeschooling. Can you provide guidance on what this looks like in the IEP and what other areas of the IEP, aside from services, needs to be amended please?
4. [redacted]'s annual IEP is due 2/26/2019 and his triennial is due 4/15/19. Can I hold his triennial at the end of February when I do the annual?
5. [redacted]'s teachers will be giving him "incompletes" in PowerSchool for his classes. [redacted] will have 45 days to complete work for a final grade in each class. Is this correct?
6. We need to find [redacted] a teacher to provide homeschooling. My personal life is too overwhelming right now to provide this. Do you have suggestions?
7. Do we know if [redacted] is going to be checking out of Animo Venice at the end of this semester? This would mean, I assume, that we are only responsible for services through the end of this semester, which would include the homeschooling hours through December 21.

I am sure there will be more questions moving forward but I tried to be as complete as possible.

Thank you for all of your support!

Can he be given an incomplete and 45 days to turn in the work?

Hi Julio,

We have received a letter for [redacted]'s doctor that he needs home instruction from 12/11-1/15. Can you please reach out to your teachers to see if we have any one available to conduct the 5 hours per week (with the break it is 20 hours total). Tina is able to provide the SPED service time, but not the full 20 hours which is why we need to consider other teachers. A GE teacher can provide the instruction.

As you may have guessed from previous emails, we have been unable to find a general education teacher to spend 5 hours this week and 5 hours next week with [redacted] at home to help him complete semester one work. I am going to his home this Saturday for 2.5 hours to get him started on his work as I don't want to see him fail all of his classes for the semester. I would gladly provide all of the hours for him but, as all of you know my personal situation, it is difficult for me to provide all of these hours. I am reaching out to see if any of you is willing to provide even one hour to help alleviate the stress of one or two teachers covering these hours. You can even choose to work on work just for your class if that is what you are most comfortable with. Please let me know if you are willing to give any amount of time possible. You will be compensated financially, per previous emails.

Thank you so much for helping me out with this. My weekdays are really packed after school, particularly this week.

I have a form that needs to get signed by mom if you go. Would you mind bringing it with you for her signature.

Hi Sherrie,

Quick question,

Did we ever get a document or form started for the academic dishonesty? Is this something that I can start for my grade level next semester if it has not been started for the school?

Follow up from PD on 10-03-18

Academic Integrity

- What constitutes "chronic" copying of HW?
  - A third offense constitutes chronic
- Add grade-level team communication to the 1st offense.

  The academic integrity doc tracks the infractions from one class to another. So an incident in history on week 10 followed by an incident in math on week 13 will be recorded as a first and second incident. We believe that sharing incidents across the grade level may create implicit bias and judgements where they need not exist. Our students have spoken about how they never get a fresh start because their misdeeds follow them. The admin will log the offense in PS so a check of log entries can let you know if you are dealing with a first offense or beyond?

- Move lunch detention to the second offense

Hi Julio,

Were teachers supposed to give [redacted] grades for last semester? I was under the impression that because she joined so late in the year she would not get grades, rather work on her semester 1 required course via apex and night school?

Let me know if I should delete her semester 1 grades as some of her teachers did enter grades for her.

Thanks!

Hello everyone,

We hope you are doing well.

Friendly reminder, please make sure you select 2-3 students and complete the Registration Form by Friday, December 7th for the Kayne Scholars Program.

As discussed during AGDD, the Kayne Scholars is a partnering program that supports first-generation, low-income students in California advance their potential through college graduation and pivot into sustainable, meaningful careers in STEM or business related fields.

KAYNE

COHORT 5 ELIGIBILITY

- First-generation (neither parent or guardian has obtained a four-year degree)
- Enrollment in the California State University of University of California system
- Demonstrated ambition, grit, and dedication to persevere through college and pursue a meaningful career in a STEM or business related field
- Demonstrated academic achievement and leadership potential
- 3.0 minimum GPA
- Demonstrated financial need (Pell and Cal Grant recipient, federal loan offers, and work study)
- Alignment with core values of the Kayne Scholars program including motivation, integrity, engagement, community, and curiosity.
- A desire to give back to his or her community upon college graduation
- Ability to engage in a rigorous program, maximize opportunities, attend all events/workshops, and remain accountable to expectations set forth by ScholarMatch, America Needs You, UCLA Writing Programs, and the Ric & Suzanne Kayne Foundation.

For more Kayne Scholars resources, please refer to the Kayne Scholars section on the Financial Aid/Scholarship Case Study deck from AGDD.

The HO Scholarship Committee will be sending 8 nominees for this scholarship on February 7th.

These 8 nominees will be required to attend the Kayne Scholars Nominee Open House on February 21st. From there, the Kayne committee will notify students of their next steps for the Kayne Scholars Interview Day.

The following is our process to get our 8 nominees:

1. Counselors select 2-3 students who meet the above criteria to complete the Registration Form by December 7th.
2. Students who have completed the Registration Form will then receive an email invitation to apply to the Kayne Scholars Program.
3. Invited students must complete the Kayne Scholars Program application online by December 21st.
4. The HO Scholarship Committee will interview selected students at their school sites between January 16th – January 23rd
5. The HO scholarship Committee will convene on January 30, 2019 to select 8 nominees and submit to Kayne by February 7th.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Sally or me.

I will be logging some other cases of potential plagiarism. They have been identified in turnitin.com but seem less blatant. I want to make sure it is in powerschool in event it comes up again however I don't think some of these cases like the other 2 require admin follow up. I will be logging the comments/student follow up.

In event there are additional clear cut cases that come up I will follow up my log with email.

Let me know if this is best way to approach!

Good afternoon team,

Here is the link to the Admin Instructional vision document. We have updated it and replied to the comments. Please take some time to read it over and give us feedback. We want to be able to have it signed off on and ready to go by tomorrow end of day so that we can make copies and be ready for Monday.

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1XRtIp6Te92CQuW29fadwTrf1SVuglDQ3vrJUGKJ_WIk/edit?usp=sharing

On a separate note, Josh and I wanted to share with you all our reflection on a moment of our meeting yesterday where we joked about Amber and Sofia needing to be split apart during PD. We realized afterwards that it was unprofessional of us to joke that way. We have the utmost respect for both Amber and Sofia and value their leadership immensely. We apologized to both of them personally but also wanted to apologize to the team for setting an inappropriate tone and speaking unprofessionally. We appreciate all of you and the hard work you do both inside and outside the classroom!

Thank you in advance for your notes on the admin document and again for your hard work!

There is an important change in the contractual dates surrounding the choice of initial teaching assignments for next year. Please read below.

Per the AMU contract:

On or before April 1st of each year, the Board shall provide each Department with the list of classes for the following year. Each Department shall meet to mutually determine initial assignments for the following year. The Department shall present the list of initial assignments to the principal on or before April 14th of each year, including any positions remaining open.

Key Dates from the collective bargaining agreement: April 1st and April 14th

Due to Cesar Chavez holiday (April 1st) and Spring Break (April 8th – April 19th)… we need to make revisions ….New dates for this year:

March 29th – Admin team share initial teaching assignments to departments

April 26th – Departments provide admin team with teachers for each assignment

Please reach out to me or your area superintendent should you have questions or need support.

Hey, all!

Just a reminder that you will not need any materials for the advisory curriculum tomorrow. You will only need the PPT. You will be doing the Module 0, Lesson 5, which contains pointers about how to develop note-taking and study skills.

You'll do slides 3-5, then skip ahead to slides 12-15. I think this lesson should be less time-intensive than previous ones.

QUICK NOTE: Do we have contact information for Choi's sub? If so, can someone share that info with me?

Hi, everyone!

I hope you all had a pleasant break. This semester, we're going to be transitioning into the mindset mastery curriculum, and we'll have our first training on it next Monday, during AGDD.

For this week, our goals should be to get students back into the routine of school and advisory. To that end, these first days back in advisory are ideal for resetting expectations, updating seating charts, and starting new procedures.

Suggested format for Wednesday:

- Entrance routine
- DO NOW and main activity: My Word of the Year activity (courtesy of Amber Stone!)
    - Students write a short reflection, select a word to embody the mindset they want to have for this new year, then they illustrate it.
        - Resources: Word of the Year Goal PDF (attached); walks students through each step
- Review expectations; you may want to pause students after they finish the first page of the worksheet so that you can review expectations before the end of the class.
    - Sample expectations to review:
        - Entrance procedures:
            - Wait to enter until the teacher welcomes you
            - Sit in your assigned seat
            - Get out certain materials at the start of the period
        - Keep cell phones/headphones stowed away unless notified otherwise
        - Bathroom policy (should be no bathroom use during advisor)
        - Language expectations
        - Grading policy
        - Exit procedures:
            - Clean up your area
            - Do not leave until you are dismissed
- Collect worksheets, grade, and display in the room
- Exit routine

Best,
Sara

Hi team,

A concern was brought up during our grade level meeting on Friday and I was not sure how to respond. Mary tried using the advisory lesson to make a connection to her curriculum during the 7th period class. A few students said that they did not do a lesson during Mr. Moreno's advisory and were "just kickin' it." So that we are all on the same page, are these lessons recommended or are they an expectation? I feel making connections during classes could be an amazing way to support the importance of the lessons, but understand if this is not a curriculum that is expected for every advisory to follow.

Ánimo Venice Discipline Matrix updated 7-16.docx
Restorative questions Detention and ISS.docx

Hi admin team,

I am writing because I am concerned about the drug incident that occurred during 2nd period on Tuesday,s 1/15/19.

This incident demonstrates the impact drugs/drug paraphernalia has on our school culture and instruction.

The smell of marijuana was so pungent that it lasted beyond the class period. The smell was significant to the majority of students in the class in addition to the three security guards who were involved in investigating/searching students.

While other students were being searched, [redacted] was observed showing extremely nervous behaviors. [redacted] was caught attempting to obstruct evidence by hiding/get rid of the vape pen in the trash.

In searching students, a significant amount of instruction time was lost. These minutes really feel lost given the result of the incident. As a teacher, I feel an obligation to follow up with the class in terms of the incident. In addition to the impact this incident has had on loss of instruction, this incident greatly impacts the culture of the 10th grade class and the school as [redacted] was sent back to class for the remainder of the day

According to PowerSchool, this is [redacted]'s second drug related incident.

This is a clear offense, as it is outlined in our expulsion Matrix, category, number 9:

. Possessed, offered, arranged, or negotiated to sell any drug paraphernalia.

According to our discipline matrix, this falls under the severe category:

e ediate n attention)	1. Weapons, Drug(s) paraphernalia, gang language, Harassment/bullying, Illegal behavior, fighting, Profanity directed at adult, Defacing school property	Teacher: Any items listed under Severe category should be immediately referred to Administration/Main Office/CSO. 1. Complete Online Behavior Referral	Admin: Consequence can include: Administrative review, suspension, recommendation for DRB, parent notification/ conference, Grade Level Conference, Log entries, student-student or student-teacher mediation, restorative assignment.

Can you please follow up with me regarding how this situation will be handled?

I appreciate your support with this matter.

Ms. Tang,
Apologies for the delay in response.

Thank you for sharing your concern with us. We understand your frustration of the loss of instructional time and want you to know that we did everything we could to handle this quickly and with as few disruptions to your class as possible. Once [redacted] was identified as being the cause of the smell he was pulled from class and searched. He did not have any drugs on his person and did not appear to be under the influence. What he did have and what he tried to throw away was the charging part of a vape pen with no vape attached to it. When Mr. Stern spoke to him he was very apologetic and when we called his mother they both got very emotional and asked for extra supports which we are doing our best to provide through our COST team. We held [redacted] from the remainder of your class as a consequence for his actions. We also spoke to [redacted] at length about the impact of his actions on the other people in the class.
Due to the fact that [redacted] had no actual drugs on his person and was not under the influence we followed our policy which was shared with everyone earlier in the year and we returned him back to his next class.

As we shared on Wednesday our priority is to have students in classes learning. We understand that you believe his returning to his next class had a negative impact on the tenth grade students. We can't always control the perception of others, the best we can do is support each other and get them back on track with the topic.

If a student asked you why [redacted] got to go to his next class the best you can say because of confidentiality is "I trust the admin team handled the situation appropriately. Now let's get back to work." Or if a student says there are no consequences at this school you can say "I trust that the admin team treats every situation fairly and that they handled the situation appropriately now let's get back to work."

We absolutely agree that you should address this with the class and we can support you with that just let us know when you will be talking to the group and we can come in as well.

Best,

Can you please review the bottom of this to make sure my messaging doesn't sound off? Thanks!

Good Morning [redacted],

Per [redacted]'s IEP meeting last week, we have looked into the possible schedule change you requested. Please see the new projected schedule below.

1. Academic Success
2. Chemistry
3. US History
4. Alg. 2 (Rombro)
5. Spanish 2
6. English 11
7. College Readiness

As you can see, many of his classes have changed as it is difficult to make schedule changes this time of the year. This may be something [redacted] is not happy with and may choose to stay in Ms. Shariff's class for the sake of keeping his schedule the way it is now, which we understand and can accommodate.

Please let me know before end of day this Friday (12/21) what you and [redacted] decide to move forward with. This way the schedule change can be made as soon as we return from winter break.

Also, please know that, as previously mentioned, this request is not a typical request we grant students. Since we're a small school, we can't accommodate student requests for specific teachers, therefore this request is one we can grant only due to [redacted]'s needs and your special request. I hope this can be clearly communicated to [redacted] so other students don't get the wrong impression and think this is something we can grant anyone. I will also speak to [redacted] briefly about this if we move forward with the change.

Thank you.

Good morning High School SOMs,

I hope you all had a wonderful weekend. I wanted to clarify the Alumni Champion (AC) stipend payment for this year 18-19. This year the requests for AC payment will be submitted by the HO to payroll. There is NO ACTION needed on the school sites part. The Alumni Champions will be receiving the stipend on the second pay period, December 25th.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Hi Team,

Since I'll be out for Career Day (May) this year, and it's such an extensive event. I was thinking of trying to do an Alumni Day instead. It would have to be 1-2 weeks before our spring break. As of right now, I'm thinking of just doing 11th & 12th grade via college readiness. But I want to think about the planning to determine what would be best. Let me know what you think and maybe? we can schedule a meeting this week to talk about budget & logistics?

Hello friends,

[redacted] talked to me today about her schedule change and how she felt she was fine in the back to back classes. She now has first and second with [redacted] I think and is worried about that. HOWEVER she seemd like she was doing okay and I know we think the change is best.

What are your thoughts? I made no promises to [redacted] other than that I would talk to the two of you about it. Maybe we can brainstorm some messaging for her so she understands how we are hoping this will help her. Liebster how was she in class today?

Hey Julio,

I am wondering when AMU time is this month.

On this link:
https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1R1rsSJGQcwRiF5Mmkkhs9sMsQY_lVNRx_8H0W1qFI70/edit?usp=sharing
It says Dec. 12

I had planned on that day but I do not have it in my Outlook calendar.

Please advise.

BTW Josh Rombro is now the other AMU rep.

Ms. Pina,
Before you get a chance to send out the referral, I wanted to give you an update on where we are with the three boys. I've kept all three of them in the office working on Iready and/or R180. I met with all three of the boys, it sounds like there were a couple of other boys who were play fighting as well. I've called [redacted] parent for a conference. She'll be picking him up today. All three boys will be assigned to lunch detention.

Dear ELA teachers,

Happy New Year! I hope you that you had a truly relaxing and rejuvenating winter break and great week back.

I just wanted to send a quick Animo Voices Competition reminder that the deadline for school sites to select their top two entries is next Friday, January 18th. We hope you are finding the writing competition planning toolkit helpful as it provides resources for coordinating school site selection of winning entries. The students your school selects will each win a Kindle Fire, have their writing published in a GD wide publication and will be invited to a fun community celebration this spring AND the teacher of winning students will be able to fulfill a $100 Amazon gift card for classroom supplies. Your students' winning entries will be entered into the orgwide competition for a chance to win exciting college scholarships and iPads.

Once your department has selected the two winning submissions for your school, you will have until the end of the month to help the top submissions revise and submit their final entries to us by Thursday, January 31st. We will send out a submission form by the end of next week. The form will require the top two winning students to submit their 1000 word (or less) entry and identify the teacher that most supported them with their writing competition entry. Please coordinate with your ELA dept to determine how you want to support students with submitting their entries as ONLY the top two student winners should receive access to the form. You may want to designate one adult on campus to support students with submitting their entries for the final round of the competition.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

Dear ELA teachers,

Happy New Year! I hope you that you had a truly relaxing and rejuvenating winter break and great week back.

I just wanted to send a quick Animo Voices Competition reminder that the deadline for school sites to select their top two entries is next Friday, January 18th. We hope you are finding the writing competition planning toolkit helpful as it provides resources for coordinating school site selection of winning entries. The students your school selects will each win a Kindle Fire, have their writing published in a GD wide publication and will be invited to a fun community celebration this spring AND the teacher of winning students will be able to fulfill a $100 Amazon gift card for classroom supplies. Your students' winning entries will be entered into the orgwide competition for a chance to win exciting college scholarships and iPads.

Once your department has selected the two winning submissions for your school, you will have until the end of the month to help the top submissions revise and submit their final entries to us by Thursday, January 31st. We will send out a submission form by the end of next week. The form will require the top two winning students to submit their 1000 word (or less) entry and identify the teacher that most supported them with their writing competition entry. Please coordinate with your ELA dept to determine how you want to support students with submitting their entries as ONLY the top two student winners should receive access to the form. You may want to designate one adult on campus to support students with submitting their entries for the final round of the competition.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

Have a wonderful Friday,

Team,

We have another SPED Long Term Sub candidate. Resume is attached. This person is ready to start asap and to interview first thing next week. I propose that we meet with her after school Tuesday. If we like her, we would be able to start her immediately in place of the other person we interviewed.

Hey guys-

We are in the midst of our roadshow with the AAA achievement committee, counselors and teachers. We need a little more time, so I'm cancelling the NOV meeting after 95/5 and moving it to December.

We will host a skype call with updates before December if possible.

Thanks!

HS Principals-

You are going to get 3 meeting makers from me to join us after the Sept, Oct and Nov 95/5 session to provide updates and get input on some things we've been working on with regards to AP access, equity and our current processes. Our goal is to be ready with a new recommended process by the end of S1 so that you can use it to inform master scheduling during S2. Please join us.

There is a chance that we won't be ready to meet in September. If that's the case, I'll cancel SEPT and we will definitely keep OCT and NOV.

Thanks.

Hey Julio,

I am wondering about AP courses for next year. A few kids have asked me about Art History.

Would Art History fit into our matrix? I suppose we can discuss this when we discuss what courses will be taught next year.

Also, I would also like us to reconsider having AP 2-D / Advanced Photo as a mixed course. Consider just having AP 2-D as one class like other AP classes at Venice. No Advanced Photo added to the class. It might help support the idea that every student takes one AP course before they graduate. It was an issue that I discussed with Annette when she came by: how to improve AP enrollment and access. It would be a bit easier for me and certainly more useful to the AP students.

Let me know when we can discuss this.

Sincerely,

Good Morning Everyone,

Hope you all had a great winter break! I created this sheet that will allow you to see how many of your students from your incoming class have been accepted or waitlisted at another Green Dot high school. I plan to update this on a bi-weekly basis to show which students have actually enrolled at another GD school.

To use it, simply click on your school from the drop down list on cell C4, the rest of the numbers will populate automatically.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Annie,

Good morning. I just wanted to follow-up our conversation about the pending LAUSD strike. Because of the possibility of picketers out in front of Broadway Elementary and the likelihood that they will be on Broadway as well, we are going to be pushing students onto campus in the morning rather than allowing them to wait outside. It would be great if ARC could support with this by having an ARC person in the morning every day. The Strike has been postponed until Monday, Jan 14th, which is an All Green Dot day and no students will be on campus. We do anticipate the strike will be continuing when student return to campus on Tuesday.

Hi Mr. Murcia,

My AS class is participating in mock job interviews on Friday with TPP. I'd like for them to come in professional dress on the day of the interview. Is this ok? I will review professional dress expectations with them ahead of time.

Thanks,

Good morning ALT,
As we prepare for our meeting coming up at the end of the month please look through the attached Leadership Position Descriptions. These descriptions were ones that we had worked on and sent out last year. If you see any changes that you would like to suggest please add a comment to the Doc and we can discuss the changes at the ALT meeting. If there is a position that we are lacking a description for please also note that and if you are able to add in some of the duties for that position that would be helpful too.

Thank you in advance for your hard work.

Hello Awesome Dotters!

There is a super cool event on January 1th for students interested in business. It is a daylong experiential event on the Cal State Dominguez Campus, where several community business leaders will be speaking and holding workshops for high school youth. Good morning Amber,

I hope all is well and not to chilly in Ohio? Iowa? Not California. ☺

I know you might not see this until we get back but I spoke to Ms. Guevara about the books and she said we do not have a class set of the Glass Menagerie. She also said that there is not a nice way to print out a list of the books that we have but suggested that maybe you and I can take a stroll through the aisles of the bookroom when we return to see what we can use. ☺

Thank you and I hope you have a very happy and restful holiday!

Hi Everyone,

We have created a plan to better structure [redacted] break system. Attached is a sheet of break passes. Each of them will be given 1 sheet of break passes a week (6 passes total) and it is their responsibility to manage the passes. They should not be given a break or allowed to leave the classroom without a pass, including leaving to get snacks. To take a break, they need to fill out the pass and it hand it to the teacher. Each break should not be longer than 5 minutes. If they run out of passes, you can give them an in-class break at your discretion.

We will be meeting with them tomorrow to review the process. We will be taking care of giving them their break passes at the start of each week.

Please reach out with any questions or concerns.

I am writing because the field trip Sofia and I had planned for Sped upper classmen + struggling $11^{th}/12^{th}$ graders to LA Trade Tech did not happen last semester due to multiple scheduling conflicts. We would like to re-plan for this semester.

Can you confirm that we will be able to get a bus this semester.

I wanted to follow up with you regarding [redacted] and the incident in your class yesterday. Mr. Murcia met with [redacted] and his parent's this morning and he has been suspended for today and tomorrow pending our investigation into a possible DRB. Good Afternoon,

Can we please check in [redacted] regarding 2 infractions that took place today.

1) During 3rd period, [redacted] was sent out of the math support class because of disrespectful behavior and was sent to Ms. Smith. At first he refused, and was telling Ms. Smith that he was "just going to go to the office". Ms. Smith explained that he was sent to her and needed to go inside. I then walked over and told [redacted] that it was not an option and he needed to enter Ms. Smith's class. He did.

2) During 6th period Mr. Torres was assigning new seats at the beginning of class. [redacted] decided to just "walk out" and he left without permission for about 10 minutes later. He eventually attempted to return to class as if nothing happened. Mr. Torres will be calling home.

Can someone please check in with [redacted] tomorrow regarding these 2 behaviors. It is the beginning of the year and a new semester and it seems he has this idea that he can do whatever he feels like. I'm not sure what type of interventions may work with the students since several were attempted last year and were unsuccessful.

Can you please advise next steps?

Thank you.

Subject: [redacted].- Academic Integrity- Math Quiz
Date: Friday, January 25, 2019 12:25:21 PM

Hey Everybody--

Funny that we/I would have an opportunity to sort out some of these issues.

[redacted] just cheated on a PreCal quiz with his phone. His phone was on his lap and when I walked over to take it there was a picture on the screen. I do not know if it was a picture of the problems on the quiz or not.

I checked his log entries and he has no discipline entries at all. In my experience with him he has been a good citizen, respectful and has shown strong understanding of the subject.

In this case I would NOT want to give the student a zero—contrary to what I said a week ago in our Wed. PD meeting. It would be unproductively harsh in this case, I feel. He has no prior incidents recorded. He made a mistake, and if he realized it and never did it again it would be real evidence of developing an admirable moral code.

Gorsich came by my room and pulled [redacted] to follow up; I hope to have details of the consequences soon. As it is an academic issue I've included the counselor and advisor in the email.

Thanks,
Cybele

Attached is the PDF with the instructions for students "registering' their account. Since I will be mass creating accounts for them today you can review these instructions with them to confirm their accounts next week.

Also, the more I explore this site the easier it's becoming to navigate and understand all the resources available. I found this PDF by just going to the "Knowledge" section on the right side of the Educator Dashboard. And you can just search for what you're looking for.

I strongly recommend we both explore this site as much as possible on our time to really get familiar with it as I can see it can be a great tool for us and the students. We can assign tasks for them on here and even see if they've completed them. I even created a fake student account that allows me to see it from the student's perspective so then it's easier to put together the assignments you want them to complete or even just explain to them what the expectation is and also use it as a demo for them in class prior to giving them independent working time.

Mr. Rodriguez,
Did we talk before the break about the Healthy Kids survey? We need to use PE to give the survey to all 9th grade students. It will need to occur during a block schedule to ensure that you have enough time for all students to complete it during the period.

The window to give the survey is Jan 22 – Feb 8. Let's touch base about when you want to give the survey to your students.

Subject:	CalSTRS FY 17-18 Refund
Date:	Friday, December 7, 2018 10:31:39 AM

Dear Dotter,

You may have been contacted by CalSTRS concerning your refund of excess contributions taken on reportable compensation, for the 2017/18 fiscal year. If so, the amount will appear as (STRS 60 Adjustment or STRS 62 Adjustment) on your 12/10/2018 pay slip as negative, to represent a refund.

On June 24, 2014 Governor Brown signed into law Assembly Bill 1469. This bill changed the member and employer contribution rates for the CalSTRS DB Program Chapter 47, Statutes of 2014 effective July 1, 2014. Member and employer contribution rates are set in Education Code section 22901, 22950 and 22951 for the DB Program. Effective, July 1, 2014, Chapter 47, Statutes of 2014 added Sections 22901.7 and 22950.5 to the Education Code. The member rate for the 2016/17 fiscal year increased to 10.25% for 2% @ 60 members. The member contributions rate for 2% @ 62 members was changed to 9.205%. The bill did not make changes to the DBS account rate. The rates for the DBS account remain at 8% for employee and 8.25% for employer.

Assembly Bill 2700 effective July 1, 2002 created the Defined Benefit Supplemental Account (DBS) for California State Teachers' Retirement System (CalSTRS) members. Compensation earnable reported to the Defined Benefit (DB) account that exceeds one year of service credit in any given fiscal year is identified by CalSTRS. The member and employer contributions on these earnings are considered excess contributions and moved to the DBS account at fiscal year-end by CalSTRS.

Because the DBS account rate was not changed by AB1469 only 8% of excess member contributions and 8.25% of employer contributions can be moved to this account. This creates a difference in member and employer contributions collected for the 2017/18 fiscal year that are considered excess. As a result of this difference, CalSTRS has issued a refund/collection of excess contributions to the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) for those members and employers affected by the movement of excess contributions from the DB account to the DBS account. Thank you and do not hesitate to reach out to payroll1@greendot.org with any questions.

Sincerely,

Green Dot Public Schools Payroll Department

Hey Sherrie,

The basketball team has requested to use two cameras to video their game. Normally I have students fill out a form when they borrow cameras. I said I would allow this but don't know how they will get them back to me since I will be gone when the game is over.

I will speak with the coach about this but wanted to let you and Wendy know. [redacted] who is in my advanced class, requested, among others, the cameras and knows how to use them.

I will probably go down with the cameras before our meetings to discuss.

Hello All,

We waited as long as we could to see what would happen with negotiations, but since it looks like the strike will continue into next week. We will be postponing this GDILT date – likely until mid-February. Once a date is finalized, we will send updated meeting makers. Thank you for your patience. Please don't hesitate to reach out with questions.

Hi, Wendy,

Since we're still on break the week before, the best days would probably be Monday the 7th or Tuesday the 8th, preferably in the afternoon, like 1 or 2.

Also, there is a good chance that LAUSD teachers will go on strike around this time, so I'm not sure how that will affect the audit.

Arlene, do you have any information on what this audit will entail? I have been given absolutely no information except that the audit is scheduled for the 10th and that it is a "Segregation of Duties" audit, with which I am unfamiliar.

Thanks,

Date:	Tuesday, January 15, 2019 8:23:29 AM

Good Morning GDPS School Leaders and Ed Team Members,

Given the uncertainty surrounding the UTLA strike and the need to ensure that all of our schools are fully staffed, the ALT and I have decided to cancel AP-AIR 95/5 on Thursday. This is an unprecedented move on our part, but we believe the safety of our students, staffs and schools needs to take priority. We apologize and my team will look for ways to catch up APs and AIRs on the content that was missed.

Please note that our Aspiring Principal Program (APP) Seminar will meet from 4:00-6:00 PM as planned.

Thanks in advance for your understanding.

They were rolling small brown papers in the classroom. [redacted] and [redacted] continued to huddle around regardless of my instructions to be in seats working on assignments they each had. When I asked for the papers, both [redacted] and [redacted] told me "it's just paper" and refused to give it to me at the end of class when I asked for it.

Hello Venice Support Team for Math,

This year, we've taken advantage of a new professional development support feature from Carnegie where one of their content, curriculum, and instruction experts comes to do some direct support with teachers at the school site. We had 10 days initially built into our contract for materials that I offered to high schools earlier in the semester.

Ralph Bunche, Leadership, ODLH, and ACPA have already received some support from Jami Koustik – our Carnegie instructional expert – and ACPA and Jackie Robinson have some additional upcoming days scheduled in semester 2. These support days have included classroom demos, co-planning with teachers, and observing and debriefing with teachers around their classroom instruction using Carnegie. We have found the quality of support in those initial services to be high.

We have some additional grant funds this year to support some of our priority schools in math and have decided that we'd like to purchase additional in-classroom support days to be able to extend this support to more of our high schools.

I'm reaching out to you to see if you'd be interested in scheduling 2 (or potentially up to 4 given availability) of these support days for some of your teachers in Quarter 3. If you have more questions about the supports or don't feel that type of support is right at this time, let me know. If this is something you're interested in, I'll reach out to Jami about some of her available dates in Q3 and we can work on getting those scheduled.

Thanks!

Good morning Tessa and Christina,

For our Carnegie days on Feb 28th and March 1st would the support person be able to teach an Algebra 1 lesson 1st period Thursday and an Algebra 2 lesson 2nd period then we could have time to plan with our teachers in the afternoon. Then on Friday she could prep with Shazeen 5th observe during 6th and plan with Rombro 7th.

Can you check on that schedule and then I will share it with our teachers and arrange sub coverage?

Thank you!

Dotters,

As I shared earlier this week, today was an important day for public charter schools in Los Angeles. Over 300 Green Dot parents, staff and community partners joined thousands of other charter supporters in front of the LAUSD headquarters for a rally prior to the Board meeting. They called for unity, a continued focus on ensuring high-quality educational options for all, and respect for parents' right to choose where their children attend school. Unfortunately, the LAUSD Board voted 5-1 in favor of a resolution that asks the California State Legislature to impose a temporary moratorium on new charter schools within LAUSD. While Green Dot California does not have any plans of opening new schools within LAUSD, we know that a moratorium on new charter schools could limit the educational options afforded to some of the highest-need communities in the city.

Despite the fact that today's vote did not land where the thousands of parents and community members at the rally had hoped, I end today filled with hope and inspiration. Today's rally helped to amplify the voices of parents. Today's rally was a reminder of just how much parents and the city of Los Angeles care about education. Today's rally was a reminder that the parents of the 11,500 students we serve in Green Dot California schools entrust us with their children and expect us to deliver on our promise to prepare them for college, leadership and life. Today's rally was a beautiful expression of civic engagement and of social justice in action.

I ask all of us to start tomorrow with a renewed sense of purpose and understanding of just how much Green Dot parents value the life-changing educational options that all of you help to provide each and every day. May we move forward with even more urgency, even more passion, even more compassion and even more clarity about our joint mission. Together, we can and will continue to open doors of opportunity and help our students realize the inherent brilliance they hold inside.

I want to give special thanks to the schools who were able to send parents to the rally today: Ánimo Ellen Ochoa, Oscar de la Hoya Ánimo, Ánimo Watts, Ánimo Mae Jemison, Ánimo Pat Brown and Ánimo Florence-Firestone. Special thanks to the Locke marching band for making us all proud with their performance on stage today. And special thanks to the home office staff who helped coordinate buses and lunch for parents and who showed up to support parents at the rally. The Ánimo spirit was palpable today. I am proud to work alongside all of you, and I am confident that we will continue to work together to change the odds for students for many years to come.

Subject:	checking in about materials for advisory
Date:	Tuesday, January 22, 2019 9:37:31 PM

Hi, admin!

1. Can you update us on the status of advisory purchases (3-prong folders and crates with hanging folders)?
2. Also, some teachers have shared that they think an advisory notebook would be a good support for the LMA curriculum. 9th grade already received these earlier in the year, and 12th grade shouldn't need them. Are you open to the idea of providing composition/spiral notebooks for 10th and 11th graders?
3. Finally, just so we're all on the same page, last week, at least 3 teachers actually did NOT receive their posters in advance of the advisory lesson. This resulted in some last-minute scrambling that added some additional stress and chaos for those teachers and well as advisory leads. I'm not sure which student was supposed to be delivering the materials, but in the future, it might be helpful to for us to either (1) work with a more reliable student, or (2) more closely monitor that student to make sure that he/she has completed the job. Can you confirm whether or not it was [redacted], the student that I'll normally be working with? If they were delivered during 5th period, it could have been her, but if they were delivered during 6th, then it would not have been. I wouldn't expect her to mess up something like that, but I just want to be sure so I know how much oversight I need to do for her.

Many thanks,
Sara

Hi team,

I wanted to check in and see how things have been going in APEX since our meeting last week. ☺

Jef have you had a chance to decide on if you are going to be using google classroom or some other type of system for keeping the pacing guides for the students? Carol thank you for sending that form right away!

I'm waiting to hear back from the home office on the percentage question so I'll let you know as soon as I know.

Has [redacted] been showing up or do we still think he may be going to Ms. Leal first period?

Thanks team!

Hi Julio!

I just wanted to check in to see how things are going in preparing for the oversight visit. Here is the checklist we went over when we met: https://docs.google.com/document/d/1LHElVkgE4DGvidqrc9GrIKP1g_MDeCmqX_VPCLNfl64/edit.

A couple of items from me:

- We have not received the agenda or questions from the district yet but I will remind them that we will be on Winter Break from 12/24-1/4
- Even though we have not received any questions, in the attachment I provided some full answers and bullet points for response on items on anticipated questions. I hope that this helps as you craft your personalized responses.

As a reminder, there are a couple of suggested deadlines in the document coming up in the next couple of weeks. Though all are in the document, please take care to complete the following items before break:

- 12/14 - Identify 3 high level talking points
- 12/20 - Upload PDs from this year and last year to the Google Drive – include materials on supporting student groups (EL, SWD) and discipline
- 12/20 – email me Materials on the key instructional programs you plan to highlight

Please let me know if you have any questions!

Yesterday students were using the chrome books for the GDCAP. no one reported damage. This morning when a student picked up the computer this was what the screen looked like.
Yesterday after school [redacted] slammed the computer twice. Students, Ms Leal and I saw him do it.
When he did it there didn't seem to be damage as he continued working on his English essay (I obviously told him not to treat the computer like that as did Ms Leal).
But it seems like that sort of slamming is in line to the damage done to the chrome book. When I pulled him out of class he said it wasn't me I was on number 9 (I hadn't even shown him what number computer it was at that point).

In addition to this computer #2 has 2 missing keys which happened over the summer. I reported it and it's never been fixed.

Subject: Concern regarding a 10th grade advisory and follow up.....

Good Evening Admin,

So far, we have had great feedback regarding the curriculum. One of the greatest points is that teachers are extremely excited to reference the curriculum in their content classes. As we gathered data this afternoon from teachers and their experience with day 1, there was a common concern that came up regarding one 10th grade advisory class in particular.

Students from Mr. Moreno's class reported that they had no idea what "advisory lesson" teachers were talking about and mentioned that they did not participate in the curriculum for day 1.

Mr. Murcia,

Can you please check in with Mr. Moreno and see if he was or was not able to deliver the curriculum? Of course, I have no actual way of confirming whether or not he was able to deliver the lesson, and I was not able to check in with him since it was the end of the day.
(1) If he was not able to, what additional supports/resources would he need in order to launch?
(2) How can we ensure that all of our students have access to the curriculum and are able to experience the life lessons that we are working on. (Lessons build on each other and are in order- Module 0 has lessons #1-6, with the exception of #2.) We are all working on lesson #3 on Wed, and #4 on Friday next week.)

Ms. Gorsich,

Thank you for teaching the lesson in the Math Support Class. I think that is a great and powerful message to send to the students and staff that these lessons are so important and valuable.

Mr. Murcia,

Thank you for stopping into my class and other advisory classes to be a part of the lesson and observe the experience students had today.

Sara,
Thanks for walking around and supporting [redacted] with the walk-though's and for sending out all those emails to prepare teachers before and after the delivery of lesson 1.

I think that the entire school is sensing a shift in a very positive direction for advisory and there is plenty of excitement, and optimism in the atmosphere!

I think that's it for now. Thanks y'all!!

Have a super amazing weekend, rest up, and SEE YA TUESDAYYYYYYYYY!!

Hey Guys,

During the last part of the advisory PD on Monday there were some concerns brought up about policy stuff that might disrupt the advisory classes.

Bathroom use? Can we limit bathroom use or say no bathroom during advisory Announcements? (senior committee agreements) ASB- ARC → how do we limit the announcements made during advisory.

Can we brainstorm and then send out some next steps to the staff?

Thanks!

I noticed in the AMU contract, Article XXX, that the school / Green Dot supports teachers with ongoing professional development. I would like to have the school pay for a sub for two days in late March as a support. See the link above.

Take a look at the conference and let me know what you think.

Good afternoon and Happy New Year ☺

I hope this finds you all well!

I am reaching out to confirm dates and times for our 2018-19 Semester 2 Food for Thoughts. Here is the link: https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1RbddQPzllfREF29hdp550ZT1KtPegE14648JNkcYjo8/edit?usp=sharing

For those who had already confirmed, first thank you! There were some conflicts on Cristina and Annette's calendars so there have been some slight adjustments.

Special note to double check if there are TWO lunches and only one is listed. If only one is listed (or if there is an edit to the lunch time on your scheduled food for thought date) please include the correct time in column H.

Also, Principals I will be following up to schedule one hour listening sessions with you to meet with Cristina before or after the food for thought.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

I look forward to seeing you all soon!

Date:	Sunday, January 13, 2019 4:08:20 PM
Importance:	High

Hi, Julio and team!

I'm sending this email to confirm what is prepared for the training tomorrow. If you can respond this evening that would be wonderful; if not, we can check in first thing tomorrow morning. I plan to be at school by 7:30.

Julio, when you stopped by Amber's room, what I understood was that all copies were completed EXCEPT the handouts for the modules that Gerry said we should have ready by 2 p.m. Also, during our conversation, I believe you and Sherrie mentioned that you would be in charge of making the small, color-print posters.

With all that in mind, I have made 605 copies of the two handouts needed by 2 p.m. They are currently in the teacher's lounge with a note saying what they are for and directing people to not move them. If you can share with me a list of the number of students in each advisory, I can ask volunteer student(s) to come in tomorrow and divide the copies into the appropriate portions for each advisor. In order to organize those materials efficiently, I'm wondering if we already have access to 2 box-files with hanging folders. Please let me know. It would be nice to be able to show teachers where they will pick up materials and how they will be organized.

Finally, I think Gerry asked admin to send out an email in advance of the training to prepare teachers, but I don't think I've seen it yet. Perhaps it is planned for the Principal's post, but I would advise that we send it out ASAP, as it directs teachers to sign up for the legacy mindset mastery website BEFORE end of day Sunday.

I am still working on making a standard procedure for Jhocelline Miguel to follow for preparing materials. I will keep you all updated.

Best,
Sara

We also mentioned having next week's advisory materials ready for teachers to preview during Monday's PD. We can have these by 2pm for teachers to preview in their teams.

- Module 0 lesson 1 Teacher Advisory Materials: (1 class set per advisory teacher)
    - Gallery Walk Handout 1 per student.
    - Gallery Walk Posters Color printed and Laminated or sheet protected (preferred for student impact). Black and white is ok if color printing is not possible. 1 set of 8 total posters per advisory classroom.

Also, somewhat related- we received a very large donation of emergency contraception (Plan B) pills at our clinic recently. Do you think Animo would be interested in having some? I'm not sure if this is something your school nurse would stock but let me know if you'd like some. Thanks!

I am so happy to hear from you. We were just discussing this in my advisory team meeting. Unfortunately, we did not schedule Physiology this year for 12th graders so I will have to see if any of the 12th grade teachers would be willing to host this curriculum. I will follow up with that grade level team and back to you. If it is possible I would love to have a 10th grade version of this curriculum? Would you be able to accommodate both our school's needs in your schedule: the 10th and 12th grade?

Hi Everyone,

In the past co-teachers have attended GD Co-teaching PD once a semester where we get time to work with our co-teachers. However, we no longer have these PDs, so we are not receiving this co-planning time. Amber and I could really use a day to co-plan for the upcoming semester (it's too hard to do this during the school day due to our other responsibilities). Right now, we are working day to day, but it would be a lot more effective if we could plan ahead, especially for the research paper.

Would it be possible to sub us out for a day so that we can get this planning done? We can send an agenda ahead of time as well as notes from our meeting.

Let me know.

Attachments:	image001.emz image002.png

Dear Teachers, Administrators and Ed Team Members

As many of you know, last year we engaged in a large scale process to revise the College Ready Teaching Framework (CRTF) so that it could become better aligned to our evolved understandings of

- Culturally Responsive Pedagogy
- Common Core State Standards (and evolving lesson structures)
- Rigor
- Special Populations

Having done this work in the past, we know that a year of major revisions is usually followed by minor tweaks to clarify misconceptions, provide language clarity, and refine consistency across the levels. As always, we rely on a core group of CRTF Revision Committee members (teachers, administrators and Ed Team members) to weigh in on these revisions. That said, your feedback on this survey drives the Revision Committee's priorities and is incredibly helpful.

While we know there are many surveys that require your time, we ask that you please help us in this process and our efforts to "Get it Right" by devoting 15 minutes to providing us with your feedback on the framework.

The survey will close on December 21st.

Hi Ashley,

Can you give us an idea of what the CS Mentor's first day on site usually looks like? We're trying to figure out if we'll have some time with the students to do a mini lesson or if we should leave that whole period/day for CS Mentors only. That will also help Jef prep the students so they know what to expect.

Thanks!

She is arguing that LAUSD needs to increase its standards to be more like Greendot's in order to support low-income students. She is doing this for the Animo Voices Writing Competition that is due in early January. Do you know how she can get data from Greendot on some of the following items?

- Scores on state tests
- Graduation rates
- Drop-out rates
- Rates of applications to 2- and 4-year schools
- Rates of completion at 2- and 4-year schools

Hello there Venice team!
I hope this email finds you well as only one school day separates you from a well-deserved Christmas break.

I am writing to get your thoughts on Ms. Choi as we suddenly have a part-time position available at Ánimo City of Champions. Lisa informed me that Ms. Choi resigned because she was only interested in coming back if you could accommodate a reduced schedule. That said, CHA is looking for a math teacher to teach Tuesdays and Thursdays (full days) and half the day Friday afternoons. Do you think this is something Ms. Choi would consider/be interested in? I know she's a great teacher and you all are bummed to lose her, but perhaps there's a chance we can retain her in the org.

Thanks in advance for your response.

Team,
I'm looking at our planned meeting for next week (Tuesday). If you see below, we have 2 IEPs (one for me and the other for Julio as admin). Mine is ½ way through Team coaching and Julio's is the last 30 minutes. Mine also leads 30 minutes into my planned School Culture Planning with Damon. I'm thinking that we should give him a heads up. I was going to suggest Sherrie take over in the IEP for me. But, you can see that she has a meeting with Rubin immediately following our meeting.

Happy December EL Leads,

Hope you all have a wonderful last few weeks before winter break! Please take a min to read the below newsletter and reach out with any questions.

EL Lead News

Did you know?

1. Compliance folder audit is a great place to look to see if your compliance folders are up to date. EL Leads should concentrate on folders 3-6. Admin for ELs are tasked with folders 1-2. The audit tool is updated on the 1st and 3rd Friday of every month.

2. Fall Reclassification Round 2

After our fall reclassification window, we received ELPAC scores for students who were new to Green Dot this year. Some of these students are eligible for reclassification based on their ELPAC Scores, Quarter 1 ELA grades and RI Scores. The students on your roster who reclassify now will not take the ELPAC in the spring. It most cases it is best to leave these students in their designated classes for the remainder of the school year. Decisions to move them out should be on a case by case basis.

Reclass Next Steps:

- You may view your reclassification tracker in the District EL Collaboration Folder today to see the names of any students who have been added and are now eligible for reclassification.

Reminders

1. Please make sure at least 90% of your staff takes the EL Supports survey by 1/25/19
   - Teacher Survey
   - Results for Teacher Survey

2. All Quarter 3 Tasks are due by

- Admin for ELs will give the teacher forms out for approval and update the tracker by Wednesday, December 19th.

Please make sure to review resources on CONNECT

DELAC

December DELAC is available on Connect and the required components are the needs assessment and designated curriculum overview. If you choose to use the slides about iReady, admin for ELs must print the parent reports ahead of time for each EL parent.

POST: Content to post this month

Posting once per week is the minimum goal for your school's Facebook page. The following pre-crafted messages (it's better to personalize these for your school) are meant to help make that easy for you:

1. Week 1, Support College Access Campaign: We are so close to reaching our goal of 100 donors to the College Access for All campaign! If 100 members of our community give, we'll unlock an additional $5000 in extra funding to support college access for our students! Support our students here: http://bit.ly/2S9Nu1h

2. Week 2, Congratulations: Congratulations to our scholars on a successful first semester! Looking forward to seeing you in the New Year [USE A GREAT STUDENT PHOTO]

3. Week 1, Support College Access Campaign: In this season of giving, thank you to everyone who has donated to our College Access for All campaign! Your gifts bring us closer to our goal of bringing our kids on tours of college campuses—these experiences make the dream of college real for our students. Give the gift of college access here: http://bit.ly/2S9Nu1h
4. Week 4, Happy New Year: Happy New Year to all of our students and families! We're looking forward to an exciting year of growth and learning in 2019. Classes resume on January 7!

Dear R180 Teachers and Admin over ELA,

Happy Holidays! Here is your December R180 Newsletter. It's a long one, but it is a good one full of important information ☺

READ180 NEWS

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW! this Month

The Logistics…

Book Quiz Update – GREAT NEWS! (please read on) HMH heard us and you can now access all R180 Universal Book Quizzes in Reading Counts.

How do students access R180U quizzes in Reading Counts?
First, students should click on the Reading Counts icon.

Once there, students will find the quizzes labeled as "R180U" in the Reading Counts search section. Students can optionally take a more challenging version of these quizzes, which are labeled "R180U HOT".

Shout OUT to our R180 PD Presenters! Thank you Leah Ballentine, Ziggy Griffith, David Matthews, and Amanda Garcia! Your knowledge is invaluable!

R180 Benchmarks

As of 12/1, students should be averaging a minimum of 414 minutes on software. If you want to see if your students have hit this mark, click here to learn how to run the report.

As if 12/1, you should be averaging a minimum of 23 total sessions by this time of the year. If you would like to see if your students hit this mark, click here to learn how to run the report.

Reports to Run this Week (click on the link learn how to run

What reports do I run?

The Reports tab in SAM will give you the data on student performance with Reading Counts.

What does this mean moving forward?

We recommend that you transition to Reading Counts for Semester 2, as it makes it easier to manage words read and book celebrations. However, if you have a successful system in your classroom that uses both Reading Counts Quizzes and R180U Student App quizzes, you can maintain it, but please note that these words will not be counted in district wide celebrations moving forward.

Moreover, unfortunately, quizzes taken in the Student App will not show up in SAM reports, so you will still need to add up the totals OR ask students to retake the quizzes in Reading Counts.

R180 Pull Out Day #2: Save the date! Our second R180 Pull Out Day will happen February 20th at Locke High School from 8:30 – 3:30.

3rd RI & PI Administration: Be sure to administer the RI to all students and the PI to your S44 students by 12/21. Click here for a student-facing RI presentation, click here for a student-facing PI presentation, and click here for a sample RI reflection.

Mid-year R180 Universal Exit Criteria: Please refer to page 7 of the R180

the report)

- the number of segments completed
- Lexile Growth
- the number of segments completed
- performance results for each zone in the app

Read 180 Tip

With grades due soon, you may want to consider inputting some of the following computer scores–

-Software Performance
-Interim/End-of-Workshop Assessment
-Book Quiz Average
-RI/PI growth progress

Universal Guide to see exit criteria.

S44 Graduates: Students should exit S44 and be placed in R180 Universal if they meet either of the following criteria:

- PI: Advanced Decoder (green)
- S44 Software: 25 Series Completed

The Resources…

Finals in a R180 Classroom: The End-of-Workshop Assessment should be used as part of your final. To learn how to assign the exam, use the same steps as in this video but select "End of Workshop." DO NOT assign the End-of-Workshop Assessment to S44 students because they don't have access to it when they log in. If you want to give them the End-of-Workshop Assessment, you will need to make paper copies (click here to access those). If you feel that the End-of-Workshop Assessment is not enough for a final, you can also add a vocabulary exam, writing assignment, and/or project.

Course at a Glance Docs & Planning Template: Please review your R180U Course at a Glance to see where you should be during Q3. Remember, the pace picks up, and you will be completing a whole workshop during Q3. Feel free to use the Q3 R180 Planning Template.

Happy Monday!

Good news! We have 31 students selected as semifinalist for the Dell Scholars scholarship program. The next steps are to make sure students finish their remaining requirements (e.g. complete additional essays, submit their SAR/Transcript, get recommenders to submit their input) by the 2/1/19 deadline. Good Evening, Teachers,

The Educator Effectiveness Team is now accepting applications to join a cohort of Observing Guest Teachers for semester 2 of the Demo Class Program. Demo Class is an opt-in, semester-long professional development program designed to provide teachers with the opportunity to deepen their understanding of the CRTF, observe great teachers across the organization, and reflect on their own teaching practices.

Our 2018-2019 Demo Class Teachers will continue to host cohorts of observers for semester 2 and share the amazing work they are doing in their classrooms!

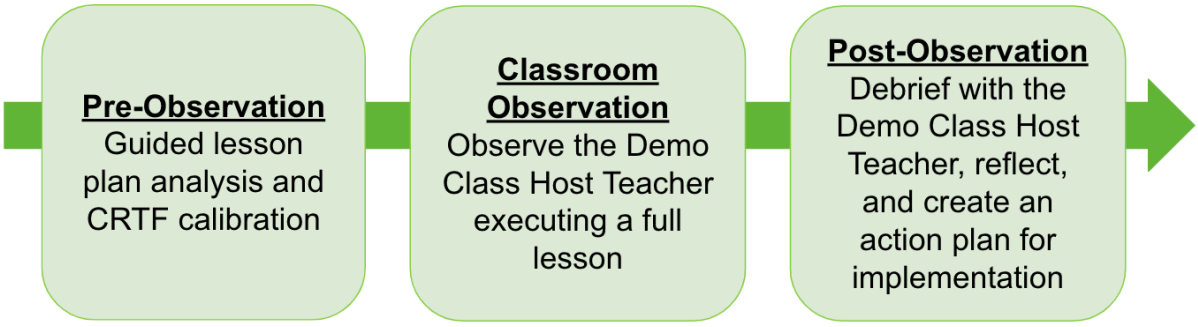
As a member of a Demo Class cohort, you can expect to participate in three full-day Demo Class visits throughout semester 2, with each visit including the following components:



We invite reflective teachers of all content areas and levels of experience who are looking for a way to push their teaching practice through classroom observations and collaboration to apply. If you are interested in joining a Demo Class cohort for semester 2, submit the APPLICATION FORM by 5pm on Wednesday, January 23rd.

For more information, please read the application form, email me with questions, talk to colleagues at your school who have participated in the past, and read below for comments from a few of last semester's cohort members. Thanks and I hope to see your application soon!

I would definitely recommend the demo class for all new, returning, and veteran teachers. It is very eye opening to see a teacher's instructional practices in a different school and different grade level and subject, and to see how I can implement these effective instructional practices for my own subject/grade level/school.
All teachers, regardless of experience and effectiveness level, will definitely benefit from this program.
It's an informative class that helped me think of new ideas and see how another teacher uses strategies to implement rigor. It was very refreshing to see students helping each other and not giving up.
I think so many teachers could benefit from this program. I am in my sixth year and I am still learning so much! I think this gives teachers an opportunity to leave to school site and see what is happening elsewhere. We have great resources in our own school district.
I love this program!!! Please keep it going because it has pushed me to create new habits to better my practice.
I would definitely recommend the demo class program for all teachers, new and veteran! It is an amazing experience to see teachers in their practice outside of your own school site and content area/grade level, and to see how you can implement these strategies in your own classroom.
Everyone should continue having the opportunity to experience the guided observations of teachers who have been identified as effective across the organization.

Good Evening,

I called home to speak with a the mother of [redacted] mom this afternoon because of her lack of work, use of electronics in class, sleeping in class, and extremely low semester 1 grades. The mom says she has other kids to drop off and the only time she is ever available is at 8am. I offered to meet during my conference, after school, or before school, but she insisted on only 8am. I am teaching per 1 or 5 at that time and am unavailable. Is it possible that one of you could please meet with her? I am more than happy to return the call and schedule the conference.

Subject:	Donations for community service hours
Date:	Wednesday, December 5, 2018 12:20:35 PM

Good afternoon,

My first year here, I recall that the school changed the policy to no longer accept donations for hours. Today is the second time this year I have hear of a donation being converted into hours. Has our policy changed? If so, can you publish the new policy for staff please?

I would like to offer hours for donations of paper towels and other materials available in supermarkets for labs. Is there a standard conversion for amount of donation to number of hours?

Today, students announced donation of a toy to the toy drive would amount to 5 hours. They acted like that wasn't much, but that sounds like a lot to me. Also a clarifying question about the toy drive specifically, would the hours for the toy drive donation be counted as school service hours or off-campus service hours.

Hi team,

Since Lilly has resigned I will be facilitating [redacted]'s reconvene IEP to discuss parent concerns. Would someone be able to help me secure a GE teacher for this meeting?

Parent Concerns:

- Language on some of the accommodations.
- Reduced math minutes. Page 2 Section D states he met Math goal 1 but did not meet math goal 2 objective 2 as the goal needs to be adjusted. The reduction in minutes in this area is of great concern to me since he failed math.
- BSP from IEP dated 12/2017, there was confusion in the meeting regarding this point, however there was an amendment IEP held 02/2018 to discontinue OT and the BSP was included. Please refer to the aforementioned IEP. On page 2 Section D of the 12/2018 IEP it states [redacted] met objective 1 but did not meet objective 2 of his Behavior goal and there is no PLP.

Hi!

So in today's IEP for [redacted] mom requested we switch his math teacher because he has consistently not done well with the teacher he has now (also had D's last year) I've worked out a schedule for him that will allow for this for next semester. But I wanted to consult with you first.

Please know Lily tried her best to explain to mom how much more structure Ms. Shariff has in her class… but mom's response was not ideal. I explained to mom I'd work on a new schedule and consult with you then send her the new schedule to see if they want to move forward with the change.

Let me know if you have some time tomorrow to check in about this. ☺

Hi team,

The following is a draft email I want to email my students' parents:

Dear parents,

It is with so much humility, respect, and deep contemplation that I share I've been offered a dream opportunity and will not be returning next semester at Animo Venice. This past semester has been one of the best working with my sweet students, great families, and incredible staff. This was the hardest decision I've ever had to make because Animo Venice has been my family for the last year and a half.

Please know that our students will continue to receive the services and accommodations listed on their IEPs. We are working hard on finding a replacement as soon as possible. Here is my personal email so that you and your students may reach me and keep me informed of all the wonderful progress: lilyquintero.24@gmail.com.

Thank you for a wonderful semester,
Lily Quintero

Subject: DRB and SAC on Thursday
Date: Wednesday, January 23, 2019 3:19:04 AM

Hi all,

Unfortunately, we have a DRB and SAC, both scheduled on Thursday and one of my worries has become a reality. I'm spreading myself pretty thin, and because of child care issues, I doubt I can make it to both meetings. I can definitely attend one, but it seems I have to strategically plan out how to make it happen....which I don't mind at all.

I know we are in need of at least 3 teachers for each one, so I'm flexible as to which one I can attend.

My husband is my daughter's lacrosse coach and they have to be at practice at 5:30, so I have to get the baby and keep her with me so my so can watch her if I am to attend the SAC meeting. This means I have to hurry home to pick her and my son up. But if I attend the DRB, I can stay after school and if I leave by 4:30, I will be home by 5 and just in time for them to make it. Unfortunately, I will no be able to make it back since SAC starts at 5.

I can make either option work, but unfortunately I cannot make both.

1) do we have confirmation for attendance from others bot both?
2) which do you prefer I attend?

Please advise.

Thank you.
Sarah

As a member of the School Culture Team, part of our responsibility is to participate in DRP's (Expulsion Hearings) at the Home Office. Each admin from Animo Venice is given a specific month that they are on standby. If called to participate, the School culture team will also be notified so that we may select a teacher from the team to join the admin.

It is best to have a rotation of team members to participate. If a member has a preference to attend they will be considered first. All will be asked to be available. Only one will be expected to go each time. Teachers are compensated for their participation.

Let Josh know if you have any questions about it.

Hello,

I've entered the following log entry for Edgar:

12/17/2018	Koenes, Kristy	Disruption	[redacted] walked into class 2 minutes tardy. During the silent Do Now, he sat down and loudly said "Who the fuck is calling me?" and answered his phone. I asked him to hang up the phone and put it away, but he refused. I then asked him to leave the class, as he was disrupting the silent activity. He left and was escorted to Mr. Stern, who confiscated his phone. He was sent back to class, but never returned.

Edgar continues to be tardy every single 2nd period. Do you have any suggestions on what I should be doing about this? I've tried several different things to no avail.

[redacted] came about 7 minutes late to second period today and told me he was going to PE because he did not want to be in AS. I let him know that he needed to be in his second period class (AS). He said that he did not want to be in my class and would not do any work. He also had both headphones in and his phone out. I was going over the Do Now with my class at this point and couldn't stand outside my door and argue about coming to class, so I let [redacted] know that I would be happy to have him and class and to let me know when he was ready to come inside. At this point I went back inside the classroom with the door propped open and I did not see [redacted] for the rest of the period. I'm not sure where he went, but I'm assuming PE.

I will submit a log entry. Thanks!

Dear Julio and Josh,

I hope that this email finds you well as the fall semester quickly winds to a close.

I'm writing to request that you please spend a few minutes completing our Admin for EL Survey to provide feedback on the support you've received this fall from your EL Coordinator, Laura, and from our ELD team as a whole. Because you each handle different elements of the admin for EL role, I'm hoping that can you both provide feedback. The deadline for the survey is Wednesday, December 19th.

Your feedback is extremely valuable to us. It will be used to inform Laura's self-assessment and evaluation as well as help our ELD team determine how we can improve our supports as a whole. Last year, this survey helped us better differentiate our supports for each school site, develop and revise resources to support teachers, and design this year's 5 part EL PD series. Please take a few minutes to give us some feedback as we reflect on semester 1 and prepare supports for semester 2 and beyond.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Good Morning EL Leads,

Thanks for the productive meeting last night! The ELD team left the meeting feeling so inspired by your knowledge and passion for serving our ELs. You are truly such strong advocates for our Emerging Bilingual students and we can't thank you enough for the work you do for them.

1. Meeting Resources: Please view the resources from the meeting and reach out with any questions to Laura or me.
   a. Google Slides
   b. Teacher Survey Results
   c. Expectations for Next Meeting

2. RFEP Progress Monitoring: Reminder that you only need to monitor RFEPs who have reclassified within the last 4 years. If you pull data from the Quarterly progress monitoring report you can filter for RFEP and then ELA Status Start date (within the last 4 years). Angie and I did this for ACPA and when we also filtered for 2 or more Fs, we noted there were only 7 students who needed to be followed up with in an individual goal setting meeting. Angie plans on meeting with students to set a goal and tracking progress right on this data sheet.

3. EL Lead News: It's really helpful to share and receive resources from other EL Leads, so if you happen to have any resources you would like to share for the next EL Lead Newsletter, please email me them by 2/15.

Thank you!

Date:	Monday, December 10, 2018 8:15:29 PM

Good Afternoon,

Wednesday (12/12) was supposed to be EL PD #4; however, when Laura (the head of HS ELs) and I did some informal observations we found that classes did not have Language Objectives. We saw some classrooms with a EL standard posted, a language objective that was not connected to the content objective, or nothing at all. Due to this we (Admin, Laura, and I) decided that we need to revisit language objectives to provide more supports and guidance for all teachers.

There will be short break out time for departments to work with their objectives (again… repeat/reteach/revisit from EL PD #3) and to choose appropriate language objectives for their lesson, so that when we come back for semester 2 all teachers are consistently posting objectives with language objectives.

Please let me or someone on the admin team know if you have any questions or need help/support.

-Amber

Subject:	el pd tomorrow
Date:	Thursday, January 31, 2019 2:43:56 PM

Hey All,

Tomorrow's EL PD will start whole group as a basic overview/introduction/reminders, but then (as you have discussed with your CS / first ILT pull out day) we will break into departments so you can lead your department through content specific examples.
I am linking the area in connect where you can access your content area's examples/specific PDs.

Admin- who do you want electives and sped to meet with since they don't have the same materials? I am not sure what was done last time because I was out sick.

Resources for tomorrow:
http://connect.greendot.org/english-learners-leaders/

-go to the section that says Professional Development
-select 1. EL PD Unit
-select 1. 2018-2019
-select 4. PD Unit 4
-select your content area's breakout folder. There you will find a PPT & some content areas have handouts as well. If you don't want to use a PPT, then you will need to print out the ppt slides. You should also customize it for your content area.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you have trouble accessing your content area.

Hi Josh and Julio,

Our Knowledge Management team recently obtained ELPAC scores for our students who took the ELPAC last spring in another district. Based on that data, your school has 4 students eligible for reclassification. Please hand out your teacher reclass forms and complete the reclass tracker by December 19th. Let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you!

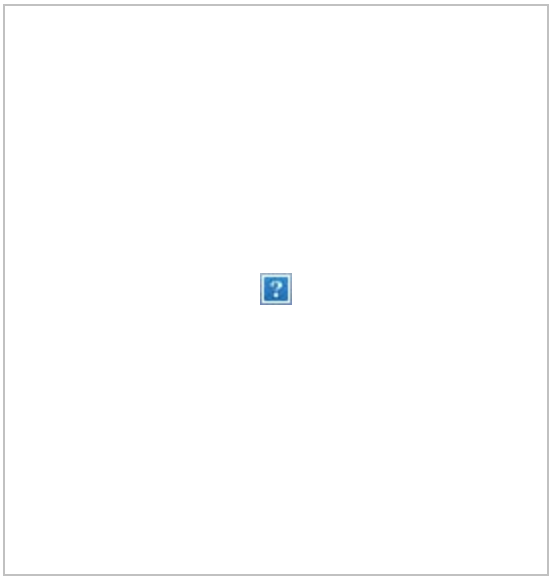
Dear principals,

I'm looking forward to seeing you tomorrow! During our ELA breakout session, we will have an opportunity to take a step back and reflect on the many resources and content we presented in the last three sessions, identify and address specific ELA department issues on your campus, and develop a plan to support your department.

To support you with this, I'm reaching out to request that you please bring the ELA Pathfinder Binder that I passed out at the first 95-5 in September (see pic below for the cover of the packet). We'll reference this at various points during the session tomorrow.



Thank you!

Dear ELA chairs,

I hope you are doing well as you enter the last 9 days of the semester before a well-deserved winter break!

Please take a few moments to review the important updates and deadlines below as you plan department mtgs and communication for the remaining weeks. We really appreciate your support with reminding your departments about the specific deadlines and opportunities below.

Curriculum Adoption Feedback: Deadline this Friday December 14th

We are in the last phase of getting teacher input to inform our decision about what ELA curriculum to adopt next year! Visiting each school for the curriculum and cookies mtgs has yielded really insightful discussions and feedback, thanks to your help with coordinating them! We also received some valuable feedback from those that attended the curriculum fair Unfortunately, the feedback doesn't evenly represent the voice of all teachers and all campuses. Please see the chart below to see how many teachers on your campus have given feedback in the curriculum and cookies survey and use this data to encourage your teachers to have their input considered. We really need your help ensuring your dept understands how much their input is valued and that this is your departments LAST opportunity to weigh in on this important decision! Please note, that we are encouraging pilot teachers to complete the pilot survey as well as the curriculum and cookies survey as they serve two different purposes.

Animo Jackie Robinson	1

Animo Locke	6

ELA Chair Survey: Deadline Friday, December 14th.

Please spend a few minutes completing this ILT Support Survey on the coaching you have received related to your role as a department chair.

Midyear RI testing and Q2 GDCAP:Deadline December 21st

Review the attached email in an ELA dept mtg or in an email check in to remind teachers of relevant dates and support teachers with RI testing across classrooms.

Data Day Prep: Deadline Feb 1st

Please check in with your admin team to identify what your next Data Day date, structure and focus will be to help you prep for the next data day. Often there is time during school site retreat on Jan 14th to look at data and/or meet with your department. Even though the deadline for data day is Feb 1st, your school may schedule it sooner. If not, the Jan 14th date might be a great time for you to review department goals and your semester 2 mtg scope and sequence and you may want to start planning for that before you leave for break. Please leverage your CS support as needed!

Writing Competition: Deadline for School Site Submissions January 14th

The deadline for school site submissions will come up really quickly after winter break! Please review the attached email items related to the writing competition. We hope you are finding the writing competition planning toolkit helpful as it provides resources for coordinating school site selection of top entries and it provides resources to help improve student writing during the draft stages.

Performance Task Planning: Deadline end of February

As you consider department goals and plans for second semester, please keep performance task planning in mind. Here are the updated/organized Performance Task folder with resources regarding and examples of performance tasks, including school site created performance tasks from the past two years. Our data is showing that schools who have coordinated on a common approach to performance tasks in their ELA dept have had stronger results on the SBAC.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

I know this is a hectic time of year as the semester winds down and our kids often wind up! Know that our team is SO grateful for the hard work you engage in every day to meet the needs of your students and support your department at the same time. I know it is a lot, so PLEASE leverage our team's support whenever you can.

Sincerely,

The feedback obtained from those who attend this event, as well as the feedback from pilot teacher surveys, students who are participating in the pilot, and feedback from our "Curriculum and Cookies" dept mtgs will inform our final a decision on which curriculum to adopt. We will announce the curriculum we select on Wednesday, December 19th, so don't miss these opportunities to have your input considered!

Where: Jetspace at Locke High School, 325 E 111th St, Los Angeles, CA 90061

When: 8:30-1:00

What: As a final step in our ELA curriculum adoption process, we would like to invite all English teachers and admin to join us for a curriculum adoption fair. The goal of this half day event is to provide ELA teachers and admin with one more opportunity to review the final curriculum options for a fall 2019 adoption. Curriculum representatives will be present to provide an overview of resources and answer any remaining questions you may have about the curriculum materials.

You can find a quick overview of our curriculum adoption process, pilot, and timeline here. We hope you also plan to attend our lit team's school site "curriculum and cookies" visits, where we will meet with each ELA department to review the curriculum adoption process, explore the curriculum resources, hear from some of the teachers on your campus who are piloting materials, and give some initial feedback on the options available.

Please RSVP to this event by accepting this meeting maker. Don't hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Dear ELA teachers,

I want to begin by sending out a heartfelt thank you to the fifty-five teachers who piloted one of the four ELA curriculum options we selected for potential adoption. Reviewing such thoughtful pilot teacher insights, as well as survey feedback from over 2,000 pilot students, was incredibly informative. Thank you also to all of you who attended "curriculum and cookies" meetings at each school site, for providing us with highly valued feedback during and after those mtgs, and to those of you who attended our ELA curriculum fair to further explore the materials and ask questions of the various publishers.

We've spent the last year and a half engaged in a thorough process researching and vetting curriculum. After considering this research and all student, teacher, and admin feedback, we are excited to announce that we will be adopting myPerspectives English Language Arts curriculum for our 6-12 core English classes next year.

A few reasons that myPerspectives stood out as the highest quality curriculum include that it..

- has been implemented with high levels of student engagement across middle and high school classrooms in both independent and transformation Green Dot schools.
- was highly rated by pilot teachers for its wealth of resources including student writing models, clear rubrics, logical organizational flow, strong assessments, strong language development resources, and relevant, diverse and engaging texts.
- is enhanced by a high quality digital platform rich with a wealth of resources and tools that integrate well with our current tech systems.
- earned the highest ratings in all areas for 6-12 ELA curriculum from the independent nonprofit EdReports.org
- builds on literacy strategies and approaches that we have focused on in orgwide and ELA/ELD professional development such as close reading practices, mentor text routines, performance task practice, and explicit language instruction.
- was authored by a team of respected experts including Kelly Gallagher, Ernest Morrell, and Jim Cummins.

The Lit team is excited about the opportunity to provide our ELA classrooms with more a robust, rich curriculum as we continue to support collaboration and practice within and across ELA departments. Early next semester we will share a timeline for accessing planning resources and plans for the supports and professional development that will be available to support our roll-out of this curriculum.

Please don't hesitate to reach out to me or your ELA Curriculum Specialist with any questions.

Sincerely,

Dear principals and assistant principals,

As you know, myPerspectives is the new curriculum that we will launch with our ELA teachers in the fall of next year. We are really excited to dig deeper into the wide range of resources this curriculum has to offer. As we develop curriculum pacing guides and work with the publisher to map out supports through this transition, we would like to partner with a few strong teachers for an extended semester two pilot.

These Curriculum Pioneers would

- teach at least one full unit in semester two and may continue the pilot through the end of the semester.
- Administer the unit formative and summative assessment as well as an online benchmark assessment
- Engage students in some of the online platform assignments, including at least one essay to assess the value of the online EssayScorer tool.
- be willing to be observed and supported by a literacy coach
- Attend a full day of professional development presented by the publisher to learn how to implement the resources effectively

The purpose of this email is to invite you to nominate one or more teachers on your campus that would be strong for this role. An ideal candidate would be a teacher with strong instructional practices that will be likely to help support the transition for the ELA teachers in your dept and collaborate with our team to teach the lessons with fidelity and try the online tools with students. Teachers currently in leadership roles, or interested in building their leadership capacity and or instructional knowledge, are also ideal.

The Curriculum Pioneer may be one of 55 teachers who piloted materials last semester, but they do not have to be. Benefits of having a Curriculum Pioneer on your campus include having additional free instructional materials on your campus, support for one of your teachers to get a head start on exploring the materials prior to full implementation, and having a school site "expert" to help guide the rest of your English team through adoption.

Please respond to this email by next Monday, January 28th if you would like to nominate an English teacher on your campus for this role. Once we receive all nominations, we will refine the list to at least one strong teacher per grade level.

Thank you for your time and support in this work!

Sincerely,

Leona Matthews

What to bring:

1. Samples of student writing: You will be using your students' writing to prioritize skills to teach. Bring paragraphs or essays from 6 students (2 high, 2 medium, and 2 low) from November or December.
2. A charged laptop
3. Materials for lesson planning for quarter 3:
    - Download your Quarter 3 summative assessments (GDCAPs, curriculum map listing summatives, end of workshop assessment, etc.)
    - E3D or R180 teacher's edition
4. Your new teacher PD journal or other place to take notes

How to Prepare:

1. Decide what writing assignment you will bring. If your students have taken the GDCAP by 12/10, you could use the constructed responses question(s).
2. Preview your quarter 3 curriculum map. Familiarize yourself with the texts that are the focus of quarter 3—skim the text, read the Cliffnotes, etc.
3. Check in with your SOM to make sure a sub has been secured.
4. Prepare sub lesson plans. On Thursday, 12/6 or Friday, 12/7 (depending on your school's schedule) let your students know you will be out and go over the work that they will be expected to complete.

Objectives: New ELA teachers will be able to

- Use the CCSS, student writing data, and a summative writing task to develop a list of priority writing skills for instruction
- Use the mentor text routine to plan instruction that gets students to do the heavy lifting when writing..
- Map formative writing tasks to monitor progress
- Practice scripting and delivering directions for writing routine (including monitoring students as they write)
- Create a grading plan for what to give feedback on, what to grade, and what to just use for instructional decision making

Snapshot Agenda:

1. Opening
2. Diagnosing Student Writing Needs: Student Work Analysis
3. Planning with Purpose: Backwards Mapping from a Summative Writing Piece
4. Planning with Purpose: Daily Writing Instruction with the Mentor Text Routine
5. Setting and Monitoring Expectations During Writing
6. Efficient Systems for Grading and Giving Feedback
7. Closing

Logistics:

Location: Locke High School, Room 113
Time: Sign in at 8:20
Leave some extra time to park and sign in through the "raptor" system in the office. Bring an ID!
8:30-3:30
Coffee will be provided. Please bring water, snacks, or anything else you'd like to help you feel comfortable throughout the day.
Lunch will be one hour on your own at approximately 12:00 pm.
We recommend bringing layers, as the temperature in the room may vary.

Hi there, Amber, Julio, Sherrie, and Josh!

Hope you're having a great Thursday so far. On my (long, insane) drive home yesterday, I reflected a lot on the PD that your team ran, and I was so impressed and excited by how it went. I hope y'all feel the same way, too!

Some highlights:

- Sharing examples from classrooms, both objectives and board displays
- Helping teachers think through the logistics of adjusting their boards
- When asked if teachers had to do it or not, letting them know that ELD support like this is a mandate similar to that of an IEP. Teachers accepted this immediately and understood the importance of meeting this expectation
- Clarity about when and what to do (at least one bullet point starting January 7th)
- Letting departments work together for a really smart amount of time. They got to grapple with the content without having enough time to have off-task conversations, and I think they then had a taste to engage in these discussions even further.

I am really grateful that I was able to be a part of your team yesterday and able to answer questions as they arose. As always, please feel free to include me in any support that teachers need. Even if they are not in the ELA department, I would be more than happy to sit with a teacher or a team to help them think through building out language criteria for success or anything else.

Have an awesome rest of the week, and I will see you all soon!

All my best,
Steph

Ms.'s Bonsignore and Pina,
This is just a heads up that the ELPAC window is coming next semester. I believe that you both went through the training over the summer, but wanted to check-in with you about doing a refresher. The Testing Window February 25th – March 29th. Testing will be taking place during your Designated classes.

I'll be receiving a PPT deck to use as a review in Mid-January. Once I receive the deck, we can touch base about setting up a review after school. For now, please take a look at your calendar and start thinking about which days during the 2nd half of January or early February might work for you. The refresher training will likely be a little over an hour after school.

I have a suggestion for the last hour of Monday's Diagnostic Test 3. Since this will be the last chance for our students to practice before the March 9 SAT for which they've registered, we should administer the writing portion of DT3. This way, they will run through all parts as they will on March 9. They will be in the test environment already and we wouldn't have to sit down & figure out when we can squeeze it into an already tight schedule in CR11.

Hi all,

I wanted to congratulate you on a complete first semester, and in particular on wrapping up recruiting season. As a small gift, please feel free to peruse the results of your Facebook advertising to support your enrollment goals — we have prepared the following report: https://datastudio.google.com/reporting/18OnxINSlKYlAMuQvUGhlZLDnnOAuW5kY/page/4EQY/edit

One note about your results — the bottom of the funnel (e.g. what users went to your website and continued onto SchoolAdmin) has been highly impacted, positively, by traffic from Google searches. If you have any questions about this report or any of the methodology, we'd be happy to discuss and share more analysis. Don't hesitate to reach out to set up a brief meeting.

Have a great couple of weeks off, and we look forward to our ongoing partnership in the new year,

Best,

Sean

Importance:	High

Hi team,

As we begin the new semester, I wanted to begin our conversation about our achievement data in regards to grades at Animo Venice. I have attached two pieces of data for your review, and some questions to start considering as you reflect on the data. Please note, this data is the stored grades for the Fall Semester, not current grades as of this semester. Please review the attached data sheets:

- Student Grades
- Grade Distribution by Period

Here are some guiding questions to consider when reflecting on the data. We will be discussing this data at our next SPED meeting:

- What bright spots do we see in the data?
- How do we replicate the bright spots?
- What are the current barriers to success?
- How is accommodation implementation going?
- If direct support/co-teaching is occurring in a class a student has a D or an F in, what does support look like, and are there any changes needed to the model?
- What conversations are needed with GE teachers?
- What conversations are needed with students?
- What support do you need from SEPA and site admin?
- Are there any adjustments needed to our service schedule to meet needs of our students?
- Does any student require an amendment IEP to review supports, services, accommodations etc.?
- What is our plan for credit recovery?
    - Our students earned 54 Fs this semester, with a majority of these Fs in A-G classes.
    - We have 124 Ds, many of these grades are in A-G classes, and Ds make students ineligible for a 4 year track, meaning we will need to determine credit recovery for students as well for Ds.

Please let me know if you have ANY questions, or want to brainstorm together ways to best support students with high Ds and Fs.

Best,

Hi Venice admin,

I hope you had a great break!

I wanted to check in about the administration methods for the upcoming Family (1/22 – 5/3) and Student (2/11 – 3/8) Surveys.

Family Surveys

Both the online and paper options are available for the Family Survey again this year. Please let me know by EOD Friday, January 11th if your school will be doing the Family Survey online or via paper.

Student Surveys

As a friendly reminder, this year we are moving to a complete online administration for all schools for the Student Survey. Administering this survey online allows us to give live response rate data and also reduces printing/shipping/data processing costs and time.

Please feel free to reach out to me with any questions or concerns.

Best,

They would like to invite you to come out and join us for lunch if you are available (no pressure- I know it's a Saturday)

But.....if any of you are able to make it, it would be a great way to make connections and see the opportunities we can offer our students.

Please see the email below and email Xioamara if you are able to make it.

Thanks,

Dear SpEd Teachers and School Psychologist:

We are quickly approaching testing season. In order to ensure our students with disabilities and 504 plans receive the appropriate accommodations on this year's CAASPP exams, we will be performing three audits—one now, one in February, and one in March.

SpEd teachers, please follow these instructions to check the assigned accommodations for students with IEPs.

1. Click Here to View Your Site's Audit Tool
2. Using the third tab of this workbook, please review the list of students and their currently assigned accommodations.
3. Ensure that all students on your caseload that are testing are included.
4. If a student's accommodations are all correct, list "Reviewed - Accurate" in Column B
5. If a student is missing an accommodation or has the incorrect accommodation assigned, please list "Reviewed - Changes needed in IEP" in column B.
6. Make a note of the specific changes needed in column B

Please Note:

- If you have assigned a rare or logistically tricky accommodation, this column title will be red. Please follow-up with me to confirm this is the appropriate accommodation and that all testing logistics can reasonably be met.
- You cannot adjust accommodations in this sheet. You must adjust accommodations through an IEP meeting, and KM will update this sheet on the subsequent audit.

School Psychologist, please follow these instructions to check the assigned accommodations for students with 504s.

1. Click Here to View Your Site's Audit Tool
2. Using the fourth tab of this workbook, please review the list of students and their currently assigned accommodations.
3. Ensure that all students on your caseload that are testing are included.
4. Using the Setting Specifications tab, please add the appropriate accommodations for each student, by marking an x in the columns appropriate on the fourth tab.
5. If a student is missing, please add him or her to this Google Sheet (including the appropriate accommodations).

Please be sure to review and update by Friday, April 5th at 3pm. I will send a meeting maker reminder. If you have any questions, please reach out to me.

Let me know if you have any questions and/or need any support with usage of this tool.

Hello Mr. Murcia,

I wanted to follow up with our conversation from yesterday around what a school needs to do to communicate the transition for changing the science course pathways. First, I wanted to share the HS Sequencing Support to review before deciding on the transition to the new science course pathway. After discussing with Tessa the following steps need to be completed:

- Notify Damon and the EdTeam of the transition
- Have a complete 3 year course sequencing map to make sure every student over the next 3 years has taken Physics, Biology, and Chemistry
    - This document will need to be shared with Damon and the EdTeam as well
- Teachers in charge of teaching specific course are credentialed for those courses

In regards to the AP question, she hasn't heard anything yet, but there is a meeting this afternoon and she will reach out when she gets some clarification. Hope this helps, please let me know if there is anything else you need right now and I will be glad to help.

Sincerely,

Stephen Skoropad

“Music is more than just playing an instrument and trying to sound good. Music is about putting yourself into the instrument -- your character, your heart, your pride,” said Thomas Perry, the Band Director at Green Dot’s Fairley High School. “[Music is about] disciplining yourself to be able to do more than one thing: playing, practicing, doing homework, and being a model citizen.”

Hey Carol and Greego-

I filled out the 504 observation from and left it with Ms. Gorsich.

It was backdated to 12/7- I'm not sure when it was delivered to my box; it wasn't there early last week. Because my box is above eye-level, it helps if someone lets me know if sensitive and timely information is in placed there, either with an email or in person. Certainly I wouldn't want to hold up any timelines, but it also isn't a secure environment because of all of the TAs and students that use the teachers' lounge for meetings. It's best if those things are probably handed off in person.

Thanks,
Cybele

Also we need to figure out a good time to meet. I'm meeting with Mr. Rombro during 7th on Wednesday but maybe I can move him a little earlier so we can use the end of the period to debrief.

Hey Gentlemen,
You are the last two people I need to schedule for your formal observation. Can you take a look at the dates below and tell me which day and which period you'd like me to come.

I would prefer these dates in February
Feb
Wed 20 and 27
Thursday 21 and 28
Friday 22

But I can make these in March work as well.
March
Friday 1, 8, and 15
Wednesday 6 and 13

Please let me know ASAP!

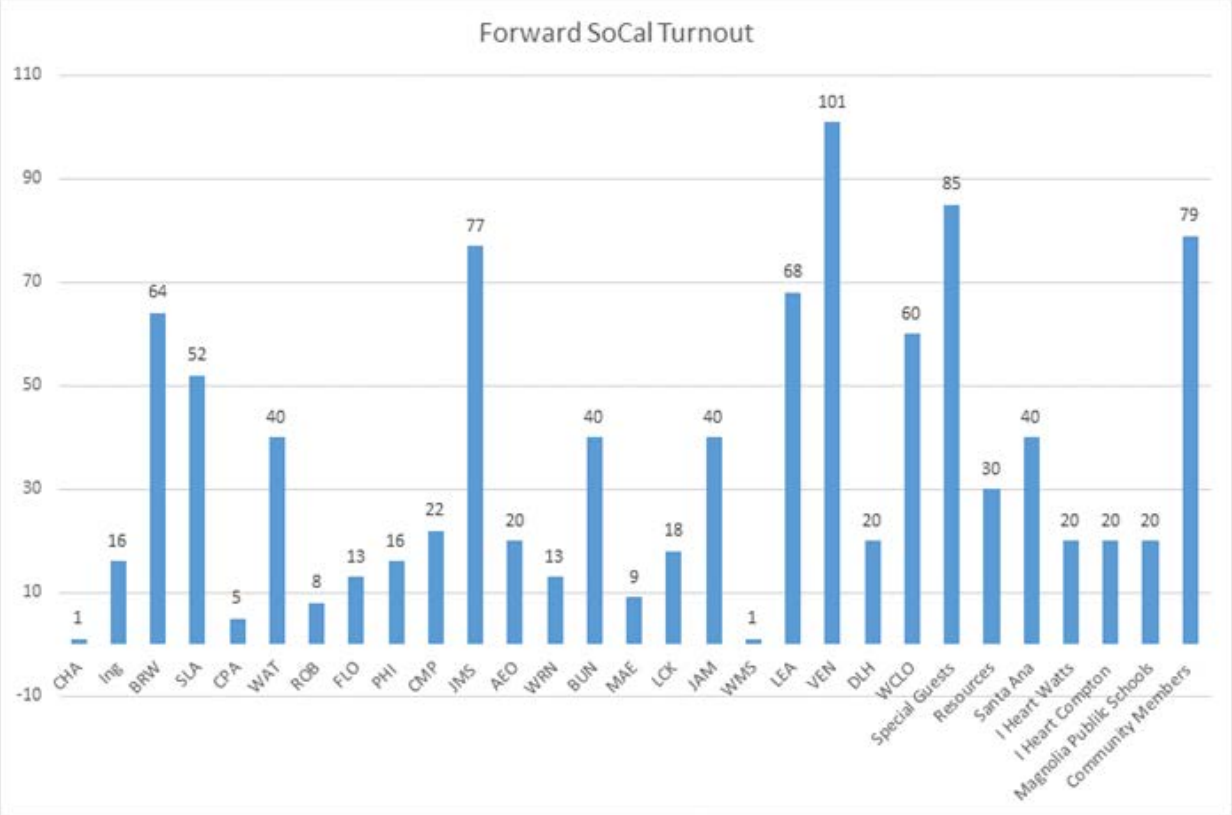
Parent Coordinators,

Thank you so much for inputting your assembly turnout data into Salesforce. Below is a chart outlining turnout by school. We appreciate your hard work on this event and commitment to supporting families in organizing for more affordable housing, high-quality job opportunities, clean streets, healthy food options, and more.

Huge shout out to Animo Venice, and especially PC Juanita Garcia and CEA Leo Ontiveros, for turning out the most people: 101!!



Thank you for sharing the wins and next steps document we created (re-attached here), and for thanking those that attended (via a call, note or appreciation session). Please send us any feedback that you think will be helpful as we plan future events. Our next Community Organizing Institute will take place on January 26th, 9am-12pm at the Henry Clay Learning Complex. You should have a meeting maker for this- we'll add the updated flyer to the meeting maker next week.

Salesforce

As a reminder, please aim to have all data from fall semester input by winter break. Beginning in January, we will be including parent engagement progress updates by school based on Salesforce data in NFTD.

Thanks so much!

Hi GLLs,

For Friday's meeting here are some things to discuss:

- Check in about SST kiddos and decide on dates hopefully dates before Feb 6th. If you email admin with the date and time we can make the calls for setting up the SST.

- Check in on the College Ready teaching and learning Vision and have people share what goals and action steps their departments committed to.

- Spend time cross curricular planning with each other.

Subject: Physical Fitness Test: 2018–19 Coordinator Designation Past Due

Dear Julio Murcia,

Local Educational Agency: Animo Venice Charter High

County Code: 19
District Code: 64733
Charter Number: 0648

2017–18 Password: ysFWnGwC

Physical Fitness Test: 2018–19 Coordinator Designation Past Due

Our records indicate that the 2018–19 Physical Fitness Test (PFT) Coordinator Designation Form has not been submitted for your local educational agency (LEA), or the form was submitted but your superintendent or charter school administrator has not yet approved the form. The PFT coordinator designation is required annually by November 1, even if the coordinator information has not changed from the previous year, you have zero enrollment, or your LEA uses the services of a vendor. The 2018–19 Coordinator Designation Form is available on the California PFT website at http://www.pftdata.org.

Process for Completing the Designation Form

Accessing the Form. Visit http://www.pftdata.org and select the 2018–19 PFT Coordinator Designation online form link in the blue "Coordinator Registration" box. Enter the county code, district code, and charter number for your LEA (as noted above) and select the "Search" button. Next, enter last year's password (as noted above) and select the "Login" button. If your LEA is new, a password will not be required.

Completing the Form. Complete the online form, which includes providing contact information, verifying schools within your LEA, agreeing to assurances, and submitting the completed form by selecting the "Save Changes" button. It is recommended that you provide contact information for an alternate coordinator who can be contacted in the absence of the designated coordinator.

Obtaining Approval and Password. Once the form has been submitted, the superintendent or charter school administrator will receive an email from PFT Support (pftdata@sjcoe.net) with a link. Select the link to review, sign electronically, and print the completed designation form. If the form is approved by the superintendent or charter school administrator, an email containing the 2018–19 password will be sent to all contacts identified on the completed form. If the form is denied, a denial notification email will be sent to the PFT Coordinator who will need to resubmit the form. The completed-approved form should be printed and signed by the superintendent or charter school administrator and be kept on file at the LEA.

For questions about the coordinator designation process, contact the PFT Help Desk by email at https://pftdata.org/contact.aspx (preferred) or by phone at 888-852-9681.

For questions about the PFT program or policies, contact the California Department of Education by email at pft@cde.ca.gov or by phone at 916-445-9449.

Hey,

Here are 2 things that may be helpful:

- Senate Bill No. 720 (Allen) adds Education Code section 51227.3, encouraging governing boards of school districts to take specified actions to promote instruction in environmental literacy in grades 1 to 12, and requires state entities to develop environmental principles and concepts based on current scientific and technical knowledge, including concepts relating to climate change and environmental sustainability, as part of the unified education strategy. (Stats. 2018, ch. 374, effective January 1, 2019.)
- Attachment has UC and CSU admissions requirements as of August 2018. All counselors should have this! Check out the D Science requirements.

Hi Mr.Murica,
I'm writing to inform you that i solved the math problem you created. The answer is there would be exactly 185,745 handshakes in total. I found this when i realized that i would have to subtract myself from the 610 making it 609, but when i multiplied it was double the amount it should have been compared to when i used the pattern. that was another thing i realized it didn't have a constant first term but it did have a constant second. the formula i created was

i created it so that no matter the amount of students you would still be able to calculate the number of handshakes for example if it were 899 students it would be 899(899-1)/2 the total would be 403651.

i am [redacted] but everyone knows me by [redacted].
thank you for creating this problem i really needed a challenge.

This is the email I sent to her in response. But I don't remember what you and I spoke about regarding the actual concern about him in math? I plan on scheduling parent meetings for most of my kiddos next week. But what are your thoughts about him in Pre-Calc? He got a D in Geometry, but I really don't think he needs to go in there to retake. At this point he's not very motivated so putting him in a class to retake for a-g purposes seems somewhat pointless. And I think he would think so too.

Hi Ms. Smith,

I am currently working on his schedule as I need to pull him from Apex.

I understand your concerns with [redacted] He is one of my juniors who I have noticed is lacking motivation, particularly this year. I have also had a few one on one convos with him about his grades and lack of progress in Apex. We had a parent meeting earlier in the semester and Ms. Durrett also tried following up with mom after that meeting.

Please know that I strongly believe [redacted] is academically capable of being successful in all his classes. He is very bright. At this time he seems to have his focus on other career interests and doesn't see the connection to his academics.

I'm including Ms. Rubin in this email because we may want to look into providing him some grade level supports and help connect with him a bit more. I do plan on reaching out to mom next week to schedule another parent meeting but a plan as a team may be a good way to start.

Thanks!

Hi Jessica—

I have a real concern about [redacted]—11th grader—in Pre-Calculus.

He failed first semester with barely above a 50%, was anywhere from a few minutes to a half-hour late every single day (5th period) and never did any homework or classwork. Today he was 37 minutes late to class for iReady testing and was on other websites during the session. Last semester I told his mother at BTSN that he was already demonstrating these habits and then also communicated his lack of progress during the semester. She seemed concerned in person but I never heard back from my phone call.

I don't have confidence that he will fare any better this semester. It doesn't seem productive to have him sit through the semester if he is headed toward a failing grade again. Is there another grade for a lower math class that he might need to make up? Anything in Geometry…because he would have more knowledge about that area in particular from our first semester.

Here's a link to the advisory PowerPoint for tomorrow:
https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/19uGWZYb8dA52y4XJshEKAcsYk5DTGzUkXYMxGtsN58s/edit?usp=sharing

With a measured pace, it should take about 40 minutes (including about 10 minutes for students to take the survey at the end on their phones). There are some basic instructions and time guidelines in the notes section of each slide.

Let me know if you need any support or have any questions.

Also, Gerry, Jose, and I will do some walk-throughs on Friday. Please make sure you have your objectives written on the board. KIDDING. We're just going to see how it's going.

Best,

Dear Julio and Damon:

I hope you are doing well! As you know, the Charter Schools Division (CSD) annual performance-based oversight visit to Ánimo Venice Charter High is coming up soon. The purpose of this email is to provide you with some reminders and additional information regarding the annual oversight visit to your school scheduled for Thursday, January 10, 2019.

Guiding Questions

Please review the attached Guiding Questions for Reflection document and provide the CSD with the school's detailed written responses, via email to me, by COB on Monday, January 7, 2019.

Schedule for the Day of the Visit

Please review the attached visit schedule, including the asterisked notes within the document. In designing this schedule, the CSD Team has endeavored to be the least disruptive to the learning process as possible while still ensuring that we are able to complete all visit activities effectively and efficiently. Please let me know by COB on Monday, January 7, 2019. If you have any questions, change requests, or concerns about this schedule.

Visit Activities

- Morning Meeting: To prepare for this meeting's discussions, please review the guiding questions provided as an attachment to this email and the school's written responses, as well as the attached Annual Performance-Based Oversight Visit Report - 2018-2019 School Year template, which was also provided previously in the oversight preparation packet sent out by the CSD to all schools on September 24, 2018 and September 25, 2018 (Updated). Please ensure that the school's Leadership Team is prepared to engage fully in the discussions. Board members (as long as the number of members present does not reach quorum) are welcome to participate in this meeting as well as the other activities of the visit.

- Classroom Observations: The CSD will attempt to visit as many classrooms as possible during the visit. It is unnecessary to develop a schedule or plan for this activity; we will devise a plan on the morning of the visit. The CSD requests that school leaders accompany the CSD Team members on the classroom visits.

- Special Education Program Review: The CSD Team member conducting this review will request the school principal/director to engage in a discussion of the school's systems and procedures for ensuring full compliance with special education requirements.

- FISCAL REVIEW AND DEBRIEFING: The school's assigned Fiscal Services Manager, Bobby Chua will be conducting the Fiscal Review and Debrief. If you have any questions regarding the Fiscal Review and/or Debrief, please contact your assigned Fiscal Services Manager directly at bobby.chua@lausd.net.

- Document Review: Throughout the day, during the designated time(s) for this activity and at any other time available, the CSD Team will review the school's documentation binders. It is critical that the principal/director and/or other leadership staff remain available to answer questions and address concerns that may arise in relation to this activity. Please ensure that the binders have been prepared in accordance with the Visit Preparation Guide; the CSD will not be able to review documents that are not presented as described. For your reference and use, I am attaching hereto copies of key documents already sent in the oversight packet, including the Certification of Clearances document template. Please ensure that a copy of the duly signed Clearances document, as well as the original, is included in the appropriate binder – the CSD Team will use this copy for keeping notes.

- Visit Debriefing: At the end of the visit day, the CSD Team will meet again with the School Leadership Team in order to debrief the events of the day. Please note that, although the CSD will not provide the school with a written report on the day of the visit, the CSD Team will strive to send out our report within approximately three weeks.

Logistics

In order to conduct all of the necessary visit activities, it is very helpful if the school can provide us with a dedicated and private space for the day. Ideally, the room or location will provide an electrical outlet for our computers. Please also provide us with any other logistical information (e.g. parking options) that may be relevant to the visit.

Thank you in advance for your time. We appreciate all that you and your team will do to prepare for the visit! I look forward to visiting with you as well as learning about the great things happening at your school this year.

Dear ELA teachers,

Happy New Year! I hope you that you had a truly relaxing and rejuvenating winter break and great week back.

I just wanted to send a quick Animo Voices Competition reminder that the deadline for school sites to select their top two entries is next Friday, January 18th. We hope you are finding the writing competition planning toolkit helpful as it provides resources for coordinating school site selection of winning entries. The students your school selects will each win a Kindle Fire, have their writing published in a GD wide publication and will be invited to a fun community celebration this spring AND the teacher of winning students will be able to fulfill a $100 Amazon gift card for classroom supplies. Your students' winning entries will be entered into the orgwide competition for a chance to win exciting college scholarships and iPads.

Once your department has selected the two winning submissions for your school, you will have until the end of the month to help the top submissions revise and submit their final entries to us by Thursday, January 31st. We will send out a submission form by the end of next week. The form will require the top two winning students to submit their 1000 word (or less) entry and identify the teacher that most supported them with their writing competition entry. Please coordinate with your ELA dept to determine how you want to support students with submitting their entries as ONLY the top two student winners should receive access to the form. You may want to designate one adult on campus to support students with submitting their entries for the final round of the competition.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

Have a wonderful Friday,

Hi Jef,

I'm including Carol in this email as I know she also has some seniors who were enrolled in Apex last semester. I want us to be on the same page that we need final grade sheets for those students who are finished/finishing a course from last semester by this Friday. I know you may still be grading some work but it's important that we get those grade sheets for those students who did successfully complete the class they were working on.

I will be working on pulling out students from Apex who I know are not close to finishing since this was the agreement we shared with the students at the beginning of the year.

Just for reference I have attached a sample of the final grade sheets we need from you for those students who WILL be finished (all required assignments graded and entered).

Thank you!

Hi Carol,

I reached out to Apex to ask why students would be dropped from a course, and the agent explained that Venice has an auto-withdraw policy for Apex. That means that:

1. If a student does not sign in to their Apex account at least once every 30 days, they will be withdrawn from their classes.
2. If a student is re-enrolled in a course, the student needs to sign in to Apex that very same day for at least a minute, otherwise the system will withdraw them at midnight.

These would be some things to check if the issue comes up again.

Hi Carol,

Would you be able to give us the names of a couple of other students who are getting dropped from their classes in Apex and when they were dropped, or when you re-enrolled them?

Thank you,

Hyrum

Good Morning Everyone,

Hope you all had a great winter break! I created this sheet that will allow you to see how many of your students from your incoming class have been accepted or waitlisted at another Green Dot high school. I plan to update this on a bi-weekly basis to show which students have actually enrolled at another GD school.

To use it, simply click on your school from the drop down list on cell C4, the rest of the numbers will populate automatically.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank You,

Hey Boss, I don't know if you've gotten to the email below but the next steps from the walk through are interesting. I like some of the ideas especially number 4!

We could look at our PD schedule and see if we could do a PD 3.5 especially since the recommendation is coming from Laura. ☺ I also love the ownership it puts on Amber and the accountability it adds to the team as far as Bells are concerned. You'd just need to check in with Amber on what supports she needs.

Next Steps

1. At next PD, admin create a slide and speak to expectations for BELLS (include a visual example of what BELLS should look like with language criteria and ELD Standard added)
2. Potentially give teachers time to go back to classrooms and set up space for updated BELLS to include language criteria and ELD standard
3. Frame next PD using data from today's walkthrough - "walkthrough data shows that teachers need more time with planning for language critieria using a proving behavior"
4. Next PD could be PD #3, Part II, with Amber facilitating the following:
- show an example of a 3 part objective, then have teachers take out an upcoming 3 part objective
- Amber shows an exemplar proving behavior for her objective, then teachers have time to write an exemplar proving behavior for their objective
- Amber shows her proving behavior dissected with all of the possible language skills, then teachers dissect their proving behavior and identifying all of the potential language skills
- Amber selects the highest priority language skill based on who her students are and what they need, then teachers select their highest priority language skill
- Amber finds the aligned ELD standard to her language criteria, teachers find their ELD standard
- Amber displays a photo of her BELLS with the selected language criteria and teachers then create their BELLS

Hi Amber,

Thanks for taking the time to do a walkthrough with me today! I've included notes from our debrief as well as potential next steps for your upcoming PD, which you can discuss further with Julio. Let me know if you would like help creating some of the slides if you decide to move forward with the plan below.

Integrated ELD Walkthrough Notes & Next Steps

Common trends

- objectives posted
- no language criteria posted
- ELD Standard occasionally posted
- Missed opportunities for student to student discourse
- Everyone was doing something that could have included language criteria

Next Steps

1. At next PD, admin create a slide and speak to expectations for BELLS (include a visual example of what BELLS should look like with language criteria and ELD Standard added)
2. Potentially give teachers time to go back to classrooms and set up space for updated BELLS to include language criteria and ELD standard

I'm hoping to take some of the YBA kids to this and I'm open to recruiting other 11th and 10th (even seniors). Charli says there's plenty of room on the bus they're providing.

Please let me know if this is something you approve of me taking kiddos to. I can begin recruiting tomorrow in 11th and 10th grade advisories.

Hello Awesome Dotters!

There is a super cool event on January 1th for students interested in business. It is a daylong experiential event on the Cal State Dominguez Campus, where several community business leaders will be speaking and holding workshops for high school youth. The event is sponsored by Network for Teaching Entrepreneurship. I have included a sample of what last year's event looked like. The organization is willing to sponsor a bus for transportation. We have room for 50 students which can be 1 school or 2 schools. If you have a group of students you would like to bring please email me by the end of the day on Monday 12/10/18.

So I searched for a few lessons tied to the career profiler/interest inventory and I didn't find the perfect lesson but I found 2 that may help.

If you notice the lessons do very briefly touch on majors, so you'd need to modify to make sure they do explore the majors sections of their saved careers (once they save the careers they're interested in). The worksheet/assignment you create should include them writing down the careers and majors/related majors. I would suggest it also includes a reflections section with a few questions regarding their reaction/response to their interests results. Sometimes students don't realize they may be a good fit for certain fields.

*There's also a really cool Vocabulary tab on any of the College, Career, or Financial Aid sections of the site that includes a long list of vocab terms and definitions. I know students have access to this as well, but not sure yet exactly how they get to it, I just know how the educator gets to it. So maybe the worksheet can also include a few vocab words they need to define associated with the career/major search?

Hi Jef,

For Monday's planning, as I had previously emailed, since it's only 50min – 1 hour I don't think the lesson/assignment has to be super extensive. It can be a continuation of the Career Profiler they're completing on California College website this week with you. You can put together a worksheet that asks them to write down their top 5 careers per their career profiler, and also include the top 5 majors associated with those majors, and a step further can be finding 5 colleges they may be interested in applying to that house those majors. The point is to get them to get familiar with the majors they'll be looking for when they research the colleges they're interested in. Create a mini PPT (3-4 slides) for the subs that provides/reminds the students of the instructions and expectation as well as expectations for turning in the assignment for points.

Also, I'll be working on scheduling non-grad meetings this week so I won't have time to put something together prior to Monday.

As for CA Colleges website accounts, as I mentioned on Friday via email, I did create accounts for the students, they will need to "register" their accounts in order to access the site and complete the profiler. I sent you the PDF w/student instructions so you can walk them through this process this week along with getting started with the career profiler.

If you notice on the shared CR11 pacing plan I am not scheduled to come in this week as I am allowing you time to get students through the last few college spring lessons and get them going with CA colleges site. I am scheduled to be in next Thursday/Friday, but I am on call for Jury Duty so I hope they don't call me in and I can be here for that.

Lastly, can you please join the google classrooms I created for the juniors. I will add you again to make sure the invitations are fresh in your inbox. I want us to start assignment items via google classroom so they can begin getting into the habit of corresponding and organizing their drive.

Hey there.

Do you think you can spearhead the planning for that last chunk of time this Monday? I'd rather someone who has been here & knows what she wants the juniors to accomplish to prepare more for college apps & such to plan out what they will do with their last hour or so after testing & the healthy kids survey. You also seem to have a plan in mind & I don't want to miss any vital information that you'd like them to find or record for later use. Besides, I think the plan may be better received if coming from you rather than me.

I'm going to introduce them to the California Colleges website either today & tomorrow or Thursday & Friday. Are their accounts set up already or do they have to do that here in class? Also, I see the note in this week's plan for the interest inventory. Do you want them to complete the survey in class or should that wait until Monday after the diagnostic?

Last question: will you be making any appearances in CR11 this week?
Thanks!
J

Hi CHKS Coordinators,

Thank you for your participation as CHKS coordinators!

The California Healthy Kids Survey (CHKS) will be administered to grades 7,9, and 11. Participation in the CHKS provides an opportunity to obtain data on issues that affect student's learning such as truancy, safety, harassment, substance use, school connectedness and learning support with the goal of improving school culture and climate.

The administration window for CHKS this year is 1/22 - 2/8 and, as with last year, the survey is entirely web-based.

Materials relevant to CHKS administration can be found here. This folder contains an administration instruction packet, passive consent forms in English and Spanish, and Assurance of Confidentiality forms.

Please complete the following action items:

1. Distribute and collect completed Assurance of Confidentiality forms from teachers by 12/21.

2. Send home passive consent forms with 7th, 9th and 11th graders by 1/14 to allow students to opt out of the administration if requested by parents.

a. I have already pre-populated the administration window dates as well as the district contact information.

b. Please be sure to fill in the class that the student will be taking the survey (near the middle of the form) as well as the contact information for parents who do not want their student to participate (right above the section that parents fill out).

Please contact Patty or me with any questions!

Best,

Adam

Hey Jesse-

It looks like a few of our Chromebooks in our "I" cart, I believe, have broken screens. We are depending on this cart to give our IAB exams during December and January.
Any way we can get these fixed soon?

Let me know if there is a special procedure to go through to request IT maintenance.

Thanks!

Jef, since the students will have about an hour on the day of the diagnostic AND they will have the lap tops available since they will be completing the survey online, the lesson/assignment they're working on could be the career interest and majors assignment? So next Tuesday/Wednesday you can help them create their accounts and briefly walk them through the functions of the website, have them complete the interest inventory and begin the career/major exploration and they continue with this independently for that time they have on the 28th. Though the assignment should be accessible online or they should get a copy of it that same day (28th) because they will not have access to you or your classroom so they should already know what the expectation is and possibly even provide a few slides for the sub/proctor to review with them as a reminder so they have clear instructions on what is to be completed during that time.

Just a suggestion since we want them to use their time wisely. ☺

Damon,
Below you'll see that our Sex Ed program is offering to provide emergency contraceptive, the Plan B pill. Given that we are allowed to provide condoms to students, would this be allowable as well? I've already told the teacher that we are not allowed to give out any medication. But, I want to make sure that we are following the correct protocol given this context.

The other question Ms. Jaureguy is asking is if a school nurse would be required to give the pill.

Also, somewhat related- we received a very large donation of emergency contraception (Plan B) pills at our clinic recently. Do you think Animo would be interested in having some? I'm not sure if this is something your school nurse would stock but let me know if you'd like some. Thanks!

I am so happy to hear from you. We were just discussing this in my advisory team meeting. Unfortunately, we did not schedule Physiology this year for 12th graders so I will have to see if any of the 12th grade teachers would be willing to host this curriculum. I will follow up with that grade level team and back to you. If it is possible I would love to have a 10th grade version of this curriculum? Would you be able to accommodate both our school's needs in your schedule: the 10th and 12th grade?

Thank you for reaching out,

Hi Cybele,

There are two things here. Work outside your normal workday during the year can be included in a stipend position during your normal work year (Aug 1st to the last day of school). This can't be added on at will though; when these positions are opened up, it's important that the requirements and duties of the position are clearly laid out, as well as the commensurate stipend for the work.

This doesn't include summer work though. No one is required to work during the summer. Any work during the summer requires extra compensation, unless teachers volunteer to attend.

The appropriate contract language for this would be the work year. Here it is below:

6.1 Work Year
Subject to section 26.1 of Article 26, the Unit Members will work up to one hundred ninety-three (193) days to include one hundred eighty-three (183) days of instruction, and ten (10) pupil free days. New teachers may have five (5) additional pupil free days.

Hello Angel-

It's Cybele from Animo Venice.

It came up again at our stipend committee meeting about whether Admin has the right to insist that persons holding stipended positions such as Dept. Head (ILT) attend meetings of any kind (including the GD Summit meetings) unpaid. Our admin is still under the impression that they have the right to insist that our stipend extends to any year-round work and that our attendance is "the expectation".

If I understood you correctly at the last AMU meeting, they are NOT allowed to ask us to work any unpaid hours.

She has asked that I reach out to provide the contract language that they are not allowed to ask us for any unpaid hours over the summer. Would you be able to help me find this language or proof?

Thanks,

Hello Josh,

It was wonderful speaking to you earlier. I went ahead and shared your requests with my higher ups and they were able to accept the transfer of positions, but unfortunately we would not be able to pay Mr. Taylor at the rate he has been receiving. If he is no longer going to be a sub with lesson planning and grading he would be considered a SpEd Aide and payed at that rate. Unfortunately there is no way around it due to the fact that payroll cannot edit the pay for this position. I will go ahead and wait on completing the booking of Mr. Taylor for this aide position until I hear back from you.

Thank you and feel free to reach out if you have any other questions or concerns.

Glynis,
Good morning and happy new year. I wanted to touch base with you about Lily's spot. We were able to secure a 20 day sub for AS/push-in, Derrick Taylor. He started today. I know we've been discussing Lily's caseload management. Can we set a time today to discuss what the plan Is moving forward? It looks like, according to Maxim, our Long Term replacement still won't be available until early February.

Dear School Partners,

Some of you have reached out to us regarding substitute staffing availability in the event of the strike and I wanted to assure you that if UTLA moves forward with their strike, DirectEd will not be providing substitute services to LAUSD.

In addition, we do not expect any operational impact other than campus access at co-located campuses. Therefore, if your school is a co-located campus, please reply to this email if there will be any special instructions for our field staff to enter your campus in the event of a strike.

We value our school partnerships and will have additional staffing if a strike occurs to support your questions or concerns.

If you would like to place sub orders you can always call/text us at or 818-737-2103 or place day-to-day orders using ReadySub.

Hi Everyone,

As you are aware, the 3rd Diagnostic Test is coming up on Monday, January 28. Please see a few important tips below:

1. Cover any objects in the classroom that might help students with answers
2. Check to be sure you have all of the DT materials (list of materials here). If not, contact me asap.
3. In order for students to finish on time it is recommended that you:
    - Start on time
    - Adhere to exact timing in proctoring instructions for breaks
    - Ask students to arrive 15 minutes before the start of the test
    - Some teachers even have student pre-fill students name and ID on scantron
4. Set expectations for students (see Reminder Email to Students)
5. Plan for accommodations for students who need more time (see proctoring instructions for students who need more time)

Finally, please take attendance and keep track of any new or missing students so that we can schedule a make-up exam for them. I will pick up the tests when it's complete.

Good luck!

Ashley

Hello All,

We waited as long as we could to see what would happen with negotiations, but since it looks like the strike will continue into next week. We will be postponing this GDILT date – likely until mid-February. Once a date is finalized, we will send updated meeting makers. Thank you for your patience. Please don't hesitate to reach out with questions.

Hi Sherrie,
I gave [redacted] a geometry final exam over break that actually belonged to Hawk's class. Josh advised me to give it to you so I just sent it down to the main office. The test belongs to [redacted].

If you mean that the student at the final when you gave it to using instead of miss hawk, you too can give it to Sherrie.

Hi Jef,

I created the 5 google classrooms for CR11. I invited you as a teacher so you have full teacher access.

I'm also including the classroom names and codes. You can share the code with the students so they can join the respective class.

I would suggest having students join the classes next week, as this week I will be working on schedule changes so some may not stay in their same period as they are now.

Hey Danielle-

This is a great question. I'm going to CC all admin so everyone gets the answer.

I am attaching instructions for teachers to verify their grades and for admin to see who has and has not verified. A teacher not verifying will not stop their grades from being stored. It is just a mechanism used to easily know who is and is not ready to have their grades stored.

As for storing grades, S1/Q2 grades will be stored Gon 1/11/19 by KM. If you would like grades stored on an earlier date, please submit this form.

Please remind your office staff to not transfer out any students until grades have been stored. If a student must be checked out prior to the grade storing deadline, contact me so I can store the students' grades early. Let me know if you have any additional questions.

Hi Jeff,

I know that teachers are using Gradebook Pro this year and I just wanted to make sure we are finalizing student grades correctly. Is there a systems report that shows whether or not teachers have verified their grades?

We are having teachers close out their grades on Friday December 21st by 3pm. Our ops team will be printing report cards at that point. Is there anything else you need from us?

Hi Wendy!

Hope you're having a wonderful holiday break!! Thank you for sending the last check to my home address, confirming that I received it.

For the overtime pay, it looks like the check reflects 1 hour of overtime whereas I provided a total of 3 hours of home instruction. May I ask if that will be coming in another check?

Thanks,

Hi Wendy,

We will process the missing pay owed to Ms. Quintero with this current payroll run for PPE 12.31.2018. A paper check will be cut and mailed out to her.

Hi HR,

We are processing a paper check for Ms. Quintero and will be getting that over to you for mailing as this was not included previously with her final pay.

Thank you,

Good Evening Math Department Chairs and Administrators,

I hope you had a restful break and a positive first week back with your students. Happy new year!

I know that many of you are planning for Q2 Data Days that will happen in the next few days and weeks. We'd like to offer some additional tools to support your analysis of IAB Data.

The Accessing IAB Data presentation will guide you through the process of accessing data in the SBAC reporting system.
The GDCAP IAB Data Analysis Protocol will guide your department through IAB data analysis. It is similar to the previous GDCAP Data Analysis protocols but includes 3 options for analyzing IAB data (by item, by student, by key distractor).

Please don't hesitate to reach out to your Math Curriculum Specialist for help planning for or co-facilitating IAB data analysis at your site or for accessing data as needed.

Good evening,
I have attached a letter to go home tomorrow to all families for schools authorized by LAUSD. The letter asks parents to call the Board member who is responsible for the local district in which your school is located to ask them to vote no on the charter cap resolution on Tuesday. It is in both English and Spanish. I have also attached a phone script in English and Spanish that should be attached to the letter. Please make sure these go out tomorrow with students before they go home. Let me know if you have any questions and thank you in advance for ensuring your SOMs are able to make the copies and distribute the letters tomorrow.

Steps to take prior to printing letters:
-Put the letter on your school's letterhead.

Subject: important update regarding LAUSD's charter cap resolution
Importance: High

Good afternoon,
As you all know by now, the LAUSD Board is planning to vote on a resolution next Tuesday that would ask Sacramento to place a cap on new charters within LAUSD. We are very concerned about this resolution because we believe it could have a ripple effect across the state and lead to other challenges (more difficult renewals, difficulty getting facilities projects approved through the city, etc.). We are working closely with the California Charter Schools Association and other charters to push back on this resolution. Elected officials are telling us they need to see charter supporters show up in force on Tuesday in order to have a chance at preventing this resolution from passing and to ensure the voices of the parents and students we serve are heard.

We need to get Green Dot parents to the Board meeting. Given the short turnaround, we will be working with a small handful of schools (schools with a Green Dot middle and high school feeder pattern) to turn out as many Green Dot families as possible. I will email the administrators at those schools directly, but I wanted to make sure all of you knew how important Tuesday is to us as an organization and to the children and families we serve. This is a watershed moment for the charter movement in CA and across the country. Thanks for your continued support. Please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Subject: Incident-referral

Today, at the beginning of period 7 (who is not in my class this period), [redacted] opened my classroom door and with his head inside my classroom said "I need to talk to you." I told [redacted] I was not able to talk to him because my students were presenting. [redacted] got upset and yelled, "Navarro chinga verga." I asked student to leave my classroom for disrupting my classroom and because he personally harassed me. He then closed the door and pushed it with his foot. I immediately called an administrator informing what happened so that a conversation takes place.

This is another incident of sexual harassment. I am very upset about the continued sexual harassment by this student. Based on previous interactions, I feel increasingly threatened by this student as his behaviors are erratic. An intervention needs to occur but I am not comfortable meeting with the student. Please let me know how this situation will be handled. I am not comfortable with having this student in my class without proper admin follow up. Also, I am concerned when he is not in my classroom as this incident and previous have occurred outside of his class time. Please let me know when this conversation/meeting takes place.

Good Morning Admin,

I wanted to share this email we got from Gerry regarding the feedback for our Pre- lesson tomorrow.

I will send out the lesson soon, but wanted to highlight the 3rd bullet point.

I think our next area of focus will be teacher excitement....
We will continue to be as enthusiastic as possible, and hope that our excitement and positive energy is contagious

Hi team,

Just looked over it and it looks GREAT! I love the images of successful people and your goal: To believe they can be anyone of those... Such a great tag line to have! I recommend coming back to this, because they might not believe that they can these great feats initially, so keep this message alive and consistent. Love it. This course will unlock their inner potential.

A couple of ideas to possibly add:

- For the successful people images; have them also consider/visualize someone they admire and would aspire to be like one day that might not be in the images.
- Other talking points for incentivizing - this is a starting list that we want to keep adding to. Add any others that would help.
- I think the key thing now is teacher excitement in delivering the message, even conveying that as a teacher we can't wait to learn the information for ourselves too. "We're going to learn together." "I'm excited for myself too!" Its really in teacher enthusiasm.

We will be compiling many student interviews in the coming weeks and will relay the new promo video with these testimonials. Better late than never- it would still be great to show them, especially students from different schools.

Great work team. Let me know if you need anything else.

Subject: RE: [redacted]-schedule change next semester

Hey, Jessica!

Thanks for your response. I'm going to add a little context here that we can also share with [redacted] parents. The key problems are that:

(1) [redacted] is already lower-skill than the rest of her AP classmates and she is missing a ton of class [already at least 8 class periods for my course alone, not including ASB-sponsored events like blood drives and tours that she has been absent for without asking my permission in advance]
(2) When I reach out to her about making up missing work, or meeting with me one-on-one to make up work or do a reteach of content she is struggling with, she does not follow through; on multiple occasions I have scheduled a meeting with her, only to have her not show up; on many other occasions, I have asked her to schedule a meeting with me, but she has said she is unable to do so or has not replied (if my invitation was in writing)
(3) Her current level of skill in writing and reading comprehension would be better supported by the English 11 curriculum than by the AP curriculum.

Essentially, she could still flourish in AP if she were attending class consistently or making up missed work, but she is not. [redacted] listed accommodations are: small group, partner helpers, preferential seating, cuing and prompts, prompt to use agenda to record homework, multimodal instruction, high interest materials. Most of these accommodations are focused on what happens inside the classroom, but [redacted] is missing many of those opportunities when she doesn't attend class. I have also given her extended time on some large assessments as an additional support, but, again, because she is already at a skill-deficit and then not expanding her skills due to her absences and choice to not make up her work, she can usually only perform at a D-level.

In the English 11 curriculum, particularly if she is in my co-taught class [Period 5], [redacted] will have many more opportunities to focus on expanding skills that are closer within her zone of proximal development. In that regard, if she misses class, at least then she will not have to try to catch back up with the rigorous pacing required by AP; instead, she would have a smaller amount of skills to catch up on. In addition, English 11 is better designed to develop the skills of students who are in [redacted] band of skills (near grade-level, but not quite in terms of Lexile level and other standard skills).

Best,
Sara

Hi Lily,

I understand the concern for [redacted] in this class. We typically don't let students drop AP courses after semester 1 as they do make a commitment for the entire year. Given that [redacted] has an IEP and is struggling with the course, I am reaching out to admin to consult and determine best next steps. We may schedule a parent meeting to make sure they're all on the same page as well and this will allow me to see if she needs other types of supports to be successful moving forward.

I'll keep both of you posted.

*Most schools have 1 teacher or 1 item missing - an easy fix! Contact your CS to rectify this ASAP

Thank you to those of you who have worked with your team to meet the Science Safety deadlines thus far. Attention to these details will improve the safety of students on your campus.

Full campus compliance dashboards available here

As a reminder, science safety compliance has 5 components:

Due Early September each year (now past due)	Due January 31st Each Year (upcoming deadline)
Component #1: Safety Training Component #2: Safety Contracts Component #3: Safety Quizzes	Component #4: Safety Inspection Component #5: Chemical Inventory and Disposal (Final Follow-up of non-compliant items due in June each year)

For more information on requirements for components 1-3 (past due) click here

Components 4-5 - Due January 31st - Read Below

Science Safety Inspection AND Inventory Requirements (Deadline for both: January 31, 2019)

Note: These are two different inspections/inventories, one is for general safety and the other is focused on inventory/disposal of chemicals. Both are due by January 31, 2019, for safety purposes as well as preparation for department budget season.

Component #4. General Science Safety Inspection Survey 2018-19

- Safety Inspections are critical in ensuring that all of your safety equipment is available and functional in case of an accident. Notify your team of when you are coming in so they can be present to assist you in finding the items. You will then conduct your inspection with their guidance and complete the science safety inspection form for EACH classroom, including your own. Use the science inspection resources to support you through the process, if needed. Science Safety Submodule C-Inspections. If you have any questions or need support in completing these inspections, contact your school site CS for support.

- After inspections are conducted, coordinate with your SOM (School Operations Manager) to purchase necessary science safety items. Use the GD Science Safety Order Catalog to guide your purchases. If you come across safety material alternatives that are more cost effective or have any general questions, contact janee.gerard@greendot.org before purchasing.

Component #5. GD Science 7-Step Chemical Inventory and Disposal Checklist/Plan

- A chemical inventory is essential for the safety of your students and site. It allows you to account for all chemicals, helps you decide what needs to be purchased or disposed of, and the inventory sheet is required by disposal companies in order to provide you a quote for pickup.

- Supporting documents including inventory sheet to complete the inventory are located here

- Email a copy of the inventory sheet to janee.gerard@greendot.org

Procedure for Turning in Science Safety Evidence

We request that you do the following in order to turn in evidence:

1. Open the 2018-2019 School Safety Evidence Folder
2. Open your school's science safety evidence folder.
3. Add your folder to your drive.
4. Save any and all safety evidence to this folder.
    a. Be sure you are naming the file or folder with the teacher's name and what the document is, for easy reference.
5. Email Phil whenever you update that folder with a quick note explaining what you uploaded – Phil will update the tracker

Science GDILT will be reviewing and making specific plans for Science Safety at our January 23rd GDILT Pull out Day. Administrators, please feel free to follow-up with your Science Leader to learn about their specific plans for your department.

If you have any questions regarding the Green Dot Science Safety Program, please read about it here.

Thank you for your attention to these details.

Would it be possible to remind teachers to leave all copies when they have a planned day off?

Subject: Materials for Sub - Monday (12/10)

Hello,

I was supposed to come in to campus today and do this myself, but I had a commitment that took up much more time than I expected. If possible, could I have a student aid in the office print out the materials my students will need for tomorrow (Monday) during first period (my prep period)? I have a lot of paper in my classroom, and as much can be taken as needed.

1. 95 stapled copies of "comppacket_12:10."
2. 95 copies of "Logical fallacies quiz."
3. 25 stapled copies of "shela_12/10."
4. 25 copies of "per.7_Word Search Puzzle."
5. 55 stapled copies of "per3and5_packet."
6. 1 copy of "Sub notes_12/10"

All files are attached below.

I really apologize for the inconvenience! I'll make sure not to let this happen again!

Thank you,
Nicole Pina

Hello Jessica,
Let's honor the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. on his holiday this year by asking our students one of his most important questions: what is your core purpose in life?

Get our MLK Day "Core Purpose" activity, a teacher's guide and sample student video responses on EduGuide's blog:
http://edugui.de/mlkdayactivity

Research by Dr. David Yeager indicates that when students take time to build a stronger sense of purpose, they achieve better grades and are more likely to persist in pursuing a college degree.

That's a key part of what students do in the EduGuide program, so we wanted to share a free activity to help your students begin doing that too -- and the upcoming holiday celebrating the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., provides a great opportunity. In our activity, students will learn about the legacy Dr. King wanted to leave, and then write about their own.

Learn more and get a printable worksheet and guide:

Please help us advance our nonprofit mission by sharing this activity widely, and let us know how it goes with your students by commenting on our blog. The powerful impact you have on your students is our own purpose for doing what we do.

Hello Team,

Happy Monday! Thanks all for your support! How hard would it be to add user licenses after the initial install? Currently, only one teacher is requesting access to this technology. I can reach out to the school site to see if this teacher has dedicated use to a particular cart (Jesse, maybe you know).

To manage the cost (and depending on the ease of installation), I'd say let's first focus on the carts in use by this teacher.

Take care,
~Arlene

Hey Arlene,

- Pricing:
  10 – 99 users: $3.00 each user
  100 – 249 users: $2.80 each user
  250 – 999 users: $2.60 each user

  This is a yearly subscription.

  As far as install time this will definitely be labeled a project since it takes a while to get the software installed on all machines and get the teachers coordinated to install the software on their computers as well.

  There is no real recommendation on how many computers to install NetOp on, that's on the comfort of the school.

Hi Arlene,

Thanks for letting me know! Akilah, cc'd here, has been working with them to get licenses set up for Compton, so will be able to help you out with this (Pat Brown did it on their own, but we are now working to get one district account). IT will indeed have to install, so I've added Alonzo here so he is in the loop with the ask along with Jesse. How many licenses are they looking to purchase?

Thanks!

Boss,
Below is a response from Nat Pickering about his use of Netop. It would replace the current Net Support that we are using with Mr. Moreno and Liebster. It's must less expensive and is able to be used on Chromebooks. I'm asking Jesse to send me the pricing on it, as I can't find the e-mail with that info.

Hi Josh,
Great to hear from you.

Overall, Netop for the Chromebooks is pretty great considering how inexpensive it is. If you can get the kids accustomed to fully logging into their Google account each time they use the computers, the program seems to be able to show you about 95% of the students' screens (I have a few students for whom the program has never worked and Edwin hasn't been able to determine why this occurs). The kids get semi-annoying pop up windows in the corner of their screens at times but it is a small price to pay for the functionality.

The laptop/chromebook version doesn't have as many features as programs I have seen for desktops. But the thing I like about it is that it establishes that our school laptops are public devices and not to be used for private activities. The kids know they are accountable for what appears on the screen.

I use the "attention" feature which temporarily suspends computer use so that I can give instructions. I haven't really played with the demo function that should allow you to mirror a teacher's screen onto the kids computers.

Hope that is helpful, let me know if you have other questions.

Nat

Nat,
I hope you are doing well heading into winter break. When I heard that you were using Netop, I was excited to reach out to you, because I know that you are the type of person who would really dig into it. I was wondering if you could give me some insight into how the program is working for you. I was thinking about introducing the idea of piloting it with a few of the teachers at Animo Venice.

Can you tell me what features you are excited about and what some of the drawbacks are?

Good Morning Ops Team,

Happy Friday! Hope you all had a great week! A couple of updates for this week:

1. Attached is the enrollment update as of Wednesday, 1/23/19.
    a. Shout out to Leadership for leading all high schools this week, and Mae Jemison for leading all middle schools for the 2nd consecutive week!

2. Yesterday, Cristina sent an email to all staff regarding the rally at the LAUSD office this upcoming Tuesday, January 29th. The LAUSD board is planning to vote on a resolution that would ask Sacramento to place a cap on new charters with LAUSD. 5 of our schools have busses ordered so they can drive as many parents as possible to the rally in support of our charter schools. As Cristina mentioned this is a watershed moment for the charter movement in CA and across the country.

3. Important Deadlines
    a. By Thursday, January 31st: please remember to close each day in Meals Plus
    b. By Thursday, January 31st: Complete January food safety checklist.

Have a great weekend everyone!

Community Engagement

New Year, New Organizing Institute!

UPAS is rolling out a brand new format for the Community Organizing Institute and you don't want to miss it!! The institute will now include:

- 30 minutes of relationship building
- 1.5 hours of breakout sessions, each with specialized curriculum based on organizing experience and interest
- 1 hour of whole group planning

Our next institute will take place January 26th, 9am-12pm at the Henry Clay Learning Complex. Flyer attached here. Please encourage parent and student leaders to attend and we hope you can join us as well!

Salesforce Reminders

- Event/meeting attendance should be entered within 1 week into Salesforce. This includes PIQE attendance: each PIQE session should be entered separately so that parents attending multiple sessions can be recognized for doing so and so that we can better assess multi-session engagement year to year.
- If you create a new parent contact, please be sure the student name, ID, and school code is input in the parent record. Without the school code, that parent's attendance will not transfer into school dashboards or reports.
- Please follow the naming conventions we reviewed during the summer training and at AGDD (re-attached here).
- If you need support accessing or leveraging your dashboard or reports, please reach out to Veronica Toledo.

Survey for Parent Coordinators

UPAS is working on the curriculum for the March 20th AGDD and July summer training and would really like PC feedback on the topics they would find most useful and relevant. Please ensure PCs take 3-5 minutes to complete this survey by EOD today:

https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/GJTCP38. We really appreciate their feedback.

Communications

We will be providing digital engagement information here instead of additional emails.

- Here is a weekly content recommendation for Facebook posting:
  - Use a picture of one of these posters on your campus to include with the post below:
  - "We believe that representing our students visually in art across campus is motivating! See how a new mural is making students feel seen: Read More "
- Take a moment review your monthly web analytics report and/or Facebook Insights via THIS LINK

Always remember to submit update requests or inquiries via our support portal so we can ensure great service!

Pitching Your School Stories for TV Coverage
Do you want to see your school and students on KTLA, Univision, Telemundo, CBS, ABC or NBC? Got an event, program, achievement, student story or teacher story that you're particularly proud of? We've been working with Great Public Schools NOW to develop stories for local outlets. Submit a couple of bullet points about a potential story to danielle.bennett@greendot.org.

Development

The 2018 Campaign: College Access for All
The Development team would like to congratulate and thank all of our principals, assistant principals, and teachers who worked hard to share the End of Year crowdfunding campaigns across their networks. 17 of 21 schools in CA participated, and 100% of the schools in TN and WA participated. Money raised will primarily fund college tours for Green Dot students.

Objective: Grow Green Dot's donor base

The Goal for each school: Secure 100 donors and/or $5,000

Board members and Green Dot's donor network were challenged to match schools who reached their goals.

Overall Results:

$139,531 Fundraised

869 Donations

739 New Donors

School Winners:

$5,000 match for the first school in each region to secure 100 donors

- Ánimo Jackie Robinson High School (CA)
- Hillcrest High School (TN)

$2,500 match for other schools that secured 100 donors

- Ánimo Watts College Preparatory Academy (CA)
- Bluff City High School (TN)

$2,500 additional match for hitting fundraising dollar and donor goal

- Ánimo Jackie Robinson High School (CA)

$1,000 Staples gift card in a flash incentive 72-hour challenge, securing over 50 new donors

- Ánimo Watts College Preparatory Academy (CA)

Congratulations to Washington's Excel Public Charter School for raising the most donations in the WA network with 63 new donors.

Please note funds raised including matches from every campaign will be transferred to each school's account in the coming weeks to use for College Access and Tour expenses. Development will notify principals when the funds are ready.

Educator Effectiveness

Performance evaluation for school stakeholders
So many deadlines! So many documents! One stop shop for all school site evaluation deadlines and materials can be found here.

Teacher Evaluations
Performance Evaluation Master List: Please check your school's Master List and confirm which teachers evaluations are happening in the spring and by whom. If you have a teacher going on leave, you would note that too. We are asking that each school's MasterList is validated by January 31st.
Late Hires: If you hire a teacher after December 1, you can choose to keep them OFF in the spring and move into Group 1 in the fall of next year or to evaluate them. Either way, we will need to know so that we can set them up correctly in Ed Reflect. Please email Rachel Provost and Julia Fisher with plans for any late hires.
Upcoming Student Survey window: Student surveys window begins in two weeks (2/11-3/8)! This year, in an effort to lower costs and improve transparency, the Student Survey will be 100% online and schools will need to execute a plan to get all students on a computer within that window.

Summative Deadline: May 16th is the deadline for Spring teacher Summatives. More teachers tend to be ON in spring and the window for evaluations is shorter. Please get a jump on scheduling and completing your On cycles!

Special Education Compliance Elements

Special Education teachers need a minimum of 6 post IEP parent surveys to get a Parent Survey score. Last year, 62% of our Special Education teachers got a Parent Survey score. This is an important data point as it reflects the parent's perception of the IEP meeting and useful in discussing this aspect of your SpEd Teacher's work. Please prioritize getting this done and discuss ways to execute on it with your SEPA, SpEd Teacher, Parent Coordinator, etc. Here are the SpEd Compliance reports for Admin and Teacher

School Leader Evaluation

IRC Deadline: The Interim Reflection Conference deadline is in two weeks (February 8th). If you have yet to conduct the Goal Setting Conference in Ed Relect, you must complete both by this deadline.

IRC Resources

- Manager/Evaluator guidance deck
- Evaluatee guidance deck
- School Leader Competency Framework
- Interim Reflection Template

Counselor Evaluation

Please make sure you have scheduled your upcoming evaluation meetings with your counselor(s). Below are links to the meeting one-pagers, along with due dates.

- Spring Individual Conference, due 2/20
- Observation/Debrief, if you completed one in the Fall
- Performance Evaluation, due 5/23

Want to check your completion status? See this Tableau report.

Please reach out to Narineh if you have any questions related to EdReflect.

Semester 2 Data Audit
It's time for the biannual data audit (everyone's favorite time of year J) in order to ensure clean and accurate state reporting.

Here is the summary of the baseline errors and schedule of the biweekly data audit for the 2nd semester. The data audit tableau report can be viewed here.

NOTES:
Corrections must be made in PowerSchool by EOD Wednesday of each NFTD update in order to be reflected in the chart.

As a reminder, the field to update or enter a student's special education primary disability code changed after Semester 1 of last year. It is located in State/Province - CA à Program Eligibility à Create a NEW entry (see image below). Please work with your SEPA to correct any Special Education errors.

A special shout out to Pat Brown and Florence-Firestone for currently being error-free!

If you need additional assistance or have any questions, feel free to reach out to Veronica Zuniga.

Hi Team:

One ask I do have from all of you as teachers who see students way more often than I do, is to please contact parents directly when you have concerns about students' performance in class and/or behavior. It is most effective when parents hear directly from teachers because they know what is going on in each class. I can't tell you how often parents explain that their child claims they "don't get homework" and every day comes home with nothing to do… Even though I explain to parents that is NOT TRUE, there is no way for me to monitor homework completion for a student. So let's work together to communicate with parents and enter log entries when the communication takes place so I have something to refer to.

Thank you!

This is a great idea! I will create a spread sheet with my scheduled meetings. I will share with grade level team and 11th grade advisors. I will also include notes after the meeting to keep you all in the loop.

Please know I began these meetings last semester (prioritizing students not on track to graduate) and always schedule follow up meetings, but many times parents do not make it to the follow up meetings later in the semester. So I will have to reach out to them again this semester to re-schedule them. I will begin with the non-grads most in need (least # of credits) and work my way up.

I have already met with [redacted] (last week) and just today I met with [redacted], though student was not present only mom was present.

Hey, Jessica!

During our GL meeting today at PD, 11th grade teachers expressed that we would find it really valuable to know which students and families you're meeting with in advance so that we can provide input (as needed) and potentially join the meeting to support the conversation. Could you keep us appraised of any forthcoming appointments?

Also, as an update to all, I spoke with the twins' father last week about how they've been sleeping so much in class recently, and he has offered to come do a parent shadow of them on Friday during 5th and 6th periods.

Many thanks,
Sara

Good Morning Mates

It was shared with me that there was a concern with starting PD at 2:20.

I understand that the concern was that I did not shared or involved the calendar committee. While I hear and understand your concern, I did not see it necessary for the following reason. The language of the contract talks about significant change to the calendar. I do not see 10 minutes to PD as a significant change to the calendar. The end of the day is not being extended, I am not adding extra days, I am not extending a classroom period, I am not taking way or shoring lunch time. We have a gap of time between the end of the instructional day on Wednesday and the start of PD. I would like to use 10 of those minutes for everyone to be able to work and be on the same page about advisory in order to see the success that we would like to see.

Please know that while I did not talked to the calendar committee, I also did not made change all by myself. In collaboration with advisory leads we brainstorm several ideas in order to find the time and we all agree that this would be the best way to go.

Gracias

Hi Sherrie,

Attached you will find my notes for the drama and English 12 switch. I only looked at the largest class (Drama) to see if change would be a possibility. The change will not be possible, out of 31 students, only a maximum of 5 students will be able to make the switch. If a student's schedule does not permit the switch, I wrote notes as to why. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Ms. Quintero...the following are my concerns and disagreements:

1. Language on some of the accommodations.

2. Reduced math minutes. Page 2 Section D states he met Math goal 1 but did not meet math goal 2 objective 2 as the goal needs to be adjusted. The reduction in minutes in this area is of great concern to me since he failed math.

3. BSP from IEP dated 12/2017, there was confusion in the meeting regarding this point, however there was an ammendment IEP held 02/2018 to discontinue OT and the BSP was included. Please refer to the aforementioned IEP. On page 2 Section D of the 12/2018 IEP it states [redacted] met objective 1 but did not meet objective 2 of his Behavior goal and there is no PLP.

I will be out of the country 12/17/18-01/06/19 and can be reached via email.

Hello team,

I wanted to share with you a conversation that I just had with [redacted] I believe this conversation highlights the positive impact we are having on this young man and is a baby step in the right direction.

[redacted] called me just a few minutes ago asking if there was any possibility of him being able to complete final exams. He was very sincere and kind in his request. I asked him if he had spoken to anyone about why he was going to be out and he said no. I pointed out that sadly we are an hour away from the end of the last day of the semester and since he had not prepared any of us for why he would be missing there was not much to be done at this point. He was disappointed and I pointed out that it appears he may have still received passing marks in Spanish and PE but he was still upset.

The positive I see here is that he called. He reached out to us. It shows that he wants to do well but struggles to make that right decision every day. He did not share why he has been out or if there has been anything going on but the fact that he called is a really good step.

Thank you for all of your hard work with [redacted]

Dear Green Dot Public Schools,

th

I would like to notify you that I am resigning from my position as the 11 grade Special Education teacher effective December 24.

I cannot thank you enough for the wonderful opportunity you've given me to learn from and work with my resilient students and dedicated staff. I have learned so much and will forever be grateful for the chance you took with me to serve our students and families.

Next month I will be taking a position at a university in northern California, but in the meantime and after, I am happy to help assisting in the transition of a new special education teacher.

Sincerely,

Good morning, Julio.

Hope you've been well the past couple of months. I have about a month and a half left of maternity leave and so I've been making plans about my return to work as well as care for Eli once I'm gone.

My return date is 1/7 and by then, Eli will be just over 3 months old. I realized that he still won't be sleeping through the night. That along with other aspects of raising such a young baby make it hard for me to return full time. As much as I want to be able to do both, teach full time like I planned to and raise my son well, I think it's the better decision for me and my family to return part time.

From my experience with part time last year, I did learn that it'd be a more seamless transition if I was on campus every day and able to attend meetings. Therefore, my initial thought was to work periods 3, 4, 7 and advisory (the post lunch periods).

I know there must be a host of issues that you need to consider as well but I wanted to let you know where I stand as soon as possible so you can make the appropriate decisions in a timely manner.

Please download the School Leader Evaluation rubric via the link below. The rubric should be used to help provide ratings for your administrator(s) based on the criteria noted in the rubric.

SLE Rubric

There isn't any language in the actual questions that describes the rankings, it just has a matrix with each ranking listed: Entry (1) Emerging (2) Effective (3) Highly Effective (4). Here is a screen shot:

Domain 1 - Instructional Leadership

	Entry (1)	Emerging (2)	Effective (3)	Highly Effective (4)
Principal effectively coaches teachers to improve instruction	○	○	○	○
Principal creates and implements professional development which leads to improved teacher and student performance	○	○	○	○
Principal builds a collaborative and well-functioning team	○	○	○	○

Hi all,

Thank you for prepping the lunch discussion so carefully. Teachers and students learned a lot about the nuances of the lunch order.

As our last item of discussion, we briefly discussed how to get parents to SAC meetings and Ms. Garcia mentioned the parents had been notified. Teachers brainstormed a few ideas related to extra credit in social studies classes for civic engagement reflections about the experience. Could you please present an outline the different methods of communication for parents so we can work on getting more parents involved?

Also, this year's notes are not on the compliance webpage. Could you please let us know when they will be up? Teachers have asked us about the SAC meetings and it would be nice to point them to the notes as a reference.

Thank you,

Adriana

Good Afternon team
I called the office today and asked about the sac meeting in the agenda today. The school calendar says the sac meeting is today, but the school failed to notify me that the meeting took place on Dec 6. I am requesting for a notification next time in the future so that I do not miss out on the sac meeetings. Thank you.
With Kind Regards,

Hey Jef,

So I have tons of schedule changes to get done this week and I wasn't anticipating on spending all period in CR11 today. Please make sure that tomorrow you guide the students through the SAT registration process so I can work on schedule changes. Feel free to follow the same format I used today.

I can bring by the fee waiver cards and signup sheet tomorrow morning.

Attached is the PPT I used with some of the instructions for completing the fee waiver card.

I'm also including an assignment cover sheet you can provide to students so they can staple it to the Admission Ticket when they turn it in on Thursday/Friday.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks.

At our SPED meeting with Glynis we discussed that some 12th graders might need to take the Science test.

You can see below that we have 8, of which only 3 have IEPs. So, we'll just need to think through their accommodations for it.

Michael,
Happy Friday, I hope you are well. Can you help us with determining who will need to take the Science Test in May? Glynis informed me that any 11th grader who didn't take it last year must take it this year as a Senior. I honestly don't remember if we had both juniors and seniors take the test last year or if it was only one grade level.

Hello Green Dot Educators,

I'm writing to let you know that you are on our waitlist for Standards Institute this winter. We have your preferences for sessions noted - if a spot becomes available we will go-ahead and register you and you will receive a confirmation email. At this time we are sold out and you would be granted a spot if we have some cancellations.

Thank you - let me know if you have any questions. We're honored you want to attend!

Hello!

I am the Event Producer for Minefaire, an Official Minecraft Community Event and the largest touring Minecraft-related event on the western hemisphere.

I am reaching out on behalf of the event to offer your students an opportunity that we are extending to the local schools all along our 2019 tour.

As Minefaire Agents, your students will have an opportunity to help out as volunteers, gaining a behind-the-scenes look at what is involved in producing such a massive event. They will also have an opportunity to experience the latest in video game tech, virtual reality, and meet celebrity Youtube personalities.

In addition, each student Agent will receive the following:
-FREE Admission to the event (when they are not volunteering, they will be able to enjoy the event)

Hey Julio,

Unfortunately, my mother in law, not my mother, is in the process of passing away. My wife just found out last night and this morning.

I arranged for Ms. Tang to take my period 3 and Mr. Castro to take care of my period 4.

I appreciate this.

I will probably be going to Switzerland in the next few days. I will probably combine this with seeing my own mother. I may be out for a while.

This happened over the last few days and was quite unexpected.

Good evening,
I hope you all had a restful break. As you all know, the UTLA strike is currently set to begin this Thursday, January 10th. There is a slight possibility that the date will be postponed to next Monday, January 14th. I will let you know as soon as I know if the date is postponed. For now, we need to ensure we are ready for the 10th. You can use the Potential Strike Resources sent out before break to make sure you have covered all of your bases. I wanted to highlight a few important follow-ups we discussed before break. Let me know if you have any questions after reviewing this list. Principals will also have an opportunity to ask questions during tomorrow's 95/5 session. Thank you!

-Blackboard calls to parents should go out tomorrow reminding them school is in session.

-If you have not already done so, please review the advisory lesson provided in the strike resources folder with your students.

-Make sure your staff is aware of the safety plan for your school.

-If there are any strike actions occurring in front of your school at any day during the strike, an administrator should contact your area superintendent immediately.

-Should your own teachers call out sick for any reason during the strike, please call one of our sub companies to secure a sub. Notify your area superintendent by 6:30 a.m. on any given morning if you will have more than 5 subs on campus or if the sub company does not have enough subs to fulfill your request.

Hi!

Attached is the resume of a potential Math candidate for your opening. Felicia Woo recently finished 2 semesters of student teaching with us, from the USC program. Last spring she was with Ines Mendoza at ODH, and this semester she was with Thomas Lo at JMS. Ms. Mendoza did not provide us with written feedback prior to leaving Green Dot last year, but Mr. Lo's comments are below, as is a short blurb from Edgar Flota. (When I spoke to Ines while at ODH, she had very positive comments about Felicia's work with her.)

Our only math openings right now, are at MAE (who wants to hire their sub when he passes his CSETs), and at Locke (which was too far of a commute for Felicia). We called her today about your new opening, and she was very excited and interested. (Ms. Woo also came to our Networking event last spring – even though she was not going to be eligible for hire until now not sure if you may have met her then.)

Felicia is now in Ohio for the holidays and won't be available to demo until after we return from break. However, I wanted to send you her information to gauge your interest level and if you want to get her scheduled now for the week of 1/7. I have not sent her a lesson assignment, but can easily do so. Please let me know!

Student Teacher Name	2. University Credential Program	3. Your Name	4. Your School Site	5. Content Area	6. What are the Student Teacher's areas of strength?	7. What are the Student Teacher's areas of growth?	8. Please describe any red flags (or lack thereof)	Additional Comments/Conclusion	Would you recommend the Student Teacher as a potential hire for Green Dot?
Felicia Woo	USC	Thomas Lo	Animo Jefferson Charter Middle School	Math	Ms. Woo is very reflective in her teaching practices, well organized, and understands the basics in lesson planning.	Teacher is working on classroom and time management.	No red flags that I've been able to identify.	Ms. Woo is a strong candidate, but will still have a lot to develop once hired. She seems to have the right attitude towards teaching and would be a great new hire for any school that is willing to invest time to develop new teachers.	Strongly Recommend

Edgar Flota comments:
Felicia is green and requires support in classroom management and lesson execution, but I would say that is outweighed by her responsiveness to feedback and positive attitude. She definitely has a lot of potential. I don't feel comfortable giving her my full endorsement because it can be a toss up with new teachers once you remove the student teacher supports, but from what she has shown I would offer her a position if one were available.

Good Morning VEN Team,

We are all set for your lottery tomorrow! Thanks to all of your team for their hard work in entering and verifying data and recruiting students. I've done a full data audit and everything is looking good (attached the Excel sheet as an FYI but no need to review).

You will be running four lotteries tomorrow, starting at 5:00PM:

- 9th grade: 209 applicants for 180 seats
- A lottery to waitlist students for 10th, 11th, and 12th grades.

Here are logistics to get ready for tomorrow:

- Please find the script attached. Please have someone available to read this script in English and Spanish, ideally the principal should read one of the parts. Reminder to please stick to the language as much as possible because it comes straight from our charter petitions and our HO Support Staff have been trained to run the computer portion of this lottery based on the script.
    - Please plan to have a third staff member available to answer parent questions
- Keep track of any parent questions that need to be followed up on post-lottery here
- Arlene and Jamie will be your Home Office Support staff and will run / project the computer automated lottery. They will be at the school between 4:00-4:30PM.
- Please send us the name of the printer we should connect to in order to print lottery results to post. We can download the printer in advance to save time.
- Make sure you have a room with good wifi, a projector setup and seating ready.

Please call or text me at 213-222-7543 if you have any questions or concerns before, during or after the lottery.

Yes, they will be going via Workday as planned. Instructions for completing are being finalized now and should go out to teachers/counselors by EOD today. We are also working on instructions for Admins on how to access the report of who has completed, etc., and hope to send those today or tomorrow.

Yes, LOIs are due back by 2/14, but changes are accepted thru 3/1…which means 3/1 is really the deadline.

Yes, teachers are still asked if they wish to transfer, but are not asked to which schools. After March 1st, RIFs (if any) will need to be placed. Once RIFs are placed, we will send all those who indicated a transfer interest, access to a Google doc with all expected 2019-20 openings (based on LOIs). Teachers with access to this list will reach out to the schools in which they are interested. This Google doc is continually updated as openings fill or others open.

Okay gracias, just a few questions?

Are they going out via Workday? If so will teachers be able to share that they want to transferred and to what school?

And just to make sure they are due back by Feb. 14th?

Gracias

Hi!

As your Human Capital point person, I'm hoping you can add me to the distribution list of your school newsletter (assuming there is one). It will just help me keep abreast of what's happening at VEN and talk in a little more detail to potential candidates – especially as we head into the upcoming recruitment season! I have received a couple of newsletters from VEN, but not sure if I get them regularly. Also, please let me know how often it comes out (weekly, monthly, quarterly)…thank you!!

Vic,
Attached is a note from CIF regarding what we do if LAUSD goes on strike and how it could effect games. Most of the info is for how LAUSD AD's and admin should handle it. The last, and most important piece for us, tells charter schools that we must accept a game change if it is requested. Fortunately most of our schools and charters and shouldn't be effected. But, if LAUSD does go on strike, we'll need to be aware of this.

LAUSD Members,
In August, I provide a statement of athletic contingency plans in the event of a Teacher's Job Action during the season, spelling out the options that a school administration would have to practice or play contest. I have revised the Commissioner's Memo to include administrative oversight concerns when it is determined to cancel practice and/or compete in a contest. Please review the attached memo and work in conjunction with your school district to determine the best plan to maintain a safe environment for your students with the limited resources available. Should you need further clarification, contact the Section Office at your convenience.

Independent Charter schools will be allowed to continue to participating in practice and contest as long as they are not participating as part of an LAUSD school agreement or scheduled to play an LAUSD school. If they have a contest with an LAUSD school during a work action by the teachers, contact the administrator over athletics for the opponent to determine if the game will be played, rescheduled, or cancelled as a no contest.

Subject: <1/8/19 Updates> UTLA/LAUSD Bargaining News re Potential Strike and Member Call at 7:30am Tomorrow
Importance: High

Dear Los Angeles Charter Leaders,

We write with today's updates and news coverage regarding bargaining between UTLA and the District, including plans for a potential strike late this week or early next week. We will send daily updates regarding the strike until this issue is resolved. Please ensure that a member of your team will be on our member calls, starting with the call tomorrow morning at 7:30AM. For call information, please email Chris Copolillo, cc'd here.

We are disappointed that UTLA continues to use the platform of collective bargaining to share misleading information and anti-charter rhetoric, and is calling for a charter cap and policy changes that harm charter schools as part of contract negotiations. We must be prepared to advocate collectively on these issues should a development occur that negatively effects our students and families. It is critical that your school community remain informed as these issues develop.

As always, please contact our team with any questions, and review consequential news media clips and CCSA-provided resources below:

- No new guidance issued on the date of a possible UTLA strike - and a strike is therefore still expected to occur on January 10. While UTLA and LAUSD both requested clarification from a judge today on whether the union would have to legally wait until January 14 to strike, no decision was issued. We are monitoring this issue and will update the charter community once a decision is issued. In the meantime, we continue to prepare for a strike on Thursday.

- Charter community supports each other at charter board meeting. Earlier today, members of the charter community turned out in full force and worked together to ensure that their charter renewal, new petitions, and material revisions were approved by the board with the least disruption possible under tense political circumstances. The charter community continues to be stronger when we are bold and united in voice and action. We congratulate all schools who were approved at the meeting.

- Updated resource for schools dealing with strike-related media requests. During a strike, CCSA will take the lead on messaging and communications for the broader charter community so that our members can stay focused on serving kids. Please use this template letter for any media requests you receive at schools in advance of or during a strike. The letter communicates that schools will stay open and refers media to CCSA with any further inquiries. Additional guidance related to the UTLA "open letter" to charter educators is coming tomorrow morning, and we plan to publish a comprehensive online landing page for media questions on our website that will communicate that independent charters will stay open during the strike.

- UTLA to protest CCSA Office on second day of strike. UTLA distributed materials indicating that they plan to protest on Friday, January 11, or the second day of a strike, outside the CCSA LA office. We will remain open to provide support to members and are working proactively to not give credence to UTLA's attempt to bring charters further into the strike narrative.

UTLA
UNITED TEACHERS LOS ANGELES

BREAKING: Strike date is January 14

We strike on Monday if no agreement is reached.

While we believe we would eventually win in court against all of Austin Beutner's anti-union, high-priced attempts to stop our legal right to strike, in order for clarity and to allow members, parents, and our communities to plan, UTLA is moving the strike date to Monday, January 14.

"Unlike Beutner and his administration, we do not want to bring confusion and chaos into an already fluid situation," said UTLA President Alex Caputo-Pearl. "Although we believe we would ultimately prevail in court, for our members, our students, parents, and the community, absent an agreement we will plan to strike on Monday."

As the UTLA bargaining team is back at the table to try to reach an agreement today, our lawyers are fighting Beutner's desperate legal maneuvers in court. We need to be the ones to offer clarity, since the district has sent out confusing, contradicting messages to members and parents in the last few months.

We know there are tough decisions ahead for the more than 600,000 students and their families impacted by a strike. While every family will make their own decision on whether to send their child to school in the event of a strike, having many parents and allies on picket lines will be powerful and transformative.

We will update you with emails and on social media as well as a news blog where we will report the latest. Click here for STRIKE WATCH.

UTLA will hold a Facebook live press briefing with Alex Caputo-Pearl, after negotiations, around 5 p.m.. Be sure to watch here.

The insulting PR spin on LAUSD's offer

Once again, LAUSD is spreading lies and misinformation to try to sow dissent among our members. Here are the facts behind their latest message to employees on their proposal from Monday:

LAUSD says "hire 1,000 more educators"
TRUTH: That is a drop in the bucket when it comes to our students' needs and represents less than 5% of the record-breaking district reserve. The proposal would provide less than [redacted] school, supposedly for

Subject: Spring 2019 - Cooperating Teacher Welcome Letter and Webinar

Good afternoon!

I hope this email finds you well. My name is Joshua Helmer and I am the Clinical Field Experience Specialist at Grand Canyon University. I assist Cooperating Teachers and Supervisors with the student teaching process. Thank you for hosting a Grand Canyon University Teacher Candidate in your classroom this semester. Your expertise and guidance throughout this experience will be vital to our Teacher Candidate's success and we want to make sure that you feel supported during this journey.

A GCU Faculty Supervisor is assigned to work collaboratively with you and your Teacher Candidate throughout the semester. The GCU Faculty Supervisor should contact you by the second week of the placement. If you do not hear from him/her by this time, please reach out to me directly. You can find my contact information within the signature block below.

For your convenience, we have put together a GCU Cooperating Teacher Checklist to assist you in hosting a GCU Teacher Candidate this semester.

GCU Cooperating Teacher Checklist

- Complete the GCU Cooperating Teacher Training modules and sign verification form to receive Certificate of Completion.
- Provide your additional contact information (alternate email and/or phone number) to Clinical Field Experience Office at coefieldexperience@gcu.edu.
- Check out the Professional Learning Network (PLN) where you can connect with other Cooperating Teachers across the country, explore blog posts, find student teaching resources, and "meet" members of our team here in the College of Education.
- Every week, please review and initial the Clinical Practice Time Log completed by the Teacher Candidate. Check for accuracy and completeness. At the end of the student teaching placement, sign and date the completed log.

Additionally, the College of Education will be hosting a one-hour GCU Cooperating Teacher Kick-Off Webinar for the Spring 2019 semester. We invite you to attend and learn about important information for the upcoming semester, and to ensure you have all the resources you need to support your Teacher Candidate with a meaningful learning experience.

RSVP: Click Here to join the presentation on Thursday, January 17th at 4:00 P.M. (Arizona Time)

Hi Deanne,

My colleague, Crystal Huerta, had a chance to speak with Kourtney today, and we are excited to have her join us for student teaching next semester! This email is to confirm her placement from 2/7/19 – 6/3/19, with Mr. Sofia Leal at Animo Venice Charter High School. I have cc'd both Ms. Leal and her admin team on this email. (Just to clarify – this is a FEB start date, not JAN, correct?)

Please coordinate placement details directly with the teacher and admin team, but let me know if you have any questions – and thank you again for allowing us to take on this placement. Please also confirm that Ms. Davidson will have a Certificate of Clearance on file with the CTC prior to her 2/7/19 start date.

Hey Julio,

On Friday, I am going to present a proposal to the GD School Board about creating a website hub / social media for developing collaborative art projects among the art teachers at Green Dot Public Schools. It is part of the fellowship I received from Arts in LA. I am asking for funding sources to create and maintain this site for the next five years. I would need a sub for the afternoon on Friday. The meeting is at 2pm so I would have to leave around 12:15, 12:30, which means I could miss only Period 7. They require I be there at least half an hour early.

Should I get someone to take those periods - advisory and period 7? Or get a sub for the day? I will still be at school for most of the day either way.

If you would like to discuss this further, please let me know.

Thanks for your help.

Hi there!

Happy Friday! I wanted to send along a tool that you can share with your department or your coachees.

https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1DniTwqylPtOM3aM6ydwnLuyWwTzVXYnwcHFHYegMMn8/edit?usp=sharing

It has the passages that are aligned to the short constructed responses on GDCAPs 3 as well as exemplars for each prompt. It could be useful to have them look over them in a department meeting or even on their own. Let me know if you want me to share specific ways that you might use this in coaching or team time!

All my best,
Steph

Give the Gift of College Access

Dear friend of Green Dot,

I wish you and your family a wonderful holiday season.

Our mission is to prepare all students for success in college, leadership, and life. We are achieving this for over 15,000 students across our 30 schools in California, Tennessee, and Washington.

As we enter the final phase of our 2018 End of Year campaign - College Access for All - I ask you to consider making a gift to support our commitment to send all of our middle and high school students on college campus tours this spring. It is one of the most powerful things we do for students whose families frequently have no relation to college and often don't know how to access this transformative opportunity.

Will you give to our schools and share this campaign with five of your friends? Just $15 (the cost of your weekly coffee treats) will help us make college dreams real. Some are giving $50, $500, or even $5,000 dollars. We are grateful for every gift.

College Access For All - Give Now >>

Thank you for your support in giving today.

Warmly,

Good afternoon GLs,

I'm sorry for not sending this sooner! For grade level time today here is what I just sent he staff. For you all if you can also please check in with any new teachers in your grade level about making sure they understand how to handle final exams and updating grades. Thanks!

Hello team,

This is a reminder that you should be working with your grade level today in collaboration. Please make sure to discuss any lingering questions about wrapping up the semester and storing grades. If your team was unable to decide on your 2-3 students for full SSTs in second semester please make sure that you finalize those decisions as well.

Thank you!

- What do we need to adapt or change for S2
- What did we give up in S1 that we think we need to bring back in S2
- Are we ready for SST round 2 or are we sticking with round 1 students?

I will have my work phone on, and can be reached via phone should anything come up requiring immediate attention. Some examples of things I would like to be looped in on (if these occur W-F next week): suspensions for students with IEPs or 504 plans, DRBs for students with IEPs or 504 Plans, and/or parent complaints/requests for students with IEPs/504s. I hope you all have a wonderful break!

Hi team,

Lots has happened at home the last two days and I was able to snag a therapist appointment for my son at 2:30 today. Unfortunately when I took the appointment I did not realize that I needed to run the grade level meeting. I feel we did a very good job at our last meeting with identifying the students that admin could help support for next semester as well as collaborating for exams. You may like to use the time today to:

- log your accommodations for final exams
- update each other on mentor progress and make adjustments as necessary
- add to notes from our last session about the three students we would like to refer for admin support

Here is the link to our minutes from grade level meetings. Could someone please take notes at the bottom?

We are only nine days away from winter break!!! I know everyone is looking forward to this time to replenish and spend quality time with loved ones! Here are a couple of things that you might need to know:

- How long should our finals be? Given that some exams are comprehensive and include open-ended responses, we allotted for 100 minutes to each period. This gives students ample time to complete their exam without being rushed. If you know students will not need the entire time, Mary and I plan a lesson, use the time to review expectations, and review our CHAMPS. We recommend you take advantage of this time.
- Finals: Finals are given on the scheduled dates – 12/19, 12/20, and 12/21. This will support our attendance!
- At this time, if you have not been communicated that a particular student has been cleared to miss your final and earn an "incomplete," and misses the final without any notice, you can issue a 50% for the final grade. There is possibility that students who are absent during finals have a valid excuse. Upon our return, please reach out for support (it's a case by case).
- Verification of grades: Please ensure to verify semester 1 grades by Friday, January 11th. This means that you have time to finish grading. Administrators will be reaching out to you if they see you have not yet verified you grades.
- D's and F's grades: Please log comments in power school and in Step 3 when verifying grades for any student receiving a D or F for the semester.

Please feel free to ask, if you have any questions. Thank you for your hard work!!!

Mary and Bridgette

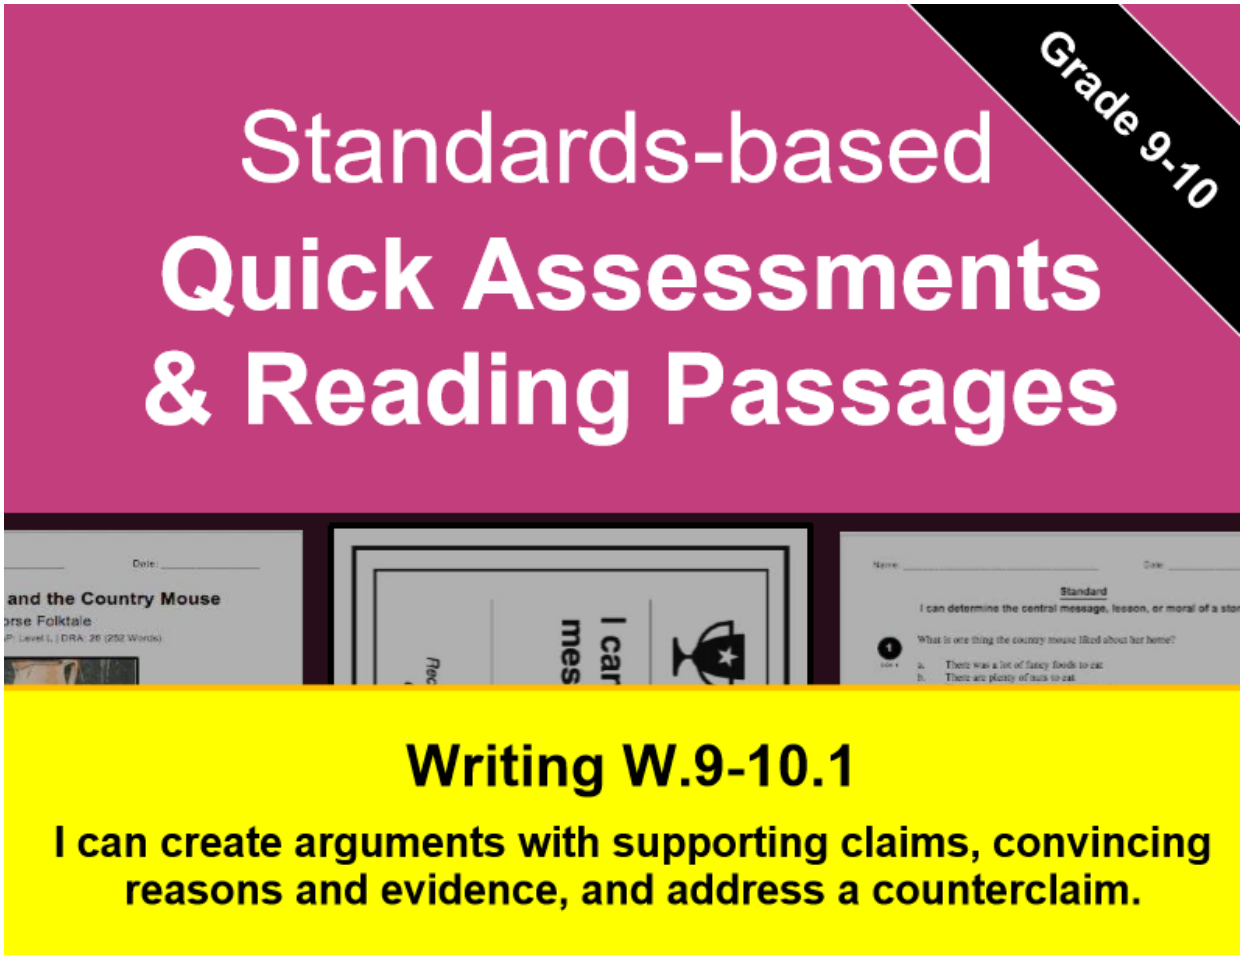
Hi team,

Hope you are all having a great week!

In December Goal book added "Quick Reading assessments" now they have added some for "Writing". They break it down by topic for 6-8th, 9-10th and 11-12th grade. It is outlined very similarly to the "Quick Reading Assessments". These can be used to conduct quick writing assessments or incorporating into your lesson plans.

I have attached two for 9-10th grade(argumentative, expository), two for 11-12th grade (narrative, text analysis) and one for each grade level in middle school. Let me know if you have any questions. Also, I can walk you through pathways next time I am on your campus ☺ See original email below.



Hi,

Hope you are having a great Friday! I wanted to share with you a great new resource that was released in Goal Book Pathways for conducting quick reading assessments or incorporating into your lesson plans.

Quick Highlight: It provides pre and post assessments common core standard aligned passages and questions at 3 levels of rigor (DOK 1-3) for differentiation.

Use for: formative assessments, quizzes, homework, informal assessments, work samples, and progress monitoring.

Full package includes: assessments and reading passages with Lexile and word count, DOK 1-3 questions, extension questions, scoring rubrics, template of certificate for when students master the specific standard.

Attached: I attached a middle and high school example of the passages. Bring it up at your next coaching session and we can walk you through it J

Green Dot Joins Thousands of Parents to Rally Ahead of Charter Moratorium

Green Dot parents at charter rally

This week hundreds of parents and students from Green Dot Public Schools joined thousands more from across the city to demand that Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) board members vote “no” on a resolution to call for a statewide moratorium on authorizing new charter schools. Although the school board was ultimately not responsive to the cries of those parents and passed the resolution 5-1, we will not give up on being part of a movement to serve all students who are vulnerable of slipping through the cracks of the traditional system.

How a New Mural is Making Students Feel Seen at Rainier Valley Leadership Academy

Rainier Valley Leadership Academy Middle School (RVLA MS) art teachers Margaret Ward and Gretchen Proulx saw the opportunity for messaging to students through art on the new walls of a permanent home for the school. With the help of students' creativity, they landed on a concept for a mural last spring. Together they decided the subject of the mural should be Rahma Rashid, the RVLA MS Instructional Aide who has played a pivotal role in developing school culture since its founding last year.

Happy Thursday Math Teachers!

We had our official HS Math Textbook Talk in October and used the time afterwards to follow up with schools that weren't able to attend, ask more questions of teachers and admin, and gather feedback from a few more sources. We've also heard more from both of our pilot high schools and further explored resources and materials available for next year.

After considering teacher and admin feedback and overall quality of the materials, we are excited to announce that we are (tentatively) going to be using Illustrative Mathematics in our Algebra 1, Geometry, and Algebra 2 classes next year. This curriculum has been implemented with high levels of student engagement in our classrooms, has clear and streamlined teacher resources, and is built around a series of instructional routines with aligned supports for ELs and struggling students.

This decision is tentative for right now because Illustrative Mathematics is still in their beta pilot for high school and will be releasing more details about their timeline for availability of materials, etc… We don't want to fully formalize our decision until all of the logistics in place, we hope to be able to do so within the next couple of months.

In January, we will share more plans for how teachers can begin to access the materials in order to pilot lessons or potentially units and begin to do some initial planning. We will also share a more detailed plan for the supports and professional development that will be available to support our roll-out of this curriculum.

The Math Team is excited about this opportunity to try something new in our classrooms and create a clear and coherent pathway for math learning at our schools from 6th grade to Algebra 2. We look forward to learning and doing lots of math together!

Please don't hesitate to reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist with any questions.

Hi Team,

In reviewing the concerns Dr. Lara had about [redacted] overall progress last semester I noticed he was placed in Comp instead of Lit Enrichment at the beginning of the year. We didn't have RI scores for him prior to August. Now that we know he needs additional supports, we want to place him in the correct class which would mean a schedule change. Please let us if this would be a good fit in your classes:

P. 3- Lit Enrichment (currently in Spanish)
P. 6- Spanish (would be coming from p. 3)

Thank you.

Good Evening Math Department Chairs and Administrators,

I hope you had a restful break and a positive first week back with your students. Happy new year!

I know that many of you are planning for Q2 Data Days that will happen in the next few days and weeks. We'd like to offer some additional tools to support your analysis of IAB Data.

The Accessing IAB Data presentation will guide you through the process of accessing data in the SBAC reporting system.
The GDCAP IAB Data Analysis Protocol will guide your department through IAB data analysis. It is similar to the previous GDCAP Data Analysis protocols but includes 3 options for analyzing IAB data (by item, by student, by key distractor).

Please don't hesitate to reach out to your Math Curriculum Specialist for help planning for or co-facilitating IAB data analysis at your site or for accessing data as needed.

Jessica - Kevin mentioned that he would send computer cart requests for the whole department regarding the IAB Test, but I wanted to double check with you. Which computer cart will I be using for these two days? I can get it after school tomorrow from whoever has it.

Sherrie - Will you be providing the student information cards & graph paper? If not, I can print tomorrow morning.

Hey guys.

I just spoke to Sherrie about whether or not we would want to cover up any math related items for the IAB to make it feel like an SBAC environment and we decided that it would not be necessary to do so.

However, we did decide that when we talk to the kids about it, that they should treat and take it seriously as if it were the actual test.

I told my students I would be inputting it as a grade.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out and ask.

Hi team,

I hope all is well. I am writing to you in regards to our upcoming IAB testing. As mentioned previously, all embedded designated supports and accommodations will be enabled for all students with IEPs. The one caveat is in regards to stacked translations.

We are only assigning stacked translations as an accommodation to ELs with IEPs. However, some ELs with IEPs don't read Spanish, so this could be confusing for them. If confusion occurs, please remember that for the IAB, teachers can add or remove accommodations/designated supports on the spot by clicking on the eye icon next to the student's name. This can be done either before approving the student's test (but after the student has logged in), or if the student has already started testing, once the teacher has PAUSED that student's test.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi admin team,

I hope you had a great weekend! This is just a friendly reminder to administer the IEP Compliance survey after every IEP meeting. If not already done so, I would recommend bookmarking the survey on your computer for easy access:
https://greendot.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_0AhRZ821Q6hFnwh

The survey is offered to parents after each IEP meeting. Just a reminder, these surveys are a part of SPED teacher's compliance evaluation, and cannot be administered by the SPED teacher. It should be administered by admin, admin designee, or office staff. Please feel free to share with your office staff if that is the way your site administers the survey.

Please see below for current survey count for your school site:

Teacher	Survey Count
Gauthiere	8
Koenes	7
Quintero	6
Leal	7

In order for the survey to count as part of the evaluation, SPED teachers need to have at least 6 surveys. Even, if you have already met the threshold, please continue to administer the survey at the end of each IEP meeting.

Want to view this data on your own and data about what parents' responses are?

Login to Tableau and type compliance into the search bar. You will find three reports pop up:
Survey Count→# of surveys administered per case carrier
SpEd Survey Report→Avg scores from survey for each of the 6 questions per case carrier. I highly recommend looking at this report so that you can provide coaching to teachers based on the data throughout the year.
IEP Compliance Rating→ You won't need this report now, but in the Spring I will be looking at this report to ensure all teachers have received a Compliance Score (more on this in second semester).

Let me know if you have any questions!

Subject: Student present levels

Hello Team,
As a friendly reminder from the SPED team, please ensure that all Teacher Input forms (PLOPs -> student present levels of performance) are returned to the Case Carrier (SPED Teacher) in the requested time. They need this mandatory information to be prepared for their IEP meetings. Also, your attendance at an IEP meeting is essential to the meeting taking place. Your input helps the student and parent gain a greater understanding of their performance and is a Federal requirement.

On behalf of the SpEd Team, we thank you for your continued diligence and support.

Hi Lilly

I hope you had a nice weekend. I am reaching out to you to ensure I have the correct caseload for you for S2 as I am working with an agency to get someone to write these IEPs. Am I missing any IEPs on this list? Also can you give me an update on the overdue IEP for DP?

Thank you!

Hi Sherrie and Julio,

[redacted] have periods 2, 3, and 7 together. A thought is to swap [redacted] into 2nd period English and into 3rd period college readiness. I feel comfortable making the recommendation to the IEP team to remove [redacted] from the cotaught classroom, but not [redacted]. I think we would just have to switch [redacted] 7th period elective? Hi There,

Can you and Amber edit the log entry on the prior statement and report for clarity? She notes the statement was made but not clear how Sofia ends up referring to Greego. Also, the dates are not included so the order of events is not clear. They may not be able to edit the log date, so maybe you'll need to help with that part or they can add it in the narrative. Greego needs to log that he saw the student if he did so.

Do you know if Greego conducted a threat assessment? If so, what was the outcome?

Hey Sherrie!

Two of my other schools are doing ILT retreats this month and I heard about them the day before. Is that something your school is planning? I wasn't sure if that was an ALT ask, or just a school site choice.

I'd love to attend if so and put it in my calendar! If not, one less thing to do! ☺

Hope your kiddos didn't freak out too much about the rain!

Hey Sharon!

I hope you had a great break! I was wondering if you'd be comfortable with me introducing Illustrative Math to Kevin so that he maybe can do one of the units in second semester. I think as department chair it would be cool for him to get the experience and it won't impact any of the SBAC students! The Geo/Alg 2 curriculum seems a bit tough to throw kids into second semester. I'd be more comfortable after the SBAC for Shazeen/Josh to try if they are interested.

Hi Jef,

I'm not feeling well today so I'm not coming in to work, but attached is the power point you can use with your 5th and 7th period. I left all their college trip assignments on the counter so you can return them. There are several stacks (5th period, 7th period, miscellaneous which may be ones of students who did not include their period or have been absent in periods from yesterday). I also left the two page hand out and the CR11 binder table of contents on the counter with the college readiness assignments.

Also, I have a 3pm call with Sly today where I will be mass creating Californiacolleges.edu account so that it's a lot easier and faster for them to register their accounts next week when you work with them on this. I will send you the students instructions for this so you can review with the students on Tuesday.

And since you and I were going to check in today about the Californiacolleges.edu career interest inventory you're leading next week, just want to make sure we're on same page about the purpose of the lesson is for students to identify the areas of career interests, but most importantly the possible majors associated with those careers which they will select when applying to college. So it'll be ideal to create an assignment for the students where they need to indicate which majors they are interested in applying to. They can use this assignment when the begin exploring the UC, CSU, and privates to determine if the colleges they're interested in offer those majors.

Thanks.

Subject:	Important information about the senior research paper
Date:	Tuesday, January 15, 2019 10:43:14 AM

Hi Everyone!

Important updates about the senior research paper! This e-mail is long, but please take a minute to read through all of the information.

Topics:

The research paper will be a cross-curricular project again this year! Students' topics will align with the topics they select for their Government Soap-Box project (they will be writing their paper and their speech on the same topic). Students will be required to research an issue affecting their community.

Timeline:

- Week of April 1st:
  - Students pick a topic/research question
  - Advisors are assigned
    - This is different than last year. Student's will not be selecting an advisor. Instead, the 12th grade teachers will be meeting to assign students an advisor.
- Week of April 22nd:
  - Research paper is introduced in English 12/AP Lit
- May 3rd:
  - Section 1 due
- May 10th:
  - Section 2 due
- May 17th:
  - Section 3 due
- May 24th:
  - Final Research Paper Due

Advisors:

Due to the smaller number of teachers available to advise this year, each teacher will carry a caseload of approximately 26 students. Students will be assigned to an advisor (as a reminder, although students do have choice in their topic, they will not have choice in their advisor). Our goal is to have every student assigned to an advisor by April 3rd.

- Stone
- Leal
- Makkar
- Montenegro
- Jaureguy

What do Advisors do?

Advisors are responsible for setting mandatory office hours for students not making deadlines, provide timely feedback, monitoring students' progress towards the deadlines, and grading the final research paper.

Where is the paper being written?

Research will be conducted in Government and Cultural Relations. English will focus on the composition and organization of the research paper.

Google Classroom and Turnitin:

Once you receive your research advisory group, you will create a Google Classroom and Turnitin class specifically for those students.

Importance:	High

Good afternoon,
I am writing with some important updates and some next steps for SOMs to work with their principals to take care of today. UTLA has received the legal ok to begin their strike on Monday, so we need to act swiftly to send some final communication to parents and staff. Please let me know if you have any questions.

School To Dos for today:
-We have gotten inside information that individuals participating in the UTLA strike may try to block school entrances and/or parking lots. We need all schools, not just co-located schools, to determine a location near the school for parents and staff to wait if entrances or parking lots are blocked. They should be instructed to wait their until someone lets them know the entrance is clear and safe to use.

-Once you have determined the location where parents and staff should wait, add the specific location to the blackboard script.

-Send the blackboard message today and Monday.

-Send an email to staff today letting them know where to wait if entrances are blocked. They will need this information for Monday in the event that you are holding your staff retreat at your site on Monday and picketers show up in front of your school Monday.

-Please consult with Kaleem (Steve is out sick today), or your OFM if you need help identifying a place for parents and staff to wait if entrances are blocked.

-Schools not within LAUSD boundaries (Ánimo Inglewood, Ánimo City of Champions, Ánimo Compton, & Ánimo Leadership) should send out the blackboard message, but you can eliminate the portion about entrances being blocked. It is highly unlikely that UTLA will show up in front of schools in another district, but we do want to remind them are schools are open.

-OFMs working with SOMs at co-located schools to have a 2-day supply of granola bars and water bottles at the school in the event that food vendors cannot get on campus.

Other follow-ups the home office team is working on:

-We are working with food vendors on other options, including delivering sack lunches prior to the start of the school day. Your OFM will keep you updated on this plan.

-We will share the location your school is identifying as the place for parents and students to wait if entrances are blocked so that they know where to go.

Your area superintendent will be reaching out to principals this afternoon to see if you have any questions or need any assistance. Thank you for your work in ensuring students, parents and staff are safe and students can come ready to learn next week. Have a good weekend!

Subject:	important update regarding LAUSD"s charter cap resolution
Date:	Thursday, January 24, 2019 12:33:55 PM
Importance:	High

Good afternoon,

As you all know by now, the LAUSD Board is planning to vote on a resolution next Tuesday that would ask Sacramento to place a cap on new charters within LAUSD. We are very concerned about this resolution because we believe it could have a ripple effect across the state and lead to other challenges (more difficult renewals, difficulty getting facilities projects approved through the city, etc.). We are working closely with the California Charter Schools Association and other charters to push back on this resolution. Elected officials are telling us they need to see charter supporters show up in force on Tuesday in order to have a chance at preventing this resolution from passing and to ensure the voices of the parents and students we serve are heard.

We need to get Green Dot parents to the Board meeting. Given the short turnaround, we will be working with a small handful of schools (schools with a Green Dot middle and high school feeder pattern) to turn out as many Green Dot families as possible. I will email the administrators at those schools directly, but I wanted to make sure all of you knew how important Tuesday is to us as an organization and to the children and families we serve. This is a watershed moment for the charter movement in CA and across the country. Thanks for your continued support. Please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Hello School Leaders and Ed Team Members,

Please forgive the Saturday Winter Vacation email, but given recent UTLA developments involving a Thursday, January 10th strike and their call for a moratorium on charter expansion, the ALT and I have decided to change the date of our January Principal 95/5 to Wednesday, January the 9th. We recognize that this is less than ideal for many, but given the uncertainty surrounding the UTLA strike we decided it would be better to meet before than push the Principal 95/5 to the 17th and the AP 95/5 to the 24th. We want to make sure all principals and Ed Team members are available to support schools on the 10th. I will be updating the meeting maker for the Principal 95/5 shortly.

It is our hope that the AP/AIR 95/5 on the 17th will continue as planned but we will have to assess the situation in the days leading up to the 17th.

We have an important agenda in January and we need all school leaders to be present. We recognize that a number of schools have PD on Wednesday the 9th but we hope APs can take the lead if this is the case. School leaders need to review strike resources and expectations with their staffs prior to the 10th. Please emphasize that all staff and faculty are expected to be at work during the UTLA strike and that sympathy striking is prohibited by our collective bargaining agreement.

The agenda for the January 95/5 is as follows:

Community Breakfast	8:00 - 8:30
Opening and Fun	8:30 - 8:45
Learning for Equity - CRT	8:45 - 9:45
Break	9:45- 10:00

Dear School Leaders and Area Superintendents,

Happy 2019. As we start the new calendar year, it is time to reflect on our professional goals, our areas of strength and our areas of growth as a school leader. Interim Reflection Conferences (IRCs) are an integral component of our School Leader Evaluation process and the IRC serves as an opportunity to formally check-in on Individual Sustainability and Professional Goals created at the beginning of the year, discuss current strengths and growth areas, and align on appropriate next steps.

SLE Interim Reflection Conferences must be held and closed in EdReflect no later than Friday, February 8th. You have a meeting maker already to remind you.

I have attached a soft copy of the IRC template as well as the evaluator and evaluatee instructions for those of you who need a reminder or are new to the process. You can always reach out to your area superintendent or Julia Fisher should you have questions or need support.

Evaluatees will complete their IRC and upload the document at least 48 hours before their Conference is to be held. Evaluators will need to review the uploaded IRC and answer the three questions in EdReflect before closing the IRC on or before February 8th.

For the few school leaders who still have not completed your Professional Goals (see attached template) you will be asked to complete both your Goal Conference and IRC prior to February 8th. This is a non-negotiable component of your evaluation and it MUST be completed no later than the 8th.

Today, at the beginning of period 7 (who is not in my class this period), [redacted] opened my classroom door and with his head inside my classroom said "I need to talk to you." I told [redacted] I was not able to talk to him because my students were presenting. [redacted] got upset and yelled, "Navarro chinga verga." I asked student to leave my classroom for disrupting my classroom and because he personally harassed me. He then closed the door and pushed it with his foot. I immediately called an administrator informing what happened so that a conversation takes place.

This is another incident of sexual harassment. I am very upset about the continued sexual harassment by this student. Based on previous interactions, I feel increasingly threatened by this student as his behaviors are erratic. An intervention needs to occur but I am not comfortable meeting with the student. Please let me know how this situation will be handled. I am not comfortable with having this student in my class without proper admin follow up. Also, I am concerned when he is not in my classroom as this incident and previous have occurred outside of his class time. Please let me know when this conversation/meeting takes place.

Subject:	Inquiring about SAT registrations
Date:	Monday, January 28, 2019 1:02:57 PM

Hi everyone,

I wanted to inquire abut best practices for students registering for the SAT this spring. I am aware that many are already signed up for one test in March, and I believe that last year we signed up many of our students for the SAT again in May or June. Some of my students, especially those in Calculus, expressed regret that they had already used both of their fee waivers in the spring, before they felt they had the summer and fall to practice.

I wanted to see if we could have a conversation about students who intend to use the summer to study/practice with the intention of taking the test again in the Fall. If that is their intention, are we able to hold their fee waivers until then?

Thanks,

Dear Dotter,

Green Dot Public Schools is committed to periodically reviewing the Green Dot Public Schools 401(k) Plan ("the Plan") to make sure it continues to help you meet your retirement and financial goals. Among the things considered are the range of investment options available through the Plan, investment option performance and value, and whether the Plan gives you access to services that complement your account.

As a result of a recent review, Green Dot Public Schools has decided to make changes to the Plan's investment lineup as detailed in the attached document. The change will be effective as of February 1, 2019 and will take place without any action required on your part; however, you will have the opportunity to make changes to your individual investment elections. Go to the "What Do I Need to Do?" section to learn more.

Dear English Teachers and School Administrators,

As you know, the Green Dot Literacy program aims to empower all students with the critical reading, writing, and communication skills they need to positively shape their own lives and impact the broader world. The 2018-2019 Animo Voices Writing Competition invites students to write about something that matters to them and persuade their audience to care or take action. This competition is an opportunity to motivate, recognize, and celebrate our strong student voices and writing skills with exciting prizes, publication, and scholarships. Both student winners and the teachers that have supported their writing will receive prizes. Every school site was given the opportunity to select their top two student entries for the first round of prizes.

I'd like invite you to serve on our Animo Voices Writing Competition judges panel. This panel will convene on Monday, February 4 from 3:30-5:30 to read the top school entries and select the winners for the first, second and third place prizes organization-wide. As writing teachers and school leaders working closely with students every day, you will bring an invaluable perspective to this work.

Please respond to this email by Friday, January 25 if you are interested in serving as a judge!

Here you go Sherrie! There are 107 students enrolled in math support and 10 who have not completed the assessment. 91% completion. This report gets updated every 24 hours.

Tableau > Internal Math – CA > iReady Completion. Then filtered to 9th grade, and then Yes for intervention. Which led me to this data.

Good morning team,

As we begin administering the iReady test this round please spend some extra time explaining to the students that their scores on the iReady test will be used to determine their placement for next year and years to come. Explain that the iReady test is going to be a big factor in AP placement moving forward. We don't want any prospective AP students upset if they don't get placement due to low test scores.

Thank you and Welcome back!!! ☺

Subject:	i-Ready Mid-Year Testing Window
Date:	Thursday, December 13, 2018 1:13:10 PM
Attachments:	image001.png

Good Afternoon Math Department Chairs and Administrators Supporting Math,

While students in Math Foundations and Math Support take the i-Ready Diagnostic 4 times each year, we only have had our other math students complete the i-Ready Diagnostic at the beginning and the end of the year to measure growth. This year, we've added an optional mid-year testing window for students not in intervention to complete the i-Ready Diagnostic. Ultimately, it is up to each school to decide whether a mid-year data point on the i-Ready Diagnostic is meaningful for their school site in addition to the yearlong growth data. (Many schools already did this last year, but we wanted to standardize the window to allow for better comparison data.)

The mid-year i-Ready Diagnostic Window for non-Math Foundations/Support students is January 7 - February 1. The data from this assessment could be used for the following purposes:

- indicator of student growth or progress during the year so far
    - analyze data by teacher, class, or student
- planning for targeted SBAC interventions
- updated data for planning grade-level appropriate scaffolds or IEPs
- early placement data for master scheduling

You should probably determine as an admin/GDILT/math department team whether you will be testing during this midyear window soon in order to allow time for communication and planning to test upon your return in January.

Middle School: Students would likely either test through 21st Century Learning Lab: Community Problem-Solving (Technology) or PE based on where you place your students who not in Math Foundations. We don't recommend testing in Core Math Classes during this window because most students will have recently tested in Window #2 and will test again in Window #3 for Math Foundations and this would take time away from core grade-level content. (We strongly recommend testing students in PLTW. This is our first year with these courses and it will helpful to have some comparison today about how they're growing compared to students in Math Foundations). If you're testing in these other classes, this might require coordination with PE, Technology, or Science teachers – so please plan accordingly.

High School: Students would not need to test in Algebra 1. Those students would already have tested recently and will test again soon in Math Support or they could test in Geometry. We've built a couple days for midyear i-Ready testing into the pacing guides for Geometry, Algebra 2, and other upper level math courses. It may not be as helpful for you to test 12th graders at this point since they will not take the SBAC and don't need placement data for next year, but you can decide as a school site if it's still useful updated instructional data.

To support planning for this assessment, please review testing tips from the initial newsletter on i-Ready Diagnostic Testing.

Don't hesitate to reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist for any planning support.

Good Afternoon Administrators,

Our i-Ready Window #2 for students in Math Foundations and Math Support officially ended on Friday, November 16 but we extended it another week until last Friday, November 30 to allow for any additional testing time or makeups etc. Overall, we had 93% of the students in Math Foundations and Math Support complete Diagnostic #2 within the window!

I'm attaching an i-Ready Window #2 Summary for this year to allow you to see some overall and comparison data.

I'd also like you to share with you an awesome new report in Tableau – Internal Math - CA – that KM created with some updated ways to view your i-Ready proficiency and growth data.

Hi Sherry,

I went to tableau in search of my students' Lexile scores (they took the test right before the end of Semester 1), but I'm having trouble finding them. No matter what I do, nothing is populating. I can't access any scores by student, by class, by period etc.

Is it possible I'm doing anything wrong? In the section that reads, "Choose School," I click on "Venice," but nothing is appearing. Do you have access to the scores? Would it be possible to send me the data for my 4th period?

Thank you!

Good Morning Admin,

As we met to discuss possible SST candidates, we discussed [redacted] progress this year. As you can see, he has the lowest GPA among the entire 9th grade. We are asking for your support with this student.

Can you please hold a parent meeting with the student and the parent to see what is going on with? I met with the parent in September of last year as an early, intervention meeting, but it was very unsuccessful. Mom and dad were present, but it seemed that mom was the only one concerned with the meeting. Dad was not engaged, he would not look at me, and did not seem very interested in anything I had to say.

Can you please meet with parents to discuss the following:

No improvement, no parental support, parent meeting took place, no improvement.

We can move him to 6th period Spanish (which might be a good switch since Torres' 3rd sounds rough) and give him Lit Enrichment 3rd.

Also, I am more than happy to be part of the parent meeting for him if you want to schedule one. I think it would be good to, especially once we have some info from Greego and to follow up on the mental health piece. Because we can get him linked her if it's not working out with Venice Family Clinic.

Hi, all,

I suspected [redacted] of cheating yesterday on his vocab final. I approached him yesterday (unlike the other students I have emailed about) and told him that he would be retested today. He was unhappy about this, but did not admit to cheating. I called him in today and he told me that he wants good grades so that he can play soccer next semester and record video footage of himself playing for recruiters.

He retook the test and received a 23/40 instead of his original score of 39/40. I am going to put in the most recent score for his grade on that assessment. Since I believe he cheated but do not have proof (and he will not admit it), I will not call home unless admin directs me to. I am letting you all know because I believe that the pressure to increase grades in order to be able to play is leading him to taking some shortcuts. Please be aware as he takes your finals.

Best,
Sara

Dotters,

With the likelihood of a UTLA strike beginning next week, our management team, in collaboration with our administrators, has developed clear plans to ensure the safety of students and adults on our campuses. If you have questions, please speak with your principal about your school's individualized plan.

Our organization continues to believe in the power of collaboration with our unions, and we respect UTLA's right to advocate for what their teachers need to best support their students. As a pending strike in Los Angeles has unquestionably engaged more people in dialogue about how to best resource our schools and teachers to serve our children, we value the opportunity to be part of that conversation. We also agree that the State of California needs to invest more in education so that traditional public schools and charter public schools can flourish and serve students well.

We also believe in the power of high-quality options for students in our most vulnerable communities, and we remain dedicated to continuing our work on behalf of the students and families we serve. We believe there is a place in the public education system for charter public schools and traditional public schools, and we believe both can work side-by-side to improve outcomes for students.

The demand for Green Dot schools and the quality education YOU provide remains strong across Los Angeles. Our student recruitment for the 2019-2020 school year has started, and we already have 4,017 interest forms for the 3,481 spots available next year in grades 6, 7 and 9. This is a 3% increase from last year, and this number will continue to grow from now until August. Parents believe in the power of a Green Dot education and Green Dot educators, and they continue to trust us with their children day in and day out. Thank you all for your continued hard work, your dedication, and your unwavering commitment to our students.

As always, do not hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns.

In most cases, my first line of defense is the advisor but since I am also his advisor I am reaching out to you for support with [redacted]. Although we have had many good conversations that feel like we are making progress in terms of him moving in the right direction, it is not transferring to his effort/willingness to follow expectations in advisory and now English credit recovery.

Today he showed up 40 minutes late. When I reviewed the expectations for evidenced gathering he announced to the class "that's too much. This is just English 9." This is his second full class period turning in work that is significantly below the 9^{th}/10^{th} grade standards.

For the 25 minutes of writing, he was on his phone in spite multiple attempts to get him on track

When I went to collect work he stated that he was just going to do during advisory. In explaining this is not an option and reviewing the policy for late work he began complaining how he is dependent on his mom and he can't get to school on time/before school.
In attempts to support him, I reviewed what I needed for him on the post evidence activities. He announced "this isn't for me" At that point, he reviewed his other options about night school. Other students told him that this was a better option than night school but he continued to complain about how he wasn't able to meet the expectations (which are already modified)

I am requesting admin support with his phone. It is getting in the way of his learning (he is constantly playing video games) in addition to disrupting class as he often is showing students what he is doing/refuses to put away/give when following protocol

Hi team,

On Monday, 12/3, [redacted] Aunt died after a battle with cancer. As the semester comes to an end, I'm asking that we be a little more flexible with him as he goes through the grieving processes. In supporting him, I have a couple of questions/recommendations for you all:

1. If [redacted] is in your class and seems distracted and/or is staring off, please discretely (e.g., post it) offer to talk outside to see what he needs. He might just need some words of encouragement or a quick break to catch his breath/drink some water.
2. At times, [redacted] might need to meet with me for extended periods of time. If [redacted] needs to miss your class, is there a way for him to receive the assignments to work on in a different location?

If there are any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out! Thank you all for your support and flexibility!

Sincerely,

Hi Sherry,

I had to send them out because they were being too disruptive. I saw [redacted] pushing/playing with another student and I told them both to stop. Then I saw [redacted] lunging toward him while the two were supposed to be reading.

I didn't just send them out because of this incident, but it was a build-up of other things. [redacted] had taken my clicker and had been pointing it at people. He also just dropped my paper tissue box on the floor in the middle of the room. [redacted] was yelling things to [redacted] across the room.

Their behavior has been particularly bad today, but it's been a consistent issue in my 2nd period.

Thanks,
Ms. Pina

Hi All,

Unfortunately, I was still thinking that we would have advisory in the afternoon on Friday- and that is why I suggested that the winning advisory would get pizza then. However, since it is in the morning, we will have the 3 doors judged and the pizza party will take place when we return from break. .

The good news- since only 3 of you participated, you have a 1/3 chance of winning.

OR

Another option could be, that we get all 3 advisories cupcakes for participating.
Please let me know how you feel about the 2 options.

Thanks,
Sarah

Date: Monday, December 17, 2018 1:12:16 PM

Hello all,

After taking the RI test, [redacted] was very upset that her score did not go up by very much (she grew by 2 points, landing at a 986). She began cursing and yelling and asked to take a walk, which I allowed her to do. However, when she came back, she was ranting to her friend [redacted] and said "One day I'm going to blow this fucking school up." [redacted] said that she shouldn't talk like that, and [redacted] responded by saying that she's going to "act a fool in this class" from now on and that she hates it in here.

I wanted to bring attention to the threatening language because I felt obligated to report that. [redacted] also seems to be under the impression that people can move into Composition in Semester 2, which I have explained to her is not really the case. I want to make Read 180 work for her, but her stance towards the class has soured as of late and will probably continue to do so. These may be areas in which we can support [redacted] either before the break or when she comes back.

Thanks as always for your support,
Franz

[redacted] walked into my class saying "I hate this school, y'all n*ggas get on my nerves." She then walked to her seat, took her backpack and swung it backwards, hitting a computer screen very hard and knocking it backwards. She got upset that I was emailing the office, saying that she was about to walk to the office herself, but she's back now. Can someone come pull her or talk to her? She's already distracting my class and no one is listening to me anymore. Thanks in advance!

Hi Chief.

I was just looking over the groups that Ashley has established for the mentors and she is still working off of rosters from August. Can we send her the most updated rosters for the spring semester since there have been several changes & she needs to know who is where? I tried to figure out how, but I guess I either don't have that authority or I'm just too unfamiliar with some of the finer points of Power School.
Thanks
J

Hey Sherrie!

Julio sent us the MM for the Lausd oversight visit on 1/10. Is there specific support you'd like that day? Or was it more of an FYI?

Thanks,

Dotters,

On Tuesday, the LAUSD Board will be voting on one of the most important charter-related items that has come before them in years. The resolution (attached here) has changed over the last few days and is potentially more harmful than the original version. If passed, it would lead to a moratorium on new charters within LAUSD. This vote may limit families from having the same opportunities that Green Dot families do. Charter schools like ours provide choice to families who have been systemically denied access to high-quality educational options. This resolution also sets a dangerous precedent and could encourage other actions that would hurt existing charter schools in Los Angeles and statewide.

Green Dot California's Board Chair, Kevin Reed, and I wrote an op-ed that outlines our stance on a moratorium on new charters. Please take a few minutes to read it so that you understand why this vote is so important to Green Dot. I understand that this is a complex issue, and we all may not agree on every point. I am hoping we can all acknowledge that Green Dot is doing good work on behalf of the students we serve, and without our schools, many of our students would not have access to high-quality schools in their neighborhoods. We are part of the solution, not part of the problem.

I am reaching out to ask you to join me in contacting LAUSD Board members tomorrow to ask them to vote NO on this resolution.

As I am sure you are all aware by now, [redacted] was induced today (no baby yet as far as I know). The grade level team had all agreed that we wouldn't hold her accountable for finals since she has already proven herself throughout the semester.

The team needs clarification. Can one of the admin or Carol email her teachers and tell us how to best go about this? Will her grades be locked as of yesterday (her last day) or should we exempt her from the assignments we have the next couple of weeks? The team was fine either way, we just need clarification as to what is the "correct" way.

Thank you!

Date: Wednesday, December 12, 2018 2:45:41 PM

Mr. Liebster,
Thank you for bringing [redacted] to our attention today. I wanted to let you know that I am editing the log entry to contain pertinent information and protect student identity.

We can check in about it if you have any questions. When log entries are made, it's important to stick to the specific details of the action happening. The referral that you submitted explained the situation well. But, all of the information is not appropriate for a log entry.

Here is you initial log entry,
"A few weeks ago, [redacted] told Ms. Koenes that students have been bullying him. He described the action as other students walking up to him and slapping his upper back as if to give him a hearty greeting. However, [redacted] said that he does not enjoy this and that he wants them to stop. Apparently these students have continued doing so and hide the action from teachers. During lunch on 12/12, I was getting water by the upstairs bathrooms. [redacted] was standing there. I then saw [redacted] walk by me, give [redacted] a hearty slap on the shoulder without saying anything to him, and quickly walk down the stairs. It took me a second to realize what happened, and I looked at [redacted] to see how he had reacted. He was smiling/laughing, but it did not seem to be out of amusement. It seemed that he was trying to diffuse the situation, and he turned and disappeared in the bathroom. A referral has been submitted for [redacted], and he checked in with Mr. Stern."

Here is how it looks now,
"During lunch on 12/12, I witnessed David approach student #68428 and slap him on the back. I said nothing to the student and then continued, walking quickly down the stairs. Being aware of past concerns regarding this student, I submitted a referral to administration."

Happy New Year everyone!

Green Dot would like to thank our current and former Adelante cohort members for their incredible dedication to serving Green Dot students.

The Adelante program was developed to become a model for preparation of the next generation of teacher leaders.
This year's cohort is made up of 11 talented and service-oriented individuals who were selected among a pool of 180 applicants. After a rigorous selection process, they were ultimately chosen because they exemplified our Core Values, Leading Green Principles, and demonstrated a deep commitment to serving all students.

Click here to meet the 2018 cohort. There may be a teacher that you didn't know came from the Adelante program!

Do you know someone who enjoys leading, creating, organizing and serving others?
We are now looking ahead and accepting applications for the 2019 Adelante cohort. Please fill out the referral form and/or connect them to the Human Capital team. Adelante fellows work as full-time teachers at Green Dot California schools while completing graduate coursework from Loyola Marymount University. The Adelante coursework is largely driven by Green Dot experts and centers on training fellows to become culturally responsive and effective educators. The fellows progress through their learning experience together, immersed in an intensive year-long training and course of study.

I wanted to give you a heads up that Ms. Quintero won't be returning after Winter Break. We are actively looking for a replacement. But will likely end up with Long Terms for the semester. Please do not mention this to anybody. As far as I now only the SpEd team knows. Also, she is waiting to tell her students until the last day before Winter break so that they aren't effected during Finals.

Damon,
I spoke with HC about the 20 day permit for a SPED Long Term Sub and asked if they was just for those days teaching Academic Success. They gave me the impression that the days not teaching the class wouldn't count towards the 20 days. The idea is that the sub would be providing other services outside of the classroom during those days and if we calculated the time only counting the AS days towards the 20, then we would be able to stretch the person out for 6 weeks because they'd only be teaching AS 3 days a week.

Glynis and I spoke about it today and she asked that I loop you into the conversation so that we all have clarity on it. I hate to think of our kids going through a different sub each month.

Subject:	lunch coverage during the strike
Date:	Friday, January 11, 2019 3:40:30 PM

Good afternoon,
During the strike, there are two situations (depending on your school's layout and available indoor space) in which teachers may have to hold students in their classrooms during lunch: a lockdown situation or a rainy day situation. We made the following agreements with AMU leadership in the event that teachers lose their duty-free lunch because they have to hold students in their classrooms:

-If it happens on only ONE day during the strike, no further action is required.

-If it happens on MORE THAN ONE day during the strike, site reps and admin should work together to find a way to give teachers the time back for the lunches beyond the first day of coverage. (ex: If they have to hold students for 2 days during lunch, you only need to give them back the time for the second day.) You could agree to give them planning time during PD to make up for the time. You could agree to revise your bell schedule to allow for a longer lunch on a day after the strike ends. It's up to you and your site reps to decide once the strike has ended.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

I'm meeting with Tina about one of our 10th grade students with special needs [redacted]. Hi all,

Madison is out sick and will not be able to complete lesson 3 until next Wed (due to the pep rally Fri). We have a buffer day scheduled for 2/8. This will allow her to complete all of the lessons in module 0 just in time and get caught up by the time we start module 1.

Can someone please step into her advisory and inform her students that they will complete the lesson upon her return?

We are thinking her students can complete semester 1 grade reflections for tomorrow. I can print out the reflection template.

- Online application streamlined the process
- Send the survey out to teachers before it goes to students (for second eyes review)
- Double-rostering issue.
- Need to figure out dates that everything is happening and communicate it all to all stakeholders (how are they being notified)

Calendar out discussions with each department.

Reflection on 2016-17 Master Scheduling and AP process

- (RI and Quantile/I-Ready scores)
- Possible loss of Trigonometry (replaced by either Statistics or Pre-Calculus). Check to see if Stats has Alg 2 as a prerequisite b/c of EAP requirements for students to who are conditionally qualified.
- Are there any courses that we don't want to appear on the matrix for next year 19-20?

Just wanted to put this on your radar-

On Feb 6, Lesson 6 requires each advisory to have spaghetti and large marshmallows for a team building activity.

This is 1.5 weeks away and I just wanted to make sure we give you ample time to help us gather the materials.

Thanks for all your support

Hey Sherrie!

Cybele and I had a little one on one with each other talking about SBAC plans and we're wondering when we're going to get the suggested course offerings for next year.

We were thinking of offering Stats and/or AP Stats and so we would need to start looking for dates for AP Stats training for me during the Spring.

Follow up, would the AP training cost come out of a separate budget; most of ours is spent.

Best,

Greetings all,

I hope you have had a most marvelous Winter break with friends and family. I am excited to be back on campus tomorrow and continue the transition of my Chemistry classes to Ms. Lee.

Looking ahead, Mr Stern you had briefly spoken to me about a Math/Geometry support role that I could possibly transition to - I was of course eager to fill it but was only hesitant if it were not full time or equivalent pay... I have just checked the DirectEd open positions and came across which looks to be this exact position that is indeed full time and has equal pay.

I would be ready and excited to make this transition if it is still available!!

Please let me know if we can do at your earliest. Thank you.

Always best,

Hello Team:

Not sure if this is something being communicated to students but I had a few 9th graders come to me this morning asking if they can be switched from Math Support to Geo next semester because they scores "on grade level" on their last RI score. I explained that we don't make those kind of switches throughout the year and once students are placed in MS at beginning of year, they will stay there to get that support all year.

Just want to make sure we're on same page with that.

Hi, Wendy,

Since we're still on break the week before, the best days would probably be Monday the 7th or Tuesday the 8th, preferably in the afternoon, like 1 or 2.

Also, there is a good chance that LAUSD teachers will go on strike around this time, so I'm not sure how that will affect the audit.

Arlene, do you have any information on what this audit will entail? I have been given absolutely no information except that the audit is scheduled for the 10th and that it is a "Segregation of Duties" audit, with which I am unfamiliar.

While most TEP programs provide you with their guidelines for effective mentoring, we wanted to give you a few suggestions that might make the student teacher's experience at Green Dot even more memorable. Because student teachers can be a key recruitment pipeline for your school site (and others), we want them to see and experience many of the things that set us apart from other districts/CMOs. We want their experience with us to put Green Dot at the top of their "where I'd like to teach" list.

Before Your Student Teacher Arrives	Your Student Teacher's First Day	Throughout Your Student Teacher's Placement
We know that placements are sometimes only confirmed a day or so in advance of their arrival on your campus, so some or all of the below, may or may not be feasible ahead of time. If a visit prior to the start date is not feasible, try to accomplish some/all of these suggestions within the first few days of their placement. ➢ Call your student teacher a few days/a week prior to their start date to welcome them to your school and see	If your student teacher was not able to visit the campus prior to their start date, arrange for them to meet you there earlier than normal, so you can show them around, introduce them to some of the other teachers (especially the ones with classrooms closest to yours), the office staff, and your administrative team. ➢ Eat lunch with your student teacher in the teacher's lounge, and use this time to go over any questions they may already have, and/or have them get to know some of your colleagues. (You should probably do this for the first week or so, and at least sporadically throughout the placement.)	As you spend time with your student teacher, if you begin to see this person as a potential fit for Green Dot (at your school if there is an opening, OR at another of our campuses), please encourage your Principal and/or Assistant Principal(s) to come observe him/her, and have the three of you debrief together. Having an administrator(s) show an early interest may help convert a student teacher to a new hire more quickly. (Also, please notify Lisa Nichols in Human Capital, so we can help to convert this student teacher into a hire ☺) ➢ Provide your student if they have any questions. Make sure they understand how to get to you, where to park, and any other pertinent information they might need on their first day.

    - If possible, have them visit the campus a day or so in advance, meet you, take a tour, etc.
- Try to arrange a desk (in a pinch, even a student desk will suffice) where they can sit, and a place where they can store their belongings/organize work.
- Let your students (and their parents) know that you will be hosting a student teacher for "x" amount of time, and what exactly that will entail. Remind your students that the student teacher is a teacher like any other, and should be accorded the same level of respect and consideration as any other teacher.
- Arrange for your student teacher to spend some time with your administrator during their first week or so, so they can get to know each other, too. A short coffee

- As with your students, discuss your expectations of the student teacher with him/her, and ask about their expectations of you.
- Talk to them about why they want to teach and what kind of teacher they want to be. How do they envision students describing them when they have their own classroom?

teacher with several opportunities to observe and debrief with other teachers at your site – let them experience teaching styles different from your own, and see for themselves that many of the practices they observe/learn in your classroom are used across the board at your school.

- The more you can work with them on (and allow them to implement) classroom management, the better prepared they will be for their own classroom – regardless of where they choose to teach upon earning their credential.
- Arrange some time for your student teacher to meet with a Curriculum Specialist (preferably one in their content area) to better understand some of the new teacher supports provided at Green Dot. Ideally, have them sit in on an actual coaching session with a new teacher at your site (with that teacher's and the CS's approval, of course).
- While they will be required (per their TEP) to attend all collaboration and professional development with you, be sure to have them actively participate – especially in collaboration activities. We want to student teachers to see what "working together" is really like here at Green Dot.
- Share your reasons for coming to work at Green Dot – and most importantly, why you have stayed. Let them know what your goals are as a date would be great! ➢ Pull together all materials that your student teacher might need (copies of school calendar, bell schedule, campus map, student handbook, teacher handbook, etc.) If you can send this information to your student teacher ahead of their start date (or have it for them at the above-mentioned tour), all the better.		teacher – be it to remain in the classroom in a leadership position, or to move into administration. Again, it is a chance for them to understand what growth looks like at Green Dot. ➢ Get to know your student teacher, what makes him/her tick, likes/dislikes, how they learn best, etc. Put into practice with your student teacher, some of the same strategies you use with your students – strategies to build relationships, engage and teach. A strong and successful relationship with you will go far in converting a student teacher into a Green Dot teacher!

The Human Capital department will also be observing your student teacher, and asking you for written feedback – maybe more than once, depending on the length of placement. Please be timely in your response, as well as completely honest – providing as many specifics as possible. This will allow us to better gauge if the student teacher is a potential hire, especially if your school site does not have an appropriate opening and we want to present him/her elsewhere.

And finally, if you have concerns about a student teacher's performance, please document specifics and discuss with him/her as soon as possible - work directly with your student teacher on strategies to overcome issues. You are also welcome to address these issues with the TEP Field Supervisor, and, if you feel the situation warrants, please reach out to Lisa Nichols (Lisa.Nichols@greendot.org) with Human Capital (and notify your Principal that you are doing so). While we hope that most concerns can be addressed directly with the student teacher, we are here for you if you need us.

Again, thank you for taking on this role, and please know that the Human Capital team is truly appreciative. We are here to help and/or answer any questions you might have – so don't hesitate to ask!

the following 3 incidents from period 7 today reflect [redacted] gross insubordination:

Torn jeans — wearing all day saying he knows he's not allowed but other people do.

Cell phone — asks to charge twice. Teacher reviews school policy. Student announces to class he is going to charge anyways. In attempting to have [redacted] reflect on this later on, he stated "I TOLD YOU I WAS GOING TO CHARGE IT ANYWAY"

Eating in class — Despite asking entire class to put food away at start of class and reviewing expectation earlier in the week, [redacted] continued to eat throughout class creating minor disruptions. This became a major disruption when he spilled the chips all over the floor. As other students (his friends) were commenting on his actions he called another student "a BITCH" and then muttered that the other student called him a curse word.
If you can please follow up with his continued gross insubordination which is taken to the next level as he opening shares he does not have to follow rules and is going to do what he wants regardless of the expectation/rule.

I am currently working on submitting mid-year reports for private school applicants (41 students) and need to work on parchment transcripts as well (that's essentially all seniors). Just wanted to let you know that I am closing my office door today so I can complete these tasks, if there's an emergency with a student I am still available just reach out.

Hey Sharon—

Been thinking a lot about the possibility of weaving these two systems together and really trying to build out something for our school to try. If you wanted to collaborate on this- HARD- for the next 2-3 weeks- like almost every day until we get it fleshed out, I am totally willing. I have a lot of ideas that I keep thinking of, which of course have a lot of pitfalls and things that might not be possible.

But we could at least present something to culture team and then run it through them first and have them add to and improve it, then bring to ALT or ILT and then all staff if it keeps passing everybody's stress tests.

If we really don't have any other answers or any better ideas then I would be really willing to create something and just try. Let me know ☺

Hey there,

Happy Wednesday! I hope that you are having a great week!

Because of the LAUSD/UTLA strike, we had to move our ILT meeting, which shifted a bunch of my team's meetings. This is all to say that I am supposed to be in a meeting with the ELA team from 9-3 on Monday, so I do not think I can attend SBAC day now :/

However, I can 100% plan anything and/or talk anything through with you and/or Amber. Let me know when you can!

All my best,
Steph

Hi there.

I have been reminded that this Monday, I'll be on campus but sequestered away with Mrs. Cervantes planning out the College Readiness 11 spring semester. I will be available to teach until 9 am since Mrs. Cervantes has a meeting until then but I've been asked to request a sub for the whole day. Ms. G would be my first choice if possible.

Thanks!
Stay warm & dry.

Boss,
It just came to me that Mr. Moreno gave out an assignment for AP Spanish on Saturday Oct 27 that he entered in the gradebook as Monday Oct 29th when it was due. Students were apparently not notified about the assignment and he assigned a zero to anyone who didn't complete it.

I'll check in with a couple of students to confirm. But, do you want to check with him on it? Or would you like me to?

Hi Pirates,

Over the last year I have been working to get the Kurzweil program integrated into the curriculum here with the 10th graders. There have been so many problems with the program and the interface is difficult for both students and teachers to navigate and use. In my search for a similar program, MyOn offers a variety of other features that may be valuable to you. [redacted] even shared with me how much she enjoyed using the program in her last school. I have attached the brochure for this program. Has anyone had experience with this program and/or have opinions?

NerdNotes 18-19: Vol. 17

Welcome back to this week's edition of NerdNotes! This week we'll cover:

Topic #1: We share some tips about this week's Active Directory password change.

Topic #2: Learn how to avoid typos in Microsoft Word.

Topic #3: We provide a link to provide feedback for NerdFone.

-The NerdFone Team

Active Directory Password

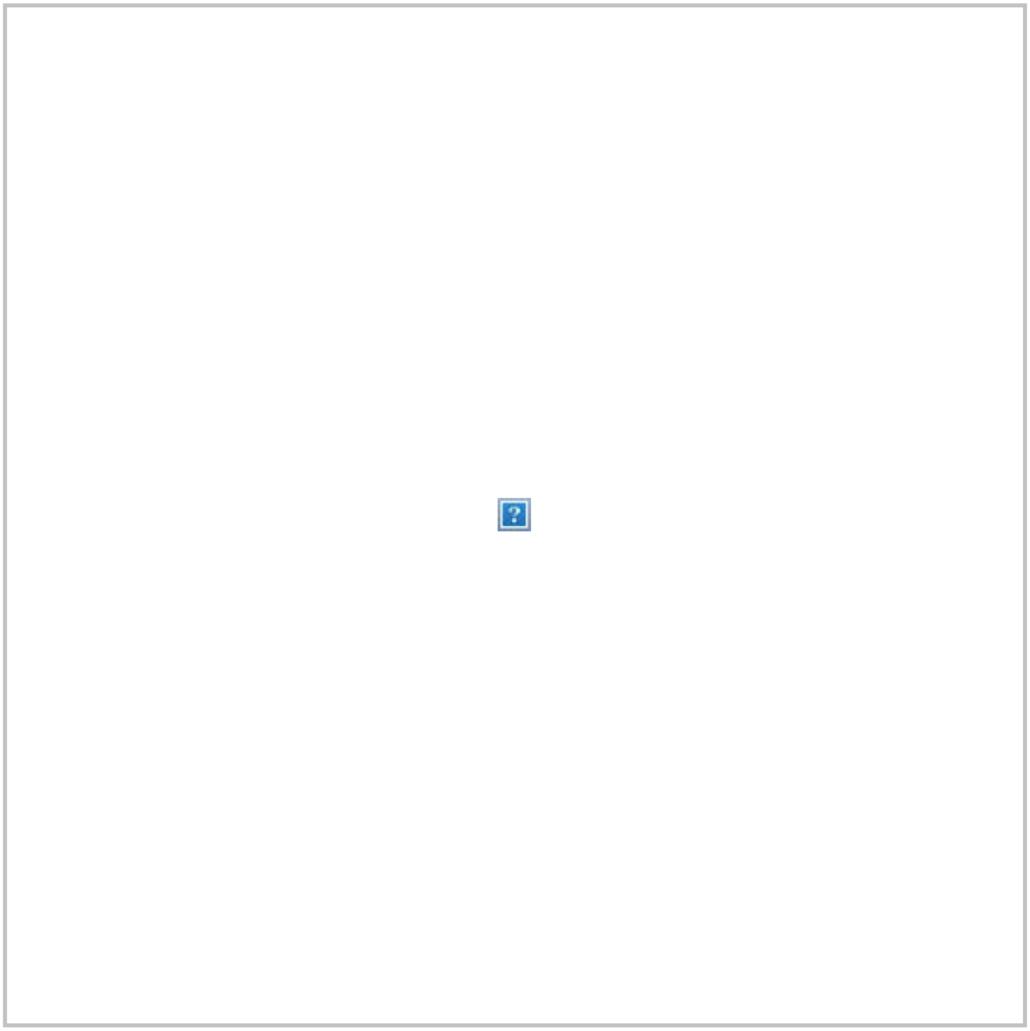
You will be asked to reset your Active Directory password this week. Your Active Directory password connects, and is used to log into your Green Dot issued computer, your Green Dot email (Outlook), and your Tableau account. Prompting staff to reset their password on a regular basis helps to keep the information of our students and staff safe!

Please find your location in the chart below for the date of the password reset. IT will trigger the start of the process at 10:30am PT. You will not be disrupted in your work at that time but the next time you log off or restart your computer, you will be prompted to change your password. If you are on a Green Dot-issued PC, you can initiate the process yourself by selecting Ctrl+Alt+Delete and choosing "change a password" or simply restarting your computer.



If you have other questions, you can reach out to NerdFone or your school's Desktop Administrator who will be on site during your school's scheduled date.

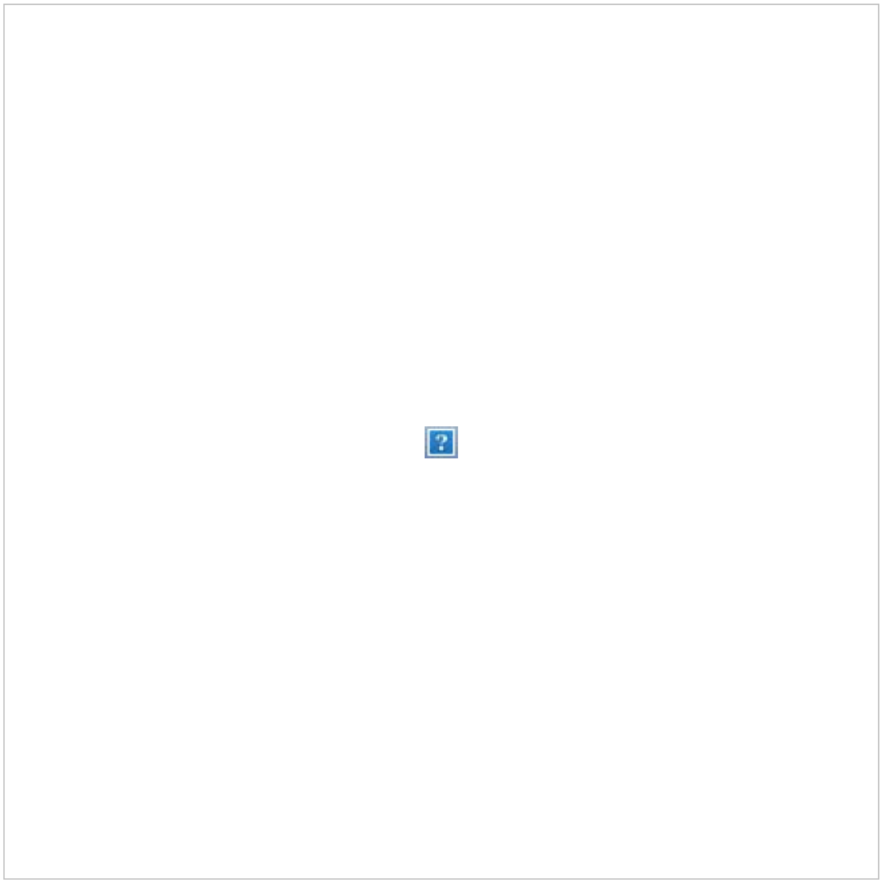
Microsoft Word Tip: Correct Typos

Do you want to reduce the time you spend reviewing documents for typos? Microsoft Word has a bank of common typos, but if there are words that you often misspell personally, you can add those to a running list!

Step 1: Go to File-->Options.

Step 2: Select "AutoCorrect Options" under the "Proofing" menu.



Step 3: In the section under "replace text as you type," add common typos and their appropriate correction. Then, click "add." In the example below, we've added a correction for the spelling of NerdFone. Now, as you type within your document, any of those misspelled words will be automatically corrected.

More tips on using the AutoCorrect feature are available straight from Microsoft here.

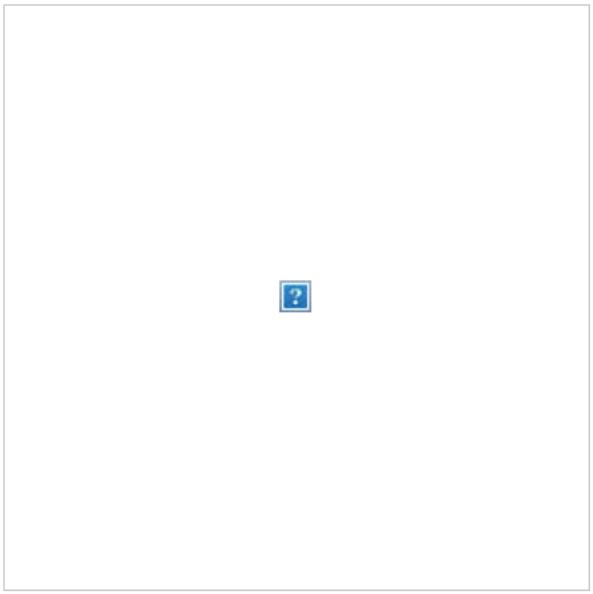
Chromebook Tip: Chromebook Shortcuts

Do you use a Chromebook as your primary device at Green Dot? Here are some shortcuts that could make you more efficient!

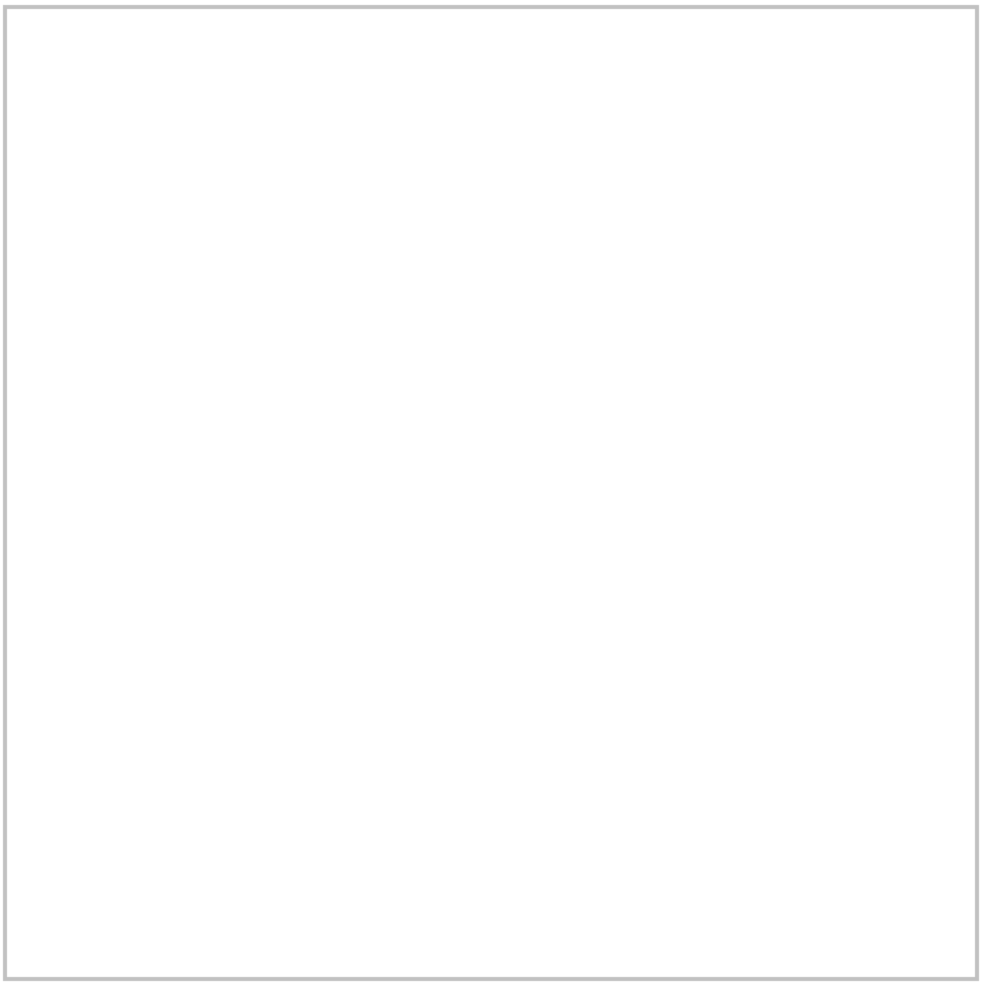
Tip #1: Pin items to your Chromebook shelf

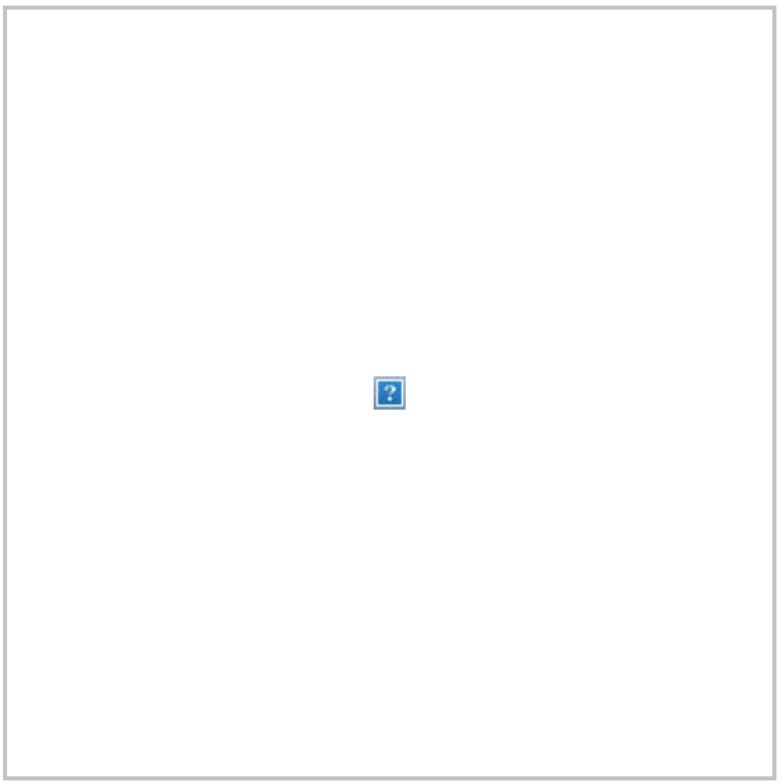
If you navigate to different websites frequently, pin those items to your Chromebook shelf. The shelf is similar to the task bar on a Windows PC.

Step 1: Open the page you would like to pin in Chrome and click on the three circle menu icon in the top right corner.

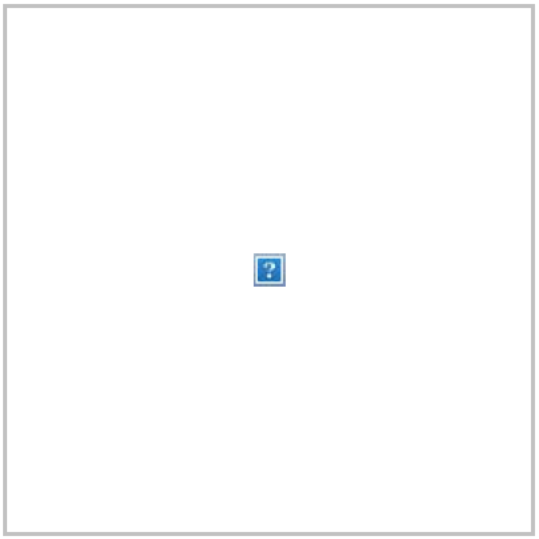


Step 2: Navigate to More Tools-->Create Shortcut. Then, click on the prompt to create a shortcut and it will appear in your Chromebook's shelf!





Step 3: If you want to remove a pinned item, hold the Alt key and click on the pinned icon. Then, select "unpin."



Tip #2: Take a Screenshot

Take a screenshot by hitting Ctrl +Shift + (all windows icon). The all windows icon looks like this:

Tip #3: Find Shortcuts

You can pull up a menu of all of the shortcuts on your Chromebook by hitting this combination: Ctrl + Alt + ?

Google Tip:

Assign Tasks in Files

When you add a comment to a file, you can use a shortcut to "assign" a task for someone to complete. Use this to draw someone's attention to a certain section and collaborate faster!

Step 1: In Google Drive, double-click on the file you've shared with others. Files created with Docs, Sheets, or Slides will open automatically. If the file opens in Drive preview mode, just click on More > Open in new window on the top right.

Step 2: Select the text you want to comment on.

Step 3: Either click on Insert> Comment or use the "Add a Comment" button from the toolbar.

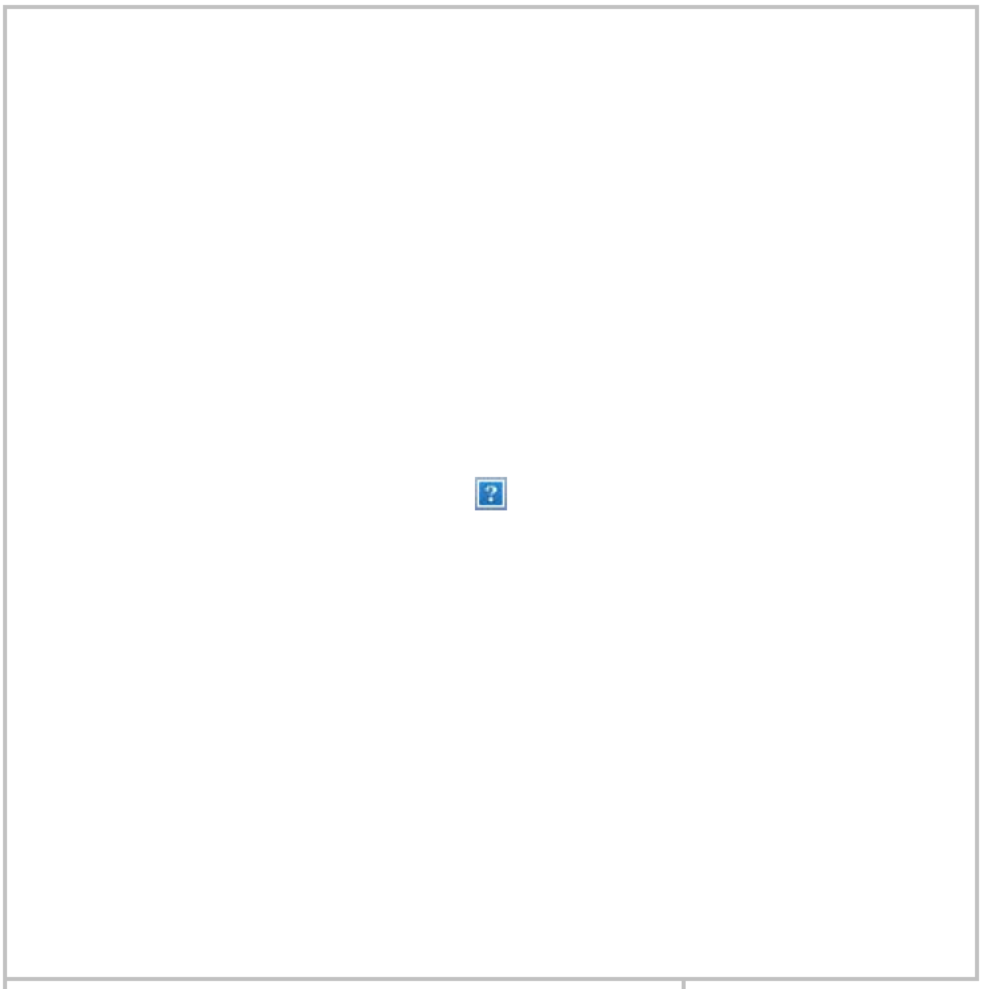
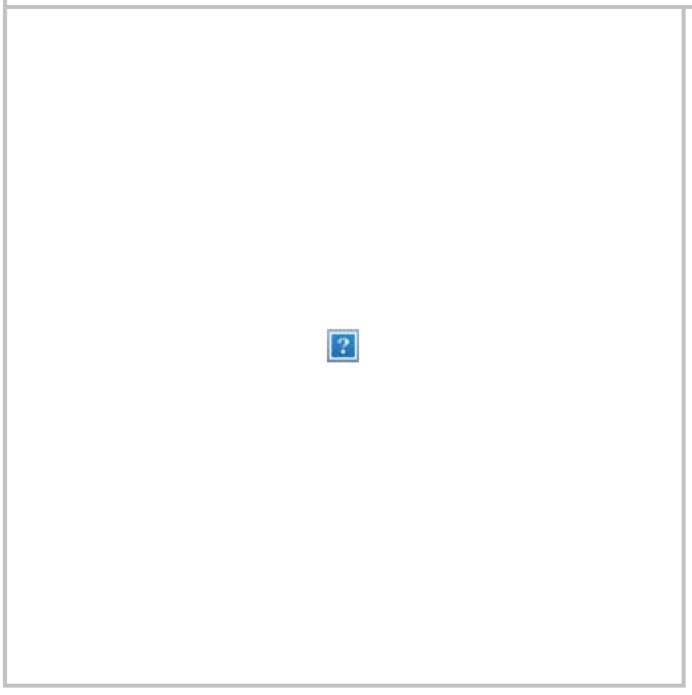
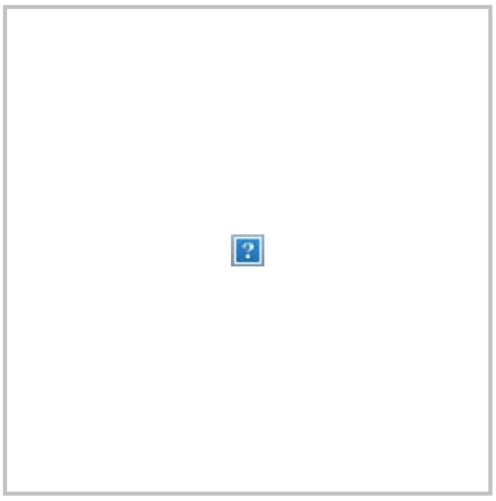
Step 4: Enter your comment. To address it to a specific person, type @ and their email in the comment text. For example, when we type @nerdfone@greendot.org the comment prompts us to "assign" the comment to that account.





Here's what the comment will look like after you assign it to someone:



Step 5: Once the comment has been resolved, you can mark it as done and it will be removed from the screen. If you want to see the history of past comments, click on the comments thread on the upper right hand side.

If you have additional questions, Google provides more instructions here. You can also always reach out to NerdFone!

NerdNotes 18-19: Vol. 19

Welcome to the last 2018 edition of NerdNotes! Can you believe the holidays are upon us already? As we head into our winter break, we hope to leave you with some useful tips to get yourself organized and ready for an amazing 2019! This week we'll cover:

Topic #1: We share shortcuts to search your Google Drive.

Topic #2: We show how to record content using Windows Steps Recorder.

Topic #3: We share a reminder about NerdFone's holiday schedule.

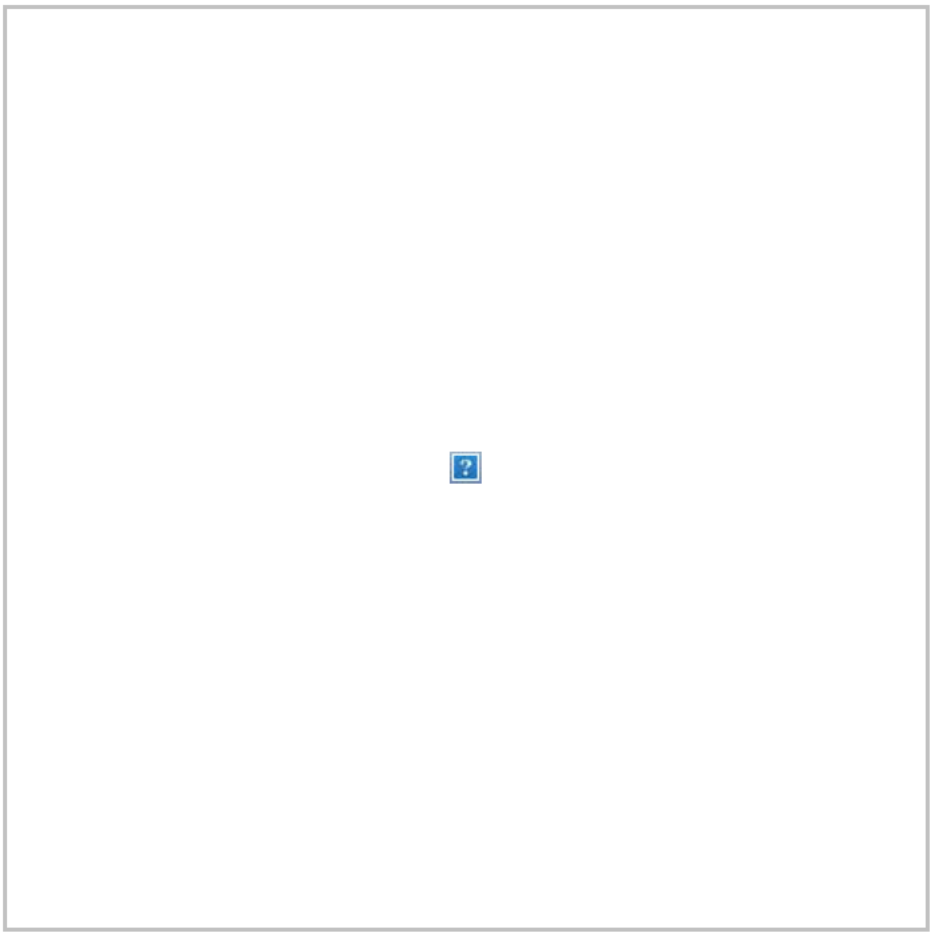
Have a great winter break!

-The NerdFone Team

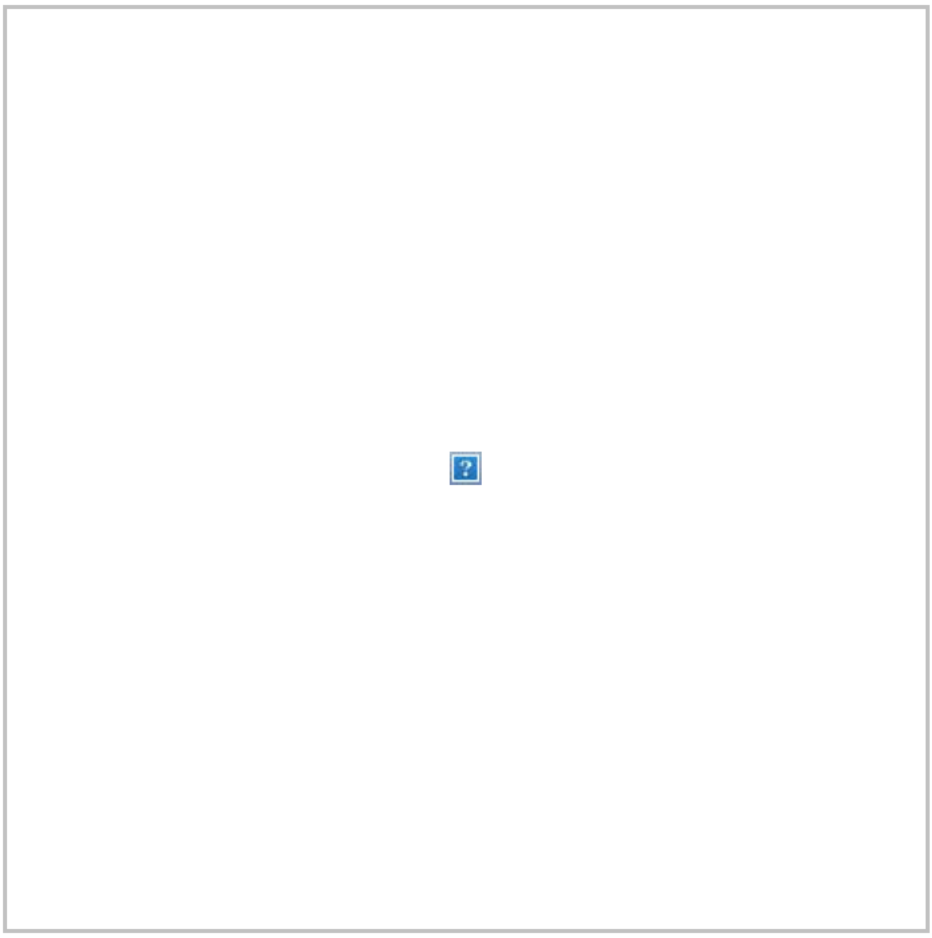
Google Tip:
Searching Your Drive

As we wrap up 2018, it is a great time to make sure that the Google Drive files you've started these past few months are nicely organized. Below are some shortcuts that you can use to navigate through the files in the version of Google Drive accessed through your web browser.

Tip #1: Search for files modified within a certain time period by clicking on the drop down filter in the search bar and selecting calendar dates. In the example below, we're looking for a file modified between September 1 and December 15. Note that Google won't allow you to search for when a document was created but rather when it was last modified.



Tip #2: Narrow your search by file type by clicking the drop down menu in the search bar and choosing the file type that you're looking for.



Tip #3: Flip between the grid view and the list view of your folders by typing the letter v.

Sample grid view:

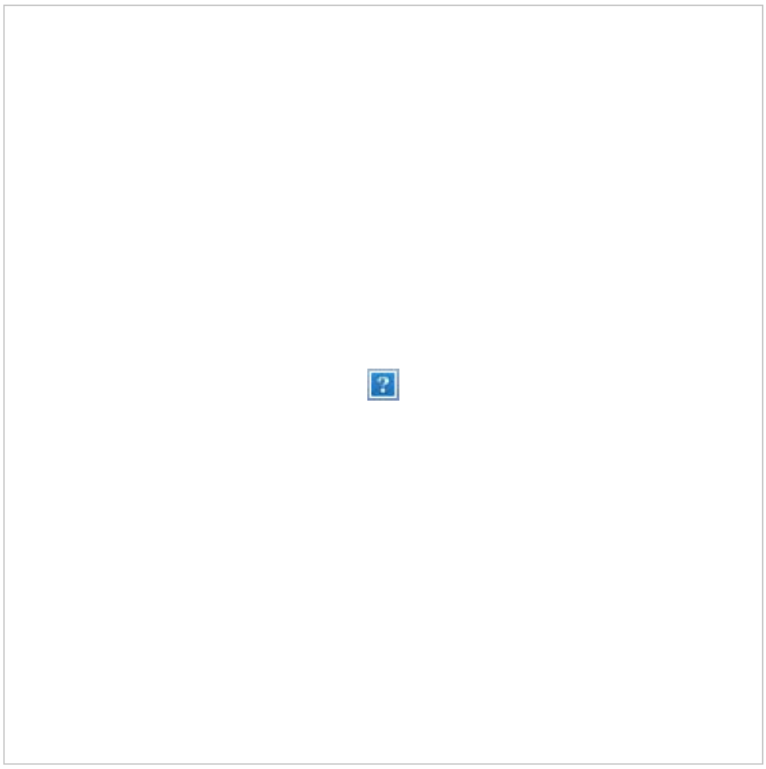
Tech Tip:

Steps Recorder

Are you preparing materials and how-to guides for the next semester and want to track the steps that you are taking on your computer? Try Steps Recorder! This is a built in program on PCs that automatically takes detailed notes of each click you make and each window you open. Here's how it works!

Step 1: Open Steps Recorder by selecting the Start button, and then select Windows Accessories-->Steps Recorder (if you are using Windows 10) or go to Accessories --> Problem Steps Recorder (if you are using Windows 7 or Windows 8.1).

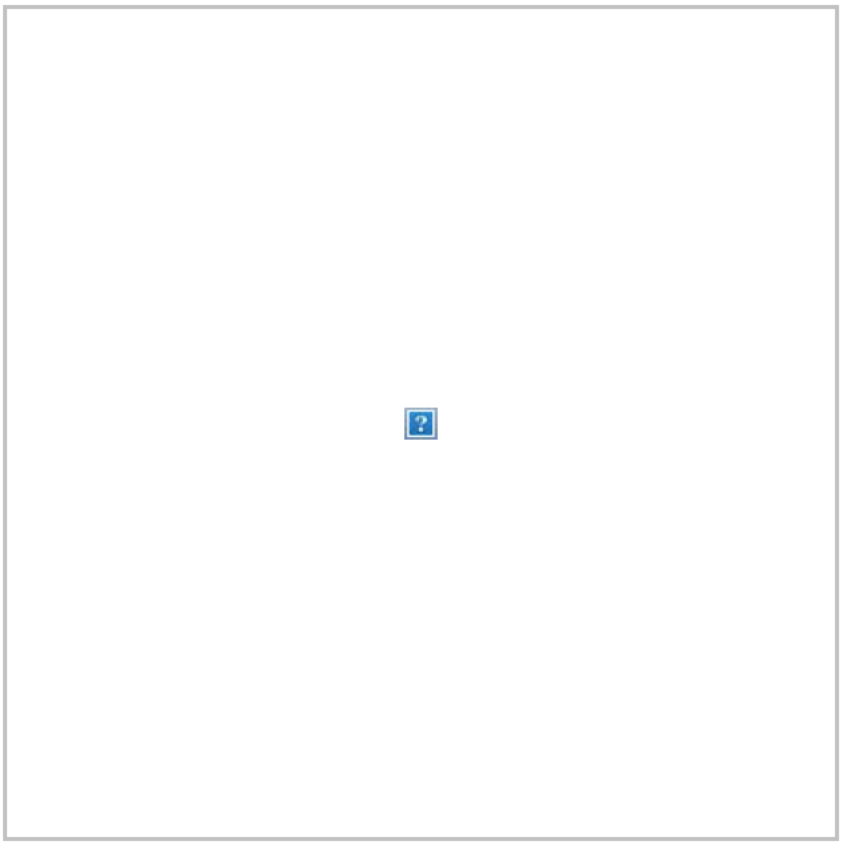


Step 2: Select "Start Record."

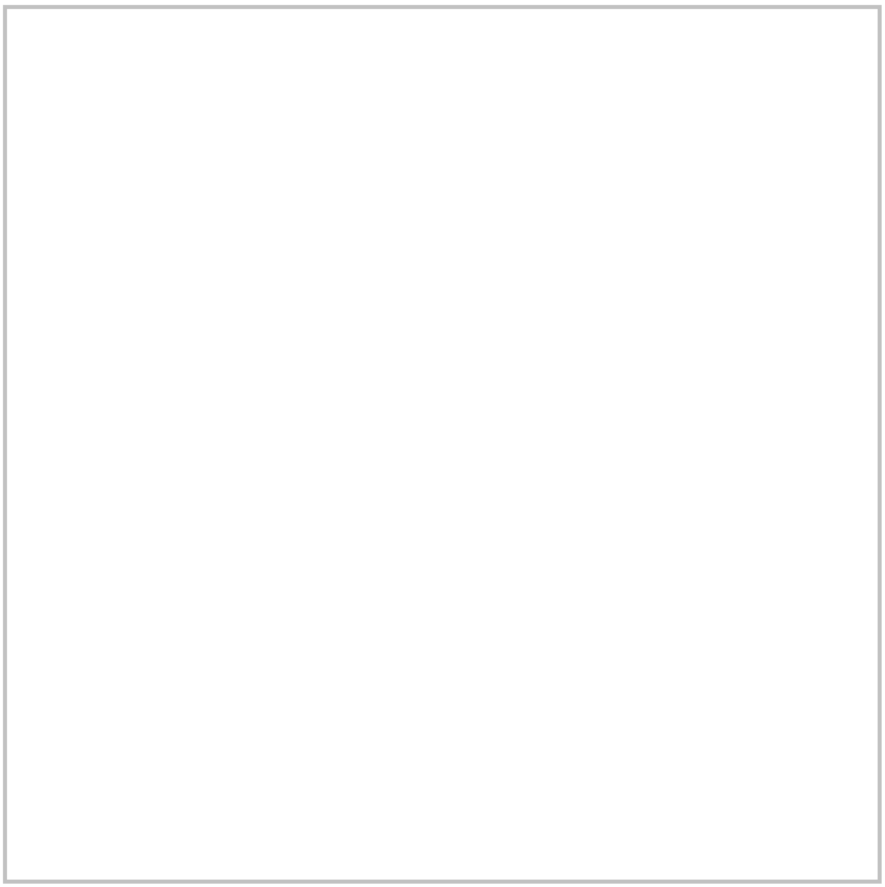
Step 3: Go through the steps you would like to record. Click "pause" and "resume" at any point. If you'd like, you can add a comment while you record by first selecting "Add Comment," then use your mouse to select the part of the screen that you want to comment on, and then type your comment. When you are finished with your comment, select "OK."

Step 4: Select "Stop Record" to end the recording.

Step 5: Review the record of the steps you followed. A screen will appear showing time-stamped comments detailing each step taken (below is an image of what the initial file will look like). You'll likely find that the recording includes much more detail than you expected and that the language sounds a bit "robotic." Don't worry though, we'll show you how you can edit that!



Step 6: If you are happy with the content included in the recording, select "save." The file will default to be a .zip file that can be opened through your internet browser. You can use the file as is or, open it, choose "select all" and then copy the content into Microsoft Word. This will allow you to edit the text and personalize the file a bit more. Remember to save your newly-edited Word file when you are done!



Don't forget to keep these things in mind as you record:

- Always review your recorded file carefully before sharing with others to make sure that you aren't sharing any information you don't want to. For example, the Steps Recorder will show your entire screen, so make sure there is no confidential information in the background.
- Within the Step Recorder's settings, you can adjust the maximum number of screens recorded to be higher than 25 (which is the default).

NerdNotes 18-19: Vol. 19

Welcome to the last 2018 edition of NerdNotes! Can you believe the holidays are upon us already? As we head into our winter break, we hope to leave you with some useful tips to get yourself organized and ready for an amazing 2019! This week we'll cover:

Topic #1: We share shortcuts to search your Google Drive.

Topic #2: We show how to record content using Windows Steps Recorder.

Topic #3: We share a reminder about NerdFone's holiday schedule.

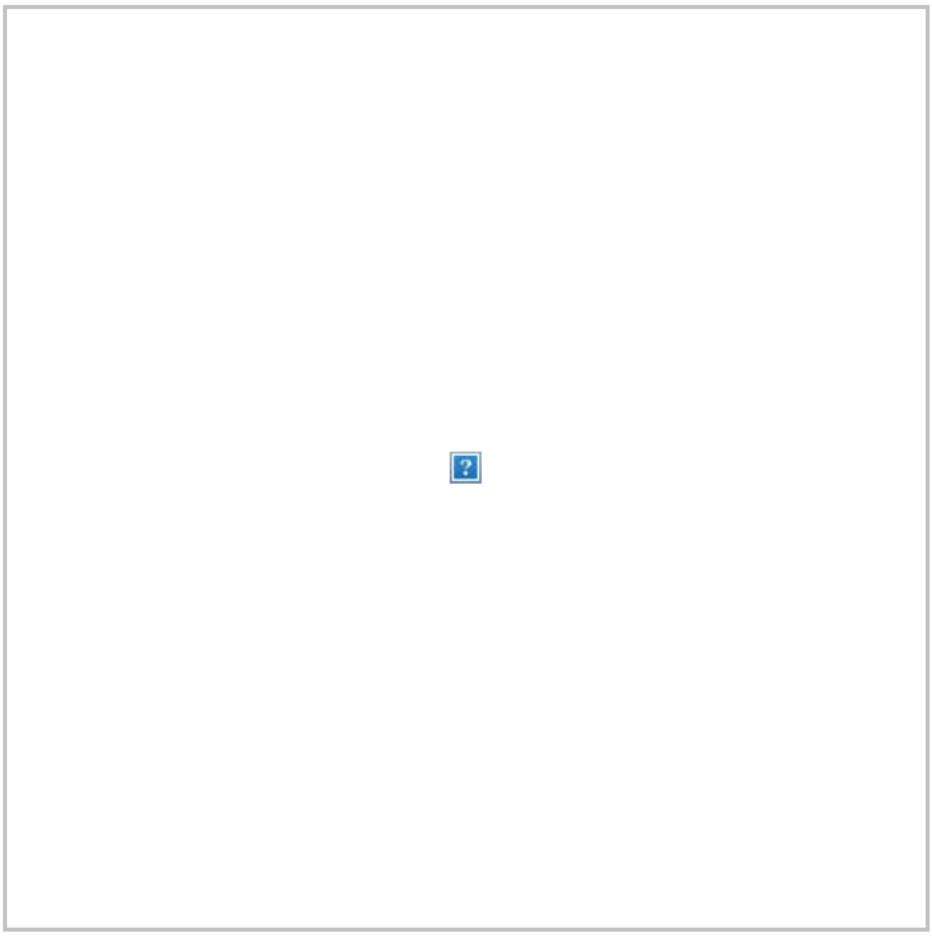
Have a great winter break!

-The NerdFone Team

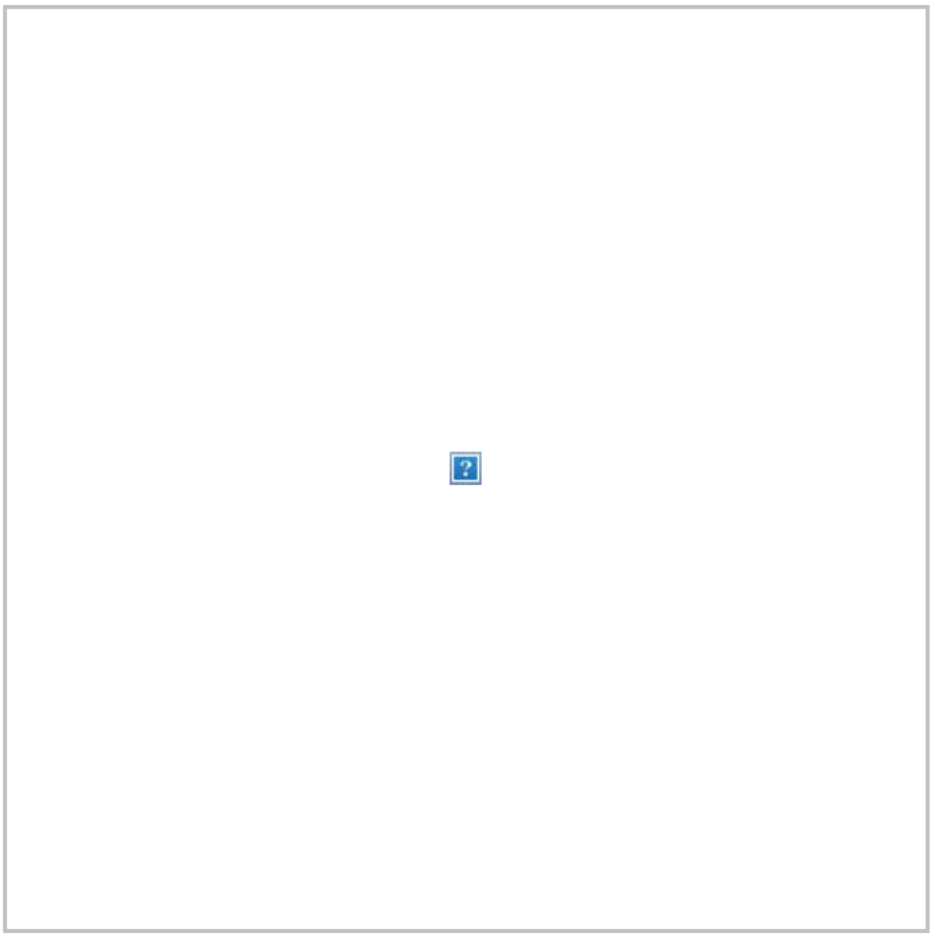
Google Tip:
Searching Your Drive

As we wrap up 2018, it is a great time to make sure that the Google Drive files you've started these past few months are nicely organized. Below are some shortcuts that you can use to navigate through the files in the version of Google Drive accessed through your web browser.

Tip #1: Search for files modified within a certain time period by clicking on the drop down filter in the search bar and selecting calendar dates. In the example below, we're looking for a file modified between September 1 and December 15. Note that Google won't allow you to search for when a document was created but rather when it was last modified.



Tip #2: Narrow your search by file type by clicking the drop down menu in the search bar and choosing the file type that you're looking for.



Tip #3: Flip between the grid view and the list view of your folders by typing the letter v.

NerdNotes 18-19: Vol. 21

Welcome back to this week's edition of NerdNotes! This week we'll cover:

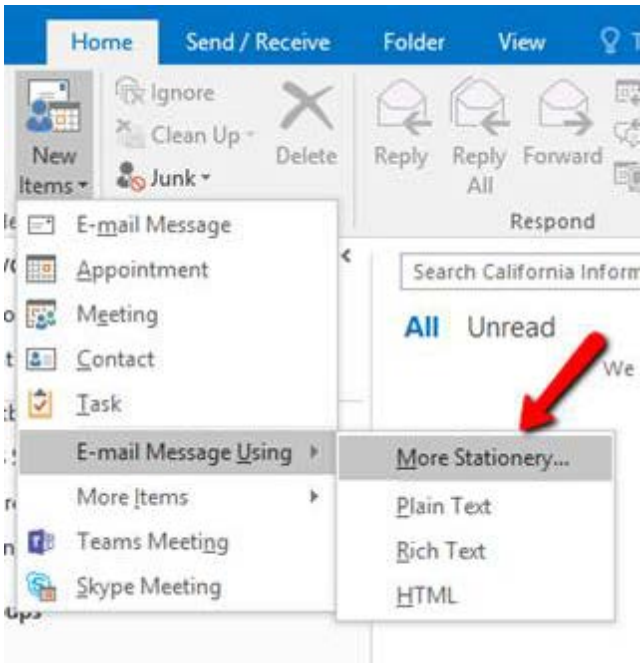
- Topic #1: Learn how to adjust an email's formatting theme in Outlook.
- Topic #2: Learn how to format tables quickly in Word.
- Topic #3: Meet NerdFone agent of the week, Wendy Ramirez!

-The NerdFone Team

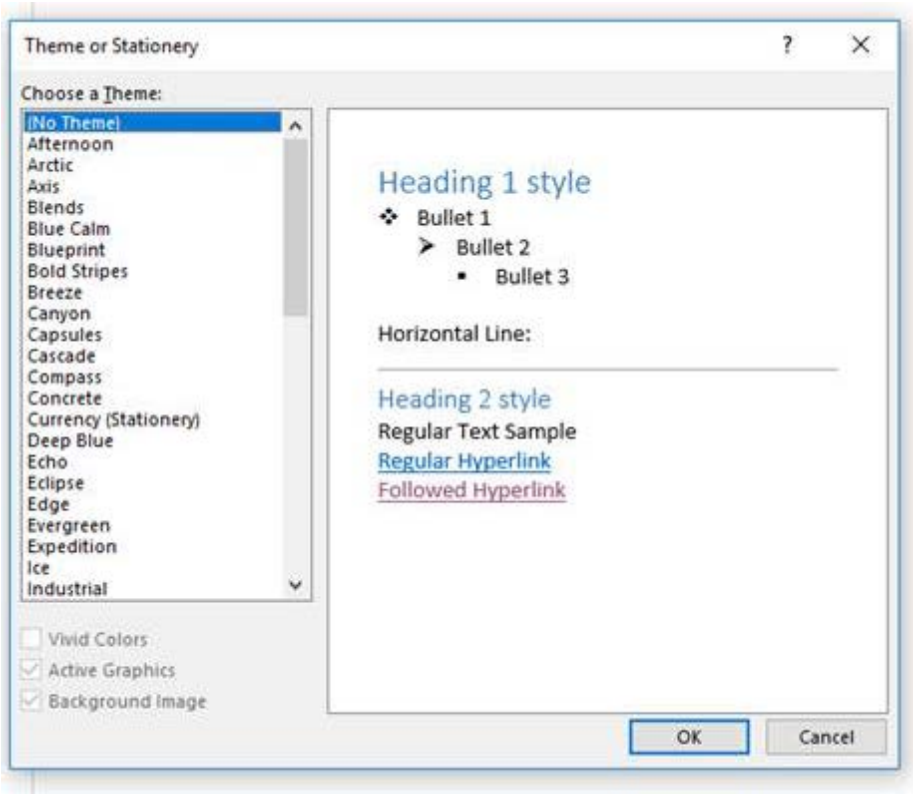
Outlook Tip:
Adjusting Themes

Do you need to send an email with different fonts or colors than the default? Instead of just adjusting options using Outlook's standard formatting tools, you can also change a message's theme.

Step 1: Start a new message by going to the Home Tab and selecting "New Items"→ "Email Message Using"→ "More Stationery."



Step 2: Browse the theme and stationery options and make a selection! This will apply to your email template, which you can then edit and send.



If you'd like to find more options for editing themes, you can learn more here.

Word Tip:
Formatting Tables

When working with tables in your documents, don't spend time manually adjusting rows and heights! Instead, try using the "distribute tables and columns" feature which just takes three steps.

Step 1: Create your table in your document. In the example below, you'll notice that neither the rows nor the columns are evenly spaced.

Step 2: Highlight the rows and columns that you would like to adjust and then navigate to Table Tools Layout--> Distribute Rows or Distribute Columns. Your table will then be adjusted!

Step 3: If you want to make a few more tweaks, you can still do so by clicking and dragging the border of each row or column.

Note that this same feature is also available in Google Docs by navigating to Table-

-> Distribute Rows or Distribute Columns.

NerdNotes 18-19: Vol. 22

Welcome back to this week's edition of NerdNotes! This week we'll cover:

- Topic #1: A quick tutorial on using Find and Replace in Excel.
- Topic #2: We share a tip about setting up notifications in Google Sheets.
- Topic #3: Meet NerdFone agent of the week, Ivan Gaeta!

-The NerdFone Team

Excel Tip:
Find and Replace

A useful tool to clean up your data in Excel is the Find and Replace feature. You can quickly remove any unwanted characters from your data by using the steps in the example below.

Step 1: In this data set we see that the Test Number column has an unwanted "&". Start by finding the "Find & Select" tab under the "Home" ribbon.

	A	B
1	Test Number	Result
2	&1	0.249696
3	&2	0.48629
4	&3	0.779239
5	&4	0.321373
6	&5	0.657893
7	&6	0.744114
8	&7	0.952624
9	&8	0.25139
10	&9	0.735264

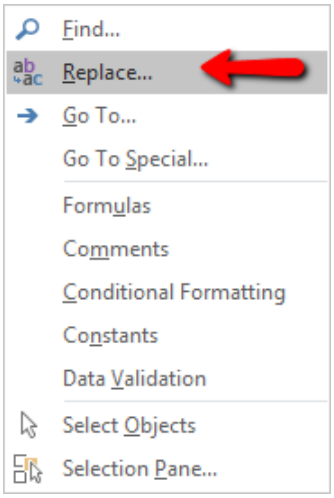
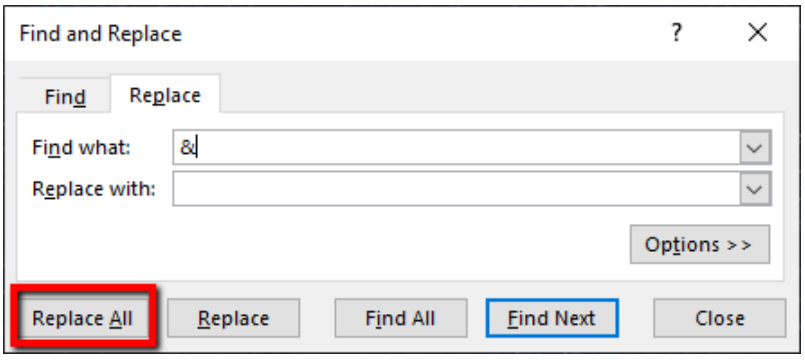
Step 2: Select “Replace”.



Step 3: Type the character you would like to find and type what you would like to replace it with. In this case, we are looking for “&” and replacing it with nothing so we leave the space blank



Step 4: The data will be updated :

	A	B
1	Test Number	Result
2	1	0.249696
3	2	0.48629
4	3	0.779239
5	4	0.321373
6	5	0.657893
7	6	0.744114
8	7	0.952624
9	8	0.25139
10	9	0.735264
11	10	0.795084

Pro Tip: You can also access the Find and Replace box by hitting Ctrl + H!

Google Tip:
Setting up Notifications

When you've invited others to collaborate with you in a Google Sheet, it can be helpful to receive notifications when edits have been made, rather than having to remember to open the document regularly. One of the fastest options is to set up an email notification for those changes. Here's how:

Step 1: Open your Google Sheet and click on Tools-->Notification Rules.

Step 2: Select the frequency for notifications to be sent, click "save", and wait for the notifications to come in! Note that you'll only be able to set notifications for yourself.

Welcome back to this week's edition of NerdNotes! This week we'll cover:

- Topic #1: Take a quiz to see how well you can spot a phishing email.
- Topic #2: We feature one of our favorite PowerPoint tips and show how to "browse as an individual."
- Topic #3: Meet NerdFone agent of the week, Rachel Provost!

-The NerdFone Team

Security Tip:
Phishing Emails

Digital thieves are always looking for ways to trick users through phishing emails that try to steal passwords and other confidential information. Take this quick quiz to see how well you can spot a phishing email and learn some new tricks while you so do!

Remember, if you ever receive an email that look suspicious, please do the following:

- Don't click on any links
- Don't open any attachments
- Send a screenshot of the email to NerdFone so that we can investigate

---

PowerPoint Tip:
Browse as Individual

Are you preparing for a PowerPoint presentation and plan to toggle between the slides and other sites during the presentation? If so, try using the Browse by an Individual setting to make this task easier!

Step 1: Open your set of PowerPoint slides and navigate to "Slide Show" --> "Set up Slide Show" on your toolbar.

Step 2: Adjust the Show Type option to "browsed by an individual (window)" and then click "okay."

Step 3: Start your slide show presentation. You will notice that the slides appear larger on your screen but are now within a window that you can move around or minimize.

Step 4: To exit the presentation mode, click "Esc" on your keyboard or toggle between the "normal" and "slide show" options that appear at the bottom of your PowerPoint window.

Give NerdFone a call if you need help with this feature!

Phishing Emails

Digital thieves are always looking for ways to trick users through phishing emails that try to steal passwords and other confidential information. Take this quick quiz to see how well you can spot a phishing email and learn some new tricks while you so do!

Remember, if you ever receive an email that look suspicious, please do the following:

- Don't click on any links
- Don't open any attachments
- Send a screenshot of the email to NerdFone so that we can investigate

---

PowerPoint Tip:
Browse as Individual

Are you preparing for a PowerPoint presentation and plan to toggle between the slides and other sites during the presentation? If so, try using the Browse by an Individual setting to make this task easier!

Step 1: Open your set of PowerPoint slides and navigate to "Slide Show" --> "Set up Slide Show" on your toolbar.

Step 2: Adjust the Show Type option to "browsed by an individual (window)" and then click "okay."

Step 3: Start your slide show presentation. You will notice that the slides appear larger on your screen but are now within a window that you can move around or minimize.

Step 4: To exit the presentation mode, click "Esc" on your keyboard or toggle between the "normal" and "slide show" options that appear at the bottom of your PowerPoint window.

Subject:	New Changes to the 2019 Letter of Intent (LOI) Process
Date:	Monday, December 10, 2018 3:19:32 PM
Attachments:	image011.png image012.png image013.png image014.png

Hi all!

This email is a heads up that the upcoming Letter of Intent* (LOI) process (which will launch January 15th) will be moving into Workday!

Why is the LOI Process Moving to Workday?

Having the LOI process exist in Workday allows us to maximize efficiencies and create an automated tracking/reporting system where responses live in a teacher/counselors' Workday file.

The signature process for teachers/counselors will be similar to the way we now sign up for benefits in Workday (e.g., a notification is sent to the teacher/counselors' Workday inbox (and cc'd to their animo.org email), which they open to choose a response/sign/date).

How Does this Impact You?

In terms of tracking responses, there will be a Worklet (icon) added to each of your Workday home pages. At any time, you can click that Worklet (as can Area Sups, HR, HC, etc.) to view a report with most of the same information that was in the annual Google tracker.

Next Steps

We are in the midst of building and testing the process in Workday, and until that is complete, I don't have too many more details to share. I can tell you that while we will still ask teachers/counselors to indicate if they are interested in transferring, we will no longer ask them to list the specific schools in which they are interested. It was going to be more difficult to build this particular feature into the Workday process, and since those interested in transferring are not limited to only reaching out to the schools they list (nor should schools be using that info to 'recruit'), this information was not being used in any meaningful way.

Area Superintendents were notified of this new process last week, and we will also send a "heads-up" email to teachers/counselors this week. Once we complete testing, we will send everyone a document with step-by-step instructions and screenshots (this will happen after we return from break). In addition, I will remain the main point of contact for any questions that may arise.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

For those of you who are new to Green Dot, the Letter of Intent is a document sent annually to all Green Dot teachers and counselors (per the AMU contract) asking if they plan to return (or not) to Green Dot for the following school year, and if they are interested in a possible transfer to another Green Dot school site for the following school year. A more thorough explanation will be included when the document is sent on 1/15/19*.

Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized his essay submission on The Catcher in the Rye by uploading a junior's essay from last year to turnitin.com and calling it his. I conferenced with [redacted] after school on 12/12/18 and he admitted to this immediately. The other student, [redacted], gave him his essay to use. [redacted] explanation was that he ran out of time to submit the essay, even after he came to me to plead for an extension on the assignment (which I granted).
Interventions Tried	Conference was held with student regarding plagiarism on 12/12/18 (see above). Student had been given an extension on the assignment, but still chose to cheat.
Recommended/requested	Since this is [redacted] first offense, according to the AVCHS academic honesty discipline matrix, the following should occur: • Opportunity to re-do assignment and obtain lowest passing grade. • Notification of parent, counselor. • Conference with the administrator. • Noted on discipline record. • Potential removal from honor roll.

consequence, restoration, or intervention	However, I do not believe this student should have the opportunity to redo this assignment considering he was given an extension in the first place. This was a privilege he chose to take advantage of. I would like for an administrator to pull him and speak with him about the seriousness of this offense, and for a parent phone call to be made. Note: I can send a digital copy of the essay from turnitin.com to be printed for this conference. I am also planning to speak with [redacted] but would like for admin to do so as well.

Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	During 5th period on 12/12, [redacted] was not reading to start class, and he seemed agitated by my redirection. When we rotated to the second station, [redacted] did not go to small groups as he was supposed to, and he instead went to a computer. When Ms. Koenes and I asked him to join small groups, he did so with much resistance. He did not attempt his work and instead sat in small groups swearing, distracting others, and saying how much he hates Read 180. A few minutes later, he went back to the reading station and distracted his friend. He kept swearing and saying how much he hated the class. He then got up and said that he was going to the office. Ms. Koenes told him that he may not leave, to which he said that he does not care. Ms. Koenes said again that this was considered walking out of a class, and [redacted] wordlessly pushed the door open and left.
Interventions Tried	I greeted [redacted] at the door, gave him a new reading log, redirected him kindly multiple times, offered for him to read another book, and tried to listen to his concerns about being in Read 180. [redacted] did not respond well or at all to these interventions.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	[redacted] has seemed very sour on Read 180 class for the past two periods. Last class, he cussed me out because he thought that I was reprimanding him when I was in fact talking to the person next to him. I think that he would benefit from a conversation with admin about the role of Read 180 and strategies for us to support him. He's clearly not a bad kid, but his cussing me out and ignoring my redirection to a pathological degree is not okay.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	A few weeks ago, [redacted] told Ms. Koenes that students have been bullying him. He described the action as other students walking up to him and slapping his upper back as if to give him a hearty greeting. However, [redacted] said that he does not enjoy this and he wants them to stop. Apparently these students have continued doing so and hide the action from teachers. During lunch on 12/12, I was getting water by the upstairs bathrooms. [redacted] was standing there. I then saw [redacted] walk by me, give [redacted] a hearty slap on the shoulder without saying anything to him, and quickly walk down the stairs. It took me a second to realize what happened, and I looked at [redacted] to see how he had reacted. He was smiling/laughing, but it did not seem to be out of amusement. It seemed that he was trying to diffuse the situation, and he turned and disappeared in the bathroom.
Interventions Tried	I did not react in the situation because it happened very quickly and both boys disappeared right away. I want to proceed cautiously because calling out bullying requires a unified approach.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that someone should pull [redacted] and talk to him about this. [redacted] has already reported this bullying as coming from several other students, and the behavior that he reported was exactly what I witnessed from [redacted]. I'm not exactly sure what protocol is in place for bullying, but we need to address this as soon as possible.

Teacher Name	Josh Rombro
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	12
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On Tuesday, I was on 7th period prep making copies when I noticed [redacted] and [redacted] being disruptive near the bathrooms on the first floor. I asked them to go to class, and went back to my own tasks. Later, I found they were still in the halls. I witnessed [redacted] and [redacted] sprinting in the halls, chasing each other, and making loud noises. In the hallways, they tried to act like they had done nothing wrong. [redacted] walked away from me when I told him he needed to come into the office with me, and promptly left campus. I escorted [redacted] into Mr. Murcia's office. I asked [redacted] to explain what had happened, prompting him to give a very short and abbreviated account of the events. I explained in greater detail what I have just described, and our security camera's can corroborate my account. At this point, Mr. Murcia said that [redacted] would now need an escort to the bathroom, and assured me that [redacted] would be brought in first thing in the morning (Wednesday) to address the issues of being out of class, being disruptive in the halls, being disrespectful to a teacher, and intentionally disobeying the direction of a teacher.

Interventions Tried	I stopped them in the halls and tried to find out what class they were supposed to be in, and what their teachers' thought they were doing. They made this conversation difficult by avoiding my questions or giving blatantly untruthful answers, so I asked them to come to the office. Both students have a history of behavior issues from being in my class last year.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I just noticed [redacted] in the hallways, unescorted. I also followed up with [redacted] and she said that nobody had pulled [redacted] in to discuss Tuesday's events. Where is he on the progressive discipline matrix? What is the designation for ditching class without intention to return to class, sprinting in the halls, disrespecting a teacher, and disobeying a direct request to go to the office?

Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted]. He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss Castro?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a

Interventions Tried	chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted]. This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or Castro (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I haven't cleaned up the spit and I don't expect my students to do that. Can you have him come up here and do it himself? Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I haven't cleaned up the spit and I don't expect my students to do that. Can you have him come up here and do it himself? Student Grade level	9
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	During 5th period on 12/12, [redacted] was not reading to start class, and he seemed agitated by my redirection. When we rotated to the second station, [redacted] did not go to small groups as he was supposed to, and he instead went to a computer. When Ms. Koenes and I asked him to join small groups, he did so with much resistance. He did not attempt his work and instead sat in small groups swearing, distracting others, and saying how much he hates Read 180. A few minutes later, he went back to the reading station and distracted his friend. He kept swearing and saying how much he hated the class. He then got up and said that he was going to the office. Ms. Koenes told him that he may not leave, to which he said that he does not care. Ms. Koenes said again that this was considered walking out of a class, and [redacted] wordlessly pushed the door open and left.
Interventions Tried	I greeted [redacted] at the door, gave him a new reading log, redirected him kindly multiple times, offered for him to read another book, and tried to listen to his concerns about being in Read 180. [redacted] did not respond well or at all to these interventions.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	[redacted] has seemed very sour on Read 180 class for the past two periods. Last class, he cussed me out because he thought that I was reprimanding him when I was in fact talking to the person next to him. I think that he would benefit from a conversation with admin about the role of Read 180 and strategies for us to support him. He's clearly not a bad kid, but his cussing me out and ignoring my redirection to a pathological degree is not okay.

Level of Behavior	Mild - handled in class FYI only
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Student Grade level	10
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized his essay submission on The Catcher in the Rye by uploading a junior's essay from last year to turnitin.com and calling it his. I conferenced with [redacted] after school on 12/12/18 and he admitted to this immediately. The other student, [redacted], gave him his essay to use. [redacted] explanation was that he ran out of time to submit the essay, even after he came to me to plead for an extension on the assignment (which I granted).
Interventions Tried	Conference was held with student regarding plagiarism on 12/12/18 (see above). Student had been given an extension on the assignment, but still chose to cheat.
Recommended/requested	Since this is [redacted] first offense, according to the AVCHS academic honesty discipline matrix, the following should occur: • Opportunity to re-do assignment and obtain lowest passing grade. • Notification of parent, counselor. • Conference with the administrator. • Noted on discipline record. • Potential removal from honor roll.

consequence, restoration, or intervention	However, I do not believe this student should have the opportunity to redo this assignment considering he was given an extension in the first place. This was a privilege he chose to take advantage of. I would like for an administrator to pull him and speak with him about the seriousness of this offense, and for a parent phone call to be made. Note: I can send a digital copy of the essay from turnitin.com to be printed for this conference. I am also planning to speak with Edgar G., but would like for admin to do so as well.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized part of her essay on The Catcher in the Rye. About a paragraph and a half came up as a match for another student's essay, 10th grader [redacted]. I conferenced with [redacted] on 12/12/18, and she said she had asked for [redacted] help on her rough draft and she noticed the final draft of her essay sounded like [redacted], but didn't know how to fix it. She did not seek out extra help from me in order to do this prior to the essay due date.
Interventions Tried	In her conference on 12/12, I asked her to rewrite the portions of her essay that she received help on, and resubmit for lowest possible grade by Tuesday, 12/18.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I would like for admin to pull [redacted] and have a second conference with her about the seriousness of plagiarism, as well as how to get extra help without cheating. I would also like for a parent phone call to be made.

Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	While I was helping another student in 7th period, [redacted] grabbed my laser pointer off my desk and started shining it in other students eyes. I told him firmly and clearly to put it back on my desk and continue working, to which he yelled back "It wasn't even on your desk" as if that was what I was worried about. He continued to shine the laser into other students' eyes, which they told him to stop doing. I called the office and Juanita came to get him. He quickly placed the laser back onto my desk when he heard me on the phone.
Interventions Tried	I told [redacted] in clear terms that he should not be shining lasers into people's eyes, and I told him repeatedly after he ignored me and defied my directions. My next option would have been to physically wrench the laser from his hands, but obviously that would not be advised. It was just concerning because he continued to shine the laser into students' eyes.
	Several things are going on here. For one, [redacted] has consistently ignored my redirections for the entire semester, and today was no exception. He gets into this tunnel-vision mode of misbehavior where anything that I say to him, no matter how directly, elicits more defiance. I raised my voice today and told him exactly what to stop doing, what to do instead, and why this was wrong. He had the directions of the assignment explained to him many times and it was on the board as well. I have called his mother twice. His response in the moment is always to yell back at me and try to overpower me.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Secondly, shining lasers into people's eyes is extremely dangerous, and the students were very distressed by it. [redacted] just kept doing it even when I told him how dangerous it was. I don't think it's an exaggeration to treat this very seriously because he clearly isn't seeing it that way right now. [redacted] has done zero work and put in zero effort for months. His behavior has worsened, even after the departure of [redacted], who seemed to bring out his worst instincts. [redacted] needs to have a much tighter supervision regimen, maybe even a tracker of sorts, because previous interventions have not worked at all. He is in real danger of entering sophomore year reading and acting like a middle school student. Real harm was done today.

Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	During 5th period on 12/12, [redacted] was not reading to start class, and he seemed agitated by my redirection. When we rotated to the second station, [redacted] did not go to small groups as he was supposed to, and he instead went to a computer. When Ms. Koenes and I asked him to join small groups, he did so with much resistance. He did not attempt his work and instead sat in small groups swearing, distracting others, and saying how much he hates Read 180. A few minutes later, he went back to the reading station and distracted his friend. He kept swearing and saying how much he hated the class. He then got up and said that he was going to the office. Ms. Koenes told him that he may not leave, to which he said that he does not care. Ms. Koenes said again that this was considered walking out of a class, and [redacted] wordlessly pushed the door open and left.
Interventions Tried	I greeted [redacted] at the door, gave him a new reading log, redirected him kindly multiple times, offered for him to read another book, and tried to listen to his concerns about being in Read 180. [redacted] did not respond well or at all to these interventions.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	[redacted] has seemed very sour on Read 180 class for the past two periods. Last class, he cussed me out because he thought that I was reprimanding him when I was in fact talking to the person next to him. I think that he would benefit from a conversation with admin about the role of Read 180 and strategies for us to support him. He's clearly not a bad kid, but his cussing me out and ignoring my redirection to a pathological degree is not okay.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] has been chronically off task in third period for weeks now. In fourth period, he did not attempt his in-class essay that we had spent a week outlining. He continued to talk and pass notes with his desk partner [redacted]. During the test, he said out loud in the quiet testing environment "Are we going to watch the [Of Mice and Men] movie today?" at which several people laughed and he shot back "What are you laughing at?" I had made it abundantly clear that we would not be watching the movie that day, so this seemed like an attention-getting move. At the end of class, he mumbled something to me that I did not hear and bolted out of the door without my permission. He returned before the bell, but in general, his defiance and complete disregard for class rules and academic expectations has become extreme. He openly mocks me when I redirect him.
Interventions Tried	I have tried to logically explain [redacted] lack of progress to him, explained directions clearly, set expectations clearly, explained why his grades are doing what they are, and what constitutes appropriate dialogue with a teacher. None of these things have worked in the long run, and in fact, he has openly told me that he "does not like me" and bragged about throwing things at teachers in middle school.

	Clearly, I am not reporting this because I need to be liked, but rather because the openness of [redacted] defiance is a problem that is derailing his progress and is emblematic of a trend among certain 9th graders.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that [redacted] would benefit from more eyes being on him and more people checking in with him about his progress. Since I have him back-to-back in third and fourth, he has begun to tune out my voice. I think admin and other teachers giving him a harder time about his performance overall would show him that we notice when he flaunts his disrespect for learning and appropriate communication. I would appreciate a team-oriented effort with him because he has been digging in his heels with disrespecting me and my class. and I'm running out of options.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	A few weeks ago, [redacted] told Ms. Koenes that students have been bullying him. He described the action as other students walking up to him and slapping his upper back as if to give him a hearty greeting. However, [redacted] said that he does not enjoy this and he wants them to stop. Apparently these students have continued doing so and hide the action from teachers. During lunch on 12/12, I was getting water by the upstairs bathrooms. [redacted] was standing there. I then saw [redacted] walk by me, give [redacted] a hearty slap on the shoulder without saying anything to him, and quickly walk down the stairs. It took me a second to realize what happened, and I looked at [redacted] to see how he had reacted. He was smiling/laughing, but it did not seem to be out of amusement. It seemed that he was trying to diffuse the situation, and he turned and disappeared in the bathroom.
Interventions Tried	I did not react in the situation because it happened very quickly and both boys disappeared right away. I want to proceed cautiously because calling out bullying requires a unified approach.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that someone should pull [redacted] and talk to him about this. [redacted] has already reported this bullying as coming from several other students, and the behavior that he reported was exactly what I witnessed from [redacted]. I'm not exactly sure what protocol is in place for bullying, but we need to address this as soon as possible.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized part of her essay on The Catcher in the Rye. About a paragraph and a half came up as a match for another student's essay, 10th grader [redacted]. I conferenced with [redacted] on 12/12/18, and she said she had asked for [redacted]s help on her rough draft and she noticed the final draft of her essay sounded like [redacted] but didn't know how to fix it. She did not seek out extra help from me in order to do this prior to the essay due date.
Interventions Tried	In her conference on 12/12, I asked her to rewrite the portions of her essay that she received help on, and resubmit for lowest possible grade by Tuesday, 12/18.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I would like for admin to pull [redacted] and have a second conference with her about the seriousness of plagiarism, as well as how to get extra help without cheating. I would also like for a parent phone call to be made.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized his essay submission on The Catcher in the Rye by uploading a junior's essay from last year to turnitin.com and calling it his. I conferenced with [redacted] after school on 12/12/18 and he admitted to this immediately. The other student, [redacted], gave him his essay to use. [redacted] explanation was that he ran out of time to submit the essay, even after he came to me to plead for an extension on the assignment (which I granted).
Interventions Tried	Conference was held with student regarding plagiarism on 12/12/18 (see above). Student had been given an extension on the assignment, but still chose to cheat.
Recommended/requested	Since this is [redacted] first offense, according to the AVCHS academic honesty discipline matrix, the following should occur: • Opportunity to re-do assignment and obtain lowest passing grade. • Notification of parent, counselor. • Conference with the administrator. • Noted on discipline record. • Potential removal from honor roll.

consequence, restoration, or intervention	However, I do not believe this student should have the opportunity to redo this assignment considering he was given an extension in the first place. This was a privilege he chose to take advantage of. I would like for an administrator to pull him and speak with him about the seriousness of this offense, and for a parent phone call to be made. Note: I can send a digital copy of the essay from turnitin.com to be printed for this conference. I am also planning to speak with [redacted] but would like for admin to do so as well.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] was relatively well-behaved during class. However, he tried to leave class early, and when I tried blocking the exit with my arm, he (along with 1-2 other students who I can't recall) began to push past me roughly. Another student (female) in another classroom witnessed it happening.
Interventions Tried	None. I let [redacted] leave because I needed to deal with two other students.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I don't know. This is not the first time [redacted] has done this, so I wanted to let you know. I don't think speaking to him will do much, but I wasn't sure if this is something he did with another class.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	During 5th period on 12/12, [redacted] was not reading to start class, and he seemed agitated by my redirection. When we rotated to the second station, [redacted] did not go to small groups as he was supposed to, and he instead went to a computer. When Ms. Koenes and I asked him to join small groups, he did so with much resistance. He did not attempt his work and instead sat in small groups swearing, distracting others, and saying how much he hates Read 180. A few minutes later, he went back to the reading station and distracted his friend. He kept swearing and saying how much he hated the class. He then got up and said that he was going to the office. Ms. Koenes told him that he may not leave, to which he said that he does not care. Ms. Koenes said again that this was considered walking out of a class, and [redacted] wordlessly pushed the door open and left.
Interventions Tried	I greeted [redacted] at the door, gave him a new reading log, redirected him kindly multiple times, offered for him to read another book, and tried to listen to his concerns about being in Read 180. [redacted] did not respond well or at all to these interventions.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	[redacted] has seemed very sour on Read 180 class for the past two periods. Last class, he cussed me out because he thought that I was reprimanding him when I was in fact talking to the person next to him. I think that he would benefit from a conversation with admin about the role of Read 180 and strategies for us to support him. He's clearly not a bad kid, but his cussing me out and ignoring my redirection to a pathological degree is not okay.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	A few weeks ago, [redacted] told Ms. Koenes that students have been bullying him. He described the action as other students walking up to him and slapping his upper back as if to give him a hearty greeting. However, [redacted] said that he does not enjoy this and he wants them to stop. Apparently these students have continued doing so and hide the action from teachers. During lunch on 12/12, I was getting water by the upstairs bathrooms. [redacted] was standing there. I then saw [redacted] walk by me, give [redacted] a hearty slap on the shoulder without saying anything to him, and quickly walk down the stairs. It took me a second to realize what happened, and I looked at [redacted] to see how he had reacted. He was smiling/laughing, but it did not seem to be out of amusement. It seemed that he was trying to diffuse the situation, and he turned and disappeared in the bathroom.
Interventions Tried	I did not react in the situation because it happened very quickly and both boys disappeared right away. I want to proceed cautiously because calling out bullying requires a unified approach.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that someone should pull [redacted] and talk to him about this. [redacted] has already reported this bullying as coming from several other students, and the behavior that he reported was exactly what I witnessed from [redacted]. I'm not exactly sure what protocol is in place for bullying, but we need to address this as soon as possible.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Mild - handled in class FYI only
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted] He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss [redacted]?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a

Interventions Tried	chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted]. This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or [redacted] (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Student Grade level	12
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On Tuesday, I was on 7th period prep making copies when I noticed [redacted] and [redacted] being disruptive near the bathrooms on the first floor. I asked them to go to class, and went back to my own tasks. Later, I found they were still in the halls. I witnessed [redacted] and [redacted] sprinting in the halls, chasing each other, and making loud noises. In the hallways, they tried to act like they had done nothing wrong. [redacted] walked away from me when I told him he needed to come into the office with me, and promptly left campus. I escorted [redacted] into Mr. Murcia's office. I asked [redacted] to explain what had happened, prompting him to give a very short and abbreviated account of the events. I explained in greater detail what I have just described, and our security camera's can corroborate my account. At this point, Mr. Murcia said that [redacted] would now need an escort to the bathroom, and assured me that [redacted] would be brought in first thing in the morning (Wednesday) to address the issues of being out of class, being disruptive in the halls, being disrespectful to a teacher, and intentionally disobeying the direction of a teacher.

Interventions Tried	I stopped them in the halls and tried to find out what class they were supposed to be in, and what their teachers' thought they were doing. They made this conversation difficult by avoiding my questions or giving blatantly untruthful answers, so I asked them to come to the office. Both students have a history of behavior issues from being in my class last year.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I just noticed [redacted] in the hallways, unescorted. I also followed up with V and she said that nobody had pulled [redacted] in to discuss Tuesday's events. Where is he on the progressive discipline matrix? What is the designation for ditching class without intention to return to class, sprinting in the halls, disrespecting a teacher, and disobeying a direct request to go to the office?

Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	Student was being loud disruptive during class reading. When I sat next to him in attempt to keep him in focus, he began waving his book in front of my face. I eventually took his book because he was nor paying attention and he would begin yelling, "Why did you take my book?" or "Can I have it back." I wrote his name on the board to let him now he was staying after school. Student then proceeded to walk around the classroom, messily rub another's students head. He went to the corner of the room and pretended to sleep and snore very loudly. He was also knocking over desks and chairs. Over the course of the period, he began moving seats so that he could get closer to the door. He tried leaving 4 minutes early, but Ms. Koenes stopped him out in the hall. I'm not sure what happened at that point.
Interventions Tried	I redirected student several times. I did not send him to the office because it became clear that he was looking for me to do so.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration,	I'm calling [redacted] mom I'm asking that he stay the entirety of my office hours to make up lost work tomorrow. I would also like someone to speak to him because his behavior has

or intervention	spiraled out of control. He's missed several days of class because he is being sent to the office very often.

Interventions Tried	None.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I haven't cleaned up the spit and I don't expect my students to do that. Can you have him come up here and do it himself? In fact, if he could stay after school and sweep up my floors, that would be great. I will be making a phone call if none is made by the office.

Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Mild - handled in class FYI only
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] has been chronically off task in third period for weeks now. In fourth period, he did not attempt his in-class essay that we had spent a week outlining. He continued to talk and pass notes with his desk partner [redacted]. During the test, he said out loud in the quiet testing environment "Are we going to watch the [Of Mice and Men] movie today?" at which several people laughed and he shot back "What are you laughing at?" I had made it abundantly clear that we would not be watching the movie that day, so this seemed like an attention-getting move. At the end of class, he mumbled something to me that I did not hear and bolted out of the door without my permission. He returned before the bell, but in general, his defiance and complete disregard for class rules and academic expectations has become extreme. He openly mocks me when I redirect him.
Interventions Tried	I have tried to logically explain [redacted] lack of progress to him, explained directions clearly, set expectations clearly, explained why his grades are doing what they are, and what constitutes appropriate dialogue with a teacher. None of these things have worked in the long run, and in fact, he has openly told me that he "does not like me" and bragged about throwing things at teachers in middle school.

	Clearly, I am not reporting this because I need to be liked, but rather because the openness of [redacted] defiance is a problem that is derailing his progress and is emblematic of a trend among certain 9th graders.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that [redacted] would benefit from more eyes being on him and more people checking in with him about his progress. Since I have him back-to-back in third and fourth, he has begun to tune out my voice. I think admin and other teachers giving him a harder time about his performance overall would show him that we notice when he flaunts his disrespect for learning and appropriate communication. I would appreciate a team-oriented effort with him because he has been digging in his heels with disrespecting me and my class. and I'm running out of options.

Teacher Name	Madison Bonsignore
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	10
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized his essay submission on The Catcher in the Rye by uploading a junior's essay from last year to turnitin.com and calling it his. I conferenced with [redacted] after school on 12/12/18 and he admitted to this immediately. The other student, [redacted], gave him his essay to use. [redacted] explanation was that he ran out of time to submit the essay, even after he came to me to plead for an extension on the assignment (which I granted).
Interventions Tried	Conference was held with student regarding plagiarism on 12/12/18 (see above). Student had been given an extension on the assignment, but still chose to cheat.
Recommended/requested	Since this is [redacted] first offense, according to the AVCHS academic honesty discipline matrix, the following should occur: • Opportunity to re-do assignment and obtain lowest passing grade. • Notification of parent, counselor. • Conference with the administrator. • Noted on discipline record. • Potential removal from honor roll.

consequence, restoration, or intervention	However, I do not believe this student should have the opportunity to redo this assignment considering he was given an extension in the first place. This was a privilege he chose to take advantage of. I would like for an administrator to pull him and speak with him about the seriousness of this offense, and for a parent phone call to be made. Note: I can send a digital copy of the essay from turnitin.com to be printed for this conference. I am also planning to speak with [redacted] but would like for admin to do so as well.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	While I was helping another student in 7th period, [redacted] grabbed my laser pointer off my desk and started shining it in other students eyes. I told him firmly and clearly to put it back on my desk and continue working, to which he yelled back "It wasn't even on your desk" as if that was what I was worried about. He continued to shine the laser into other students' eyes, which they told him to stop doing. I called the office and Juanita came to get him. He quickly placed the laser back onto my desk when he heard me on the phone.
Interventions Tried	I told [redacted] in clear terms that he should not be shining lasers into people's eyes, and I told him repeatedly after he ignored me and defied my directions. My next option would have been to physically wrench the laser from his hands, but obviously that would not be advised. It was just concerning because he continued to shine the laser into students' eyes.
	Several things are going on here. For one, [redacted] has consistently ignored my redirections for the entire semester, and today was no exception. He gets into this tunnel-vision mode of misbehavior where anything that I say to him, no matter how directly, elicits more defiance. I raised my voice today and told him exactly what to stop doing, what to do instead, and why this was wrong. He had the directions of the assignment explained to him many times and it was on the board as well. I have called his mother twice. His response in the moment is always to yell back at me and try to overpower me.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Secondly, shining lasers into people's eyes is extremely dangerous, and the students were very distressed by it. [redacted] just kept doing it even when I told him how dangerous it was. I don't think it's an exaggeration to treat this very seriously because he clearly isn't seeing it that way right now. [redacted] has done zero work and put in zero effort for months. His behavior has worsened, even after the departure of [redacted], who seemed to bring out his worst instincts. [redacted] needs to have a much tighter supervision regimen, maybe even a tracker of sorts, because previous interventions have not worked at all. He is in real danger of entering sophomore year reading and acting like a middle school student. Real harm was done today.

Your form has a new entry. Here are all the answers.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	While I was helping another student in 7th period, [redacted] grabbed my laser pointer off my desk and started shining it in other students eyes. I told him firmly and clearly to put it back on my desk and continue working, to which he yelled back "It wasn't even on your desk" as if that was what I was worried about. He continued to shine the laser into other students' eyes, which they told him to stop doing. I called the office and Juanita came to get him. He quickly placed the laser back onto my desk when he heard me on the phone.
Interventions Tried	I told [redacted] in clear terms that he should not be shining lasers into people's eyes, and I told him repeatedly after he ignored me and defied my directions. My next option would have been to physically wrench the laser from his hands, but obviously that would not be advised. It was just concerning because he continued to shine the laser into students' eyes.
	Several things are going on here. For one, [redacted] has consistently ignored my redirections for the entire semester, and today was no exception. He gets into this tunnel-vision mode of misbehavior where anything that I say to him, no matter how directly, elicits more defiance. I raised my voice today and told him exactly what to stop doing, what to do instead, and why this was wrong. He had the directions of the assignment explained to him many times and it was on the board as well. I have called his mother twice. His response in the moment is always to yell back at me and try to overpower me.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Secondly, shining lasers into people's eyes is extremely dangerous, and the students were very distressed by it. [redacted] just kept doing it even when I told him how dangerous it was. I don't think it's an exaggeration to treat this very seriously because he clearly isn't seeing it that way right now. [redacted] has done zero work and put in zero effort for months. His behavior has worsened, even after the departure of [redacted], who seemed to bring out his worst instincts. [redacted] needs to have a much tighter supervision regimen, maybe even a tracker of sorts, because previous interventions have not worked at all. He is in real danger of entering sophomore year reading and acting like a middle school student. Real harm was done today.

Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which point [redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.
Interventions Tried	I knew that [redacted] was going to walk into my class when I saw him down the hall [redacted] had popped out without permission and said something to him), and I closed the door and blinds to signal that my room was not to be entered. When the student opened the door, he walked right in and stared me down (very close to my body) in a way that was clearly intended to show that he was here to do whatever he wanted. I tried to explain to him why that was inappropriate and that he was not allowed to be in my classroom, but he did not move or respond, instead just smiling in my face.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think we still have [redacted] on an escort system for the hallways, and that needs to be followed. He walked out of my class earlier today, despite the fact that Murcia was standing literally by my door. I;m not sure how to do this, but signaling to him that he cannot simply go into random classrooms because he "has something to do/say to someone in there" is not appropriate. Any support with [redacted] return would be appreciated.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] parents are going through a divorce, which has clearly had an impact on her behavior in the spring semester. This referral serves to document some of her behaviors today, all of which have been repeated and represent patterns. [redacted] came into class screaming, talking to other students about drama (thereby distracting them from getting started), and physically hitting her friends (horseplay). I told her numerous times to please find her seat, and I even had her walk out of class and come back in. None of it helped, and she ignored me many times. Throughout the lesson, [redacted] attempted none of her work, talking the entire time and ignoring my redirection. At one point she openly yelled the n-word, and at another she was loudly telling a group about how some people drink urine. [redacted] did not attempt her software or read in the reading station. At every attempt of redirection, she either ignored me or talked over me.
	I spent the entire class redirecting her individually, but she

Interventions Tried	was the only student who struggled with understanding directions. She dis not attempt to read my written directions from the board, and she did not attempt to listen to my verbal directions the first time I gave them. Josh came in at one point, and [redacted] did not fully stop disrupting the room or begin reading. She pretended to be on task. So admin presence did not help either.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	The ninth grade team is calling home on Friday during teacher prep, but [redacted] needs to be pulled from class in the future. She does not respond to anything that I tell her in class, and admin presence does not help her while in the class either. On this day, she disrupted my class to the point that we did nothing productive and the majority of kids were distracted from their learning. So in the future, I would like to be able to send her out for the rest of us to continue learning.

Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Mild - handled in class FYI only
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] has been chronically off task in third period for weeks now. In fourth period, he did not attempt his in-class essay that we had spent a week outlining. He continued to talk and pass notes with his desk partner [redacted]. During the test, he said out loud in the quiet testing environment "Are we going to watch the [Of Mice and Men] movie today?" at which several people laughed and he shot back "What are you laughing at?" I had made it abundantly clear that we would not be watching the movie that day, so this seemed like an attention-getting move. At the end of class, he mumbled something to me that I did not hear and bolted out of the door without my permission. He returned before the bell, but in general, his defiance and complete disregard for class rules and academic expectations has become extreme. He openly mocks me when I redirect him.
Interventions Tried	I have tried to logically explain [redacted] lack of progress to him, explained directions clearly, set expectations clearly, explained why his grades are doing what they are, and what constitutes appropriate dialogue with a teacher. None of these things have worked in the long run, and in fact, he has openly told me that he "does not like me" and bragged about throwing things at teachers in middle school.

	Clearly, I am not reporting this because I need to be liked, but rather because the openness of [redacted]s defiance is a problem that is derailing his progress and is emblematic of a trend among certain 9th graders.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think that [redacted] would benefit from more eyes being on him and more people checking in with him about his progress. Since I have him back-to-back in third and fourth, he has begun to tune out my voice. I think admin and other teachers giving him a harder time about his performance overall would show him that we notice when he flaunts his disrespect for learning and appropriate communication. I would appreciate a team-oriented effort with him because he has been digging in his heels with disrespecting me and my class. and I'm running out of options.

Email address	joshua.rombro@animo.org
Teacher Name	Josh Rombro
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	11
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On Tuesday, I was on 7th period prep making copies when I noticed [redacted] and [redacted] being disruptive near the bathrooms on the first floor. I asked them to go to class, and went back to my own tasks. Later, I found they were still in the halls. I witnessed [redacted] and [redacted] sprinting in the halls, chasing each other, and making loud noises. In the hallways, they tried to act like they had done nothing wrong. [redacted] walked away from me when I told him he needed to come into the office with me, and promptly left campus. I escorted [redacted] into Mr. Murcia's office. I asked [redacted] to explain what had happened, prompting him to give a very short and abbreviated account of the events. I explained in greater detail what I have just described, and our security camera's can corroborate my account. At this point, Mr. Murcia said that [redacted] would now need an escort to the bathroom, and assured me that [redacted] would be brought in first thing in the morning (Wednesday) to address the issues of being out of class, being disruptive in the halls, being disrespectful to a teacher, and intentionally disobeying the direction of a teacher.

Interventions Tried	I stopped them in the halls and tried to find out what class they were supposed to be in, and what their teachers' thought they were doing. They made this conversation difficult by avoiding my questions or giving blatantly untruthful answers, so I asked them to come to the office. Both students have a history of behavior issues from being in my class last year.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I just noticed [redacted] in the hallways, unescorted. I also followed up with V and she said that nobody had pulled [redacted] in to discuss Tuesday's events. Where is he on the progressive discipline matrix? What is the designation for ditching class without intention to return to class, sprinting in the halls, disrespecting a teacher, and disobeying a direct request to go to the office?

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] parents are going through a divorce, which has clearly had an impact on her behavior in the spring semester. This referral serves to document some of her behaviors today, all of which have been repeated and represent patterns. [redacted] came into class screaming, talking to other students about drama (thereby distracting them from getting started), and physically hitting her friends (horseplay). I told her numerous times to please find her seat, and I even had her walk out of class and come back in. None of it helped, and she ignored me many times. Throughout the lesson, R[redacted] attempted none of her work, talking the entire time and ignoring my redirection. At one point she openly yelled the n-word, and at another she was loudly telling a group about how some people drink urine. [redacted] did not attempt her software or read in the reading station. At every attempt of redirection, she either ignored me or talked over me.
	I spent the entire class redirecting her individually, but she

Interventions Tried	was the only student who struggled with understanding directions. She dis not attempt to read my written directions from the board, and she did not attempt to listen to my verbal directions the first time I gave them. Josh came in at one point, and [redacted] did not fully stop disrupting the room or begin reading. She pretended to be on task. So admin presence did not help either.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	The ninth grade team is calling home on Friday during teacher prep, but [redacted] needs to be pulled from class in the future. She does not respond to anything that I tell her in class, and admin presence does not help her while in the class either. On this day, she disrupted my class to the point that we did nothing productive and the majority of kids were distracted from their learning. So in the future, I would like to be able to send her out for the rest of us to continue learning.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	Student was being loud disruptive during class reading. When I sat next to him in attempt to keep him in focus, he began waving his book in front of my face. I eventually took his book because he was nor paying attention and he would begin yelling, "Why did you take my book?" or "Can I have it back." I wrote his name on the board to let him now he was staying after school. Student then proceeded to walk around the classroom, messily rub another's students head. He went to the corner of the room and pretended to sleep and snore very loudly. He was also knocking over desks and chairs. Over the course of the period, he began moving seats so that he could get closer to the door. He tried leaving 4 minutes early, but Ms. Koenes stopped him out in the hall. Student Grade level	9
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	Student was being loud disruptive during class reading. When I sat next to him in attempt to keep him in focus, he began waving his book in front of my face. I eventually took his book because he was nor paying attention and he would begin yelling, "Why did you take my book?" or "Can I have it back." I wrote his name on the board to let him now he was staying after school. Student then proceeded to walk around the classroom, messily rub another's students head. He went to the corner of the room and pretended to sleep and snore very loudly. He was also knocking over desks and chairs. Over the course of the period, he began moving seats so that he could get closer to the door. He tried leaving 4 minutes early, but Ms. Koenes stopped him out in the hall. I'm not sure what happened at that point.
Interventions Tried	I redirected student several times. I did not send him to the office because it became clear that he was looking for me to do so.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration,	I'm calling [redacted] mom I'm asking that he stay the entirety of my office hours to make up lost work tomorrow. I would also like someone to speak to him because his behavior has

or intervention	spiraled out of control. He's missed several days of class because he is being sent to the office very often.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which point [redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.
Interventions Tried	I knew that [redacted] was going to walk into my class when I saw him down the hall [redacted] had popped out without permission and said something to him), and I closed the door and blinds to signal that my room was not to be entered. When the student opened the door, he walked right in and stared me down (very close to my body) in a way that was clearly intended to show that he was here to do whatever he wanted. I tried to explain to him why that was inappropriate and that he was not allowed to be in my classroom, but he did not move or respond, instead just smiling in my face.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think we still have [redacted] on an escort system for the hallways, and that needs to be followed. He walked out of my class earlier today, despite the fact that Murcia was standing literally by my door. I;m not sure how to do this, but signaling to him that he cannot simply go into random classrooms because he "has something to do/say to someone in there" is not appropriate. Any support with [redacted] return would be appreciated.

Student Grade level	10
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	I was not sure what to mark for severe or moderate. I marked severe since he was not in the room he was assigned to and could not be accounted for during class. Student was marked absent during 2nd period. I saw him reclining on the steps by the front of school after school talking with a friend. I asked him where he had been during class and he could not remember. His eyes were visibly red. Combined with his memory lapse he appeared to be high on marijuana. I asked him to join me in the office. As we walked into the office he recalled and reported that he had been in Ms. Tang's room during 2nd period. I had to conference with office staff on another matter and when I came out an office, [redacted] had left.
Interventions Tried	Student is an SST candidate and grade level closely monitors progress and attendance. Gauthier calls him in during Advisory for academic support.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Spoke with Gorsich after incident. She said he would be assigned detention on Wednesday and mandatory tutoring with me on Thursday to make up the work he missed.

Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	During 5th period on 12/12, [redacted] was not reading to start class, and he seemed agitated by my redirection. When we rotated to the second station, [redacted] did not go to small groups as he was supposed to, and he instead went to a computer. When Ms. Koenes and I asked him to join small groups, he did so with much resistance. He did not attempt his work and instead sat in small groups swearing, distracting others, and saying how much he hates Read 180. A few minutes later, he went back to the reading station and distracted his friend. He kept swearing and saying how much he hated the class. He then got up and said that he was going to the office. Ms. Koenes told him that he may not leave, to which he said that he does not care. Ms. Koenes said again that this was considered walking out of a class, and [redacted] wordlessly pushed the door open and left.
Interventions Tried	I greeted [redacted] at the door, gave him a new reading log, redirected him kindly multiple times, offered for him to read another book, and tried to listen to his concerns about being in Read 180. [redacted] did not respond well or at all to these interventions.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	[redacted] has seemed very sour on Read 180 class for the past two periods. Last class, he cussed me out because he thought that I was reprimanding him when I was in fact talking to the person next to him. I think that he would benefit from a conversation with admin about the role of Read 180 and strategies for us to support him. He's clearly not a bad kid, but his cussing me out and ignoring my redirection to a pathological degree is not okay.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted] He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss [redacted]?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a

Interventions Tried	chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted] This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or [redacted] (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Email address	joshua.rombro@animo.org
Teacher Name	Josh Rombro
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	12
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On Tuesday, I was on 7th period prep making copies when I noticed [redacted] and [redacted] being disruptive near the bathrooms on the first floor. I asked them to go to class, and went back to my own tasks. Later, I found they were still in the halls. I witnessed [redacted] and [redacted] sprinting in the halls, chasing each other, and making loud noises. In the hallways, they tried to act like they had done nothing wrong. [redacted] walked away from me when I told him he needed to come into the office with me, and promptly left campus. I escorted [redacted] into Mr. Murcia's office. I asked [redacted] to explain what had happened, prompting him to give a very short and abbreviated account of the events. I explained in greater detail what I have just described, and our security camera's can corroborate my account. At this point, Mr. Murcia said that [redacted] would now need an escort to the bathroom, and assured me that [redacted] would be brought in first thing in the morning (Wednesday) to address the issues of being out of class, being disruptive in the halls, being disrespectful to a teacher, and intentionally disobeying the direction of a teacher.

Interventions Tried	I stopped them in the halls and tried to find out what class they were supposed to be in, and what their teachers' thought they were doing. They made this conversation difficult by avoiding my questions or giving blatantly untruthful answers, so I asked them to come to the office. Both students have a history of behavior issues from being in my class last year.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I just noticed [redacted] in the hallways, unescorted. I also followed up with V and she said that nobody had pulled [redacted] in to discuss Tuesday's events. Where is he on the progressive discipline matrix? What is the designation for ditching class without intention to return to class, sprinting in the halls, disrespecting a teacher, and disobeying a direct request to go to the office?

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which point [redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.
Interventions Tried	I knew that [redacted] was going to walk into my class when I saw him down the hall ([redacted] had popped out without permission and said something to him), and I closed the door and blinds to signal that my room was not to be entered. When the student opened the door, he walked right in and stared me down (very close to my body) in a way that was clearly intended to show that he was here to do whatever he wanted. I tried to explain to him why that was inappropriate and that he was not allowed to be in my classroom, but he did not move or respond, instead just smiling in my face.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think we still have [redacted] on an escort system for the hallways, and that needs to be followed. He walked out of my class earlier today, despite the fact that Murcia was standing literally by my door. I;m not sure how to do this, but signaling to him that he cannot simply go into random classrooms because he "has something to do/say to someone in there" is not appropriate. Any support with [redacted] return would be appreciated.

Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	I was not sure what to mark for severe or moderate. I marked severe since he was not in the room he was assigned to and could not be accounted for during class. Student was marked absent during 2nd period. I saw him reclining on the steps by the front of school after school talking with a friend. I asked him where he had been during class and he could not remember. His eyes were visibly red. Combined with his memory lapse he appeared to be high on marijuana. I asked him to join me in the office. As we walked into the office he recalled and reported that he had been in Ms. Tang's room during 2nd period. I had to conference with office staff on another matter and when I came out an office, [redacted] had left.
Interventions Tried	Student is an SST candidate and grade level closely monitors progress and attendance. Gauthier calls him in during Advisory for academic support.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Spoke with Gorsich after incident. She said he would be assigned detention on Wednesday and mandatory tutoring with me on Thursday to make up the work he missed.

Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	While I was helping another student in 7th period, [redacted] grabbed my laser pointer off my desk and started shining it in other students eyes. I told him firmly and clearly to put it back on my desk and continue working, to which he yelled back "It wasn't even on your desk" as if that was what I was worried about. He continued to shine the laser into other students' eyes, which they told him to stop doing. I called the office and [redacted] came to get him. He quickly placed the laser back onto my desk when he heard me on the phone.
Interventions Tried	I told [redacted] in clear terms that he should not be shining lasers into people's eyes, and I told him repeatedly after he ignored me and defied my directions. My next option would have been to physically wrench the laser from his hands, but obviously that would not be advised. It was just concerning because he continued to shine the laser into students' eyes.
	Several things are going on here. For one, [redacted] has consistently ignored my redirections for the entire semester, and today was no exception. He gets into this tunnel-vision mode of misbehavior where anything that I say to him, no matter how directly, elicits more defiance. I raised my voice today and told him exactly what to stop doing, what to do instead, and why this was wrong. He had the directions of the assignment explained to him many times and it was on the board as well. I have called his mother twice. His response in the moment is always to yell back at me and try to overpower me.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Secondly, shining lasers into people's eyes is extremely dangerous, and the students were very distressed by it. [redacted] just kept doing it even when I told him how dangerous it was. I don't think it's an exaggeration to treat this very seriously because he clearly isn't seeing it that way right now. [redacted] has done zero work and put in zero effort for months. His behavior has worsened, even after the departure of [redacted], who seemed to bring out his worst instincts. [redacted] needs to have a much tighter supervision regimen, maybe even a tracker of sorts, because previous interventions have not worked at all. He is in real danger of entering sophomore year reading and acting like a middle school student. Real harm was done today.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	While I was helping another student in 7th period, [redacted] grabbed my laser pointer off my desk and started shining it in other students eyes. I told him firmly and clearly to put it back on my desk and continue working, to which he yelled back "It wasn't even on your desk" as if that was what I was worried about. He continued to shine the laser into other students' eyes, which they told him to stop doing. I called the office and [redacted] came to get him. He quickly placed the laser back onto my desk when he heard me on the phone.
Interventions Tried	I told [redacted] in clear terms that he should not be shining lasers into people's eyes, and I told him repeatedly after he ignored me and defied my directions. My next option would have been to physically wrench the laser from his hands, but obviously that would not be advised. It was just concerning because he continued to shine the laser into students' eyes.
	Several things are going on here. For one, [redacted] has consistently ignored my redirections for the entire semester, and today was no exception. He gets into this tunnel-vision mode of misbehavior where anything that I say to him, no matter how directly, elicits more defiance. I raised my voice today and told him exactly what to stop doing, what to do instead, and why this was wrong. He had the directions of the assignment explained to him many times and it was on the board as well. I have called his mother twice. His response in the moment is always to yell back at me and try to overpower me.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Secondly, shining lasers into people's eyes is extremely dangerous, and the students were very distressed by it. [redacted] just kept doing it even when I told him how dangerous it was. I don't think it's an exaggeration to treat this very seriously because he clearly isn't seeing it that way right now. [redacted] has done zero work and put in zero effort for months. His behavior has worsened, even after the departure of [redacted], who seemed to bring out his worst instincts. [redacted] needs to have a much tighter supervision regimen, maybe even a tracker of sorts, because previous interventions have not worked at all. Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On Tuesday, I was on 7th period prep making copies when I noticed [redacted] and [redacted] being disruptive near the bathrooms on the first floor. I asked them to go to class, and went back to my own tasks. Later, I found they were still in the halls. I witnessed [redacted] and [redacted] sprinting in the halls, chasing each other, and making loud noises. In the hallways, they tried to act like they had done nothing wrong. [redacted] walked away from me when I told him he needed to come into the office with me, and promptly left campus. I escorted [redacted] into Mr. Murcia's office. I asked [redacted] to explain what had happened, prompting him to give a very short and abbreviated account of the events. I explained in greater detail what I have just described, and our security camera's can corroborate my account. At this point, Mr. Murcia said that [redacted] would now need an escort to the bathroom, and assured me that [redacted] would be brought in first thing in the morning (Wednesday) to address the issues of being out of class, being disruptive in the halls, being disrespectful to a teacher, and intentionally disobeying the direction of a teacher.

Interventions Tried	I stopped them in the halls and tried to find out what class they were supposed to be in, and what their teachers' thought they were doing. They made this conversation difficult by avoiding my questions or giving blatantly untruthful answers, so I asked them to come to the office. Both students have a history of behavior issues from being in my class last year.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I just noticed [redacted] in the hallways, unescorted. I also followed up with V and she said that nobody had pulled [redacted] in to discuss Tuesday's events. Where is he on the progressive discipline matrix? What is the designation for ditching class without intention to return to class, sprinting in the halls, disrespecting a teacher, and disobeying a direct request to go to the office?

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted] He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss [redacted]?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a

Interventions Tried	chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted]. This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or [redacted] (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	Student was being loud disruptive during class reading. When I sat next to him in attempt to keep him in focus, he began waving his book in front of my face. I eventually took his book because he was nor paying attention and he would begin yelling, "Why did you take my book?" or "Can I have it back." I wrote his name on the board to let him now he was staying after school. Student then proceeded to walk around the classroom, messily rub another's students head. He went to the corner of the room and pretended to sleep and snore very loudly. He was also knocking over desks and chairs. Over the course of the period, he began moving seats so that he could get closer to the door. He tried leaving 4 minutes early, but Ms. Koenes stopped him out in the hall. I'm not sure what happened at that point.
Interventions Tried	I redirected student several times. I did not send him to the office because it became clear that he was looking for me to do so.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration,	I'm calling [redacted] mom I'm asking that he stay the entirety of my office hours to make up lost work tomorrow. I would also like someone to speak to him because his behavior has

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which poin[redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.
Interventions Tried	I knew that [redacted] was going to walk into my class when I saw him down the hall ([redacted] had popped out without permission and said something to him), and I closed the door and blinds to signal that my room was not to be entered. When the student opened the door, he walked right in and stared me down (very close to my body) in a way that was clearly intended to show that he was here to do whatever he wanted. I tried to explain to him why that was inappropriate and that he was not allowed to be in my classroom, but he did not move or respond, instead just smiling in my face.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think we still have [redacted] on an escort system for the hallways, and that needs to be followed. He walked out of my class earlier today, despite the fact that Murcia was standing literally by my door. I;m not sure how to do this, but signaling to him that he cannot simply go into random classrooms because he "has something to do/say to someone in there" is not appropriate. Any support with [redacted] return would be appreciated.

Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which point [redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.

Teacher Name	Josh Rombro
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	I was walking a student from my advisory to her class to personally explain her tardiness when [redacted] stepped one foot into the hall, body in the doorway, to shout all the way down the hallway toward Dr. Lara's class to get the attention of another student ("What up, [redacted]?!") I asked him to step outside to speak in the hall. He promptly stepped inside to avoid speaking to me. I knocked on the door and was ignored. I knocked again, and was eventually allowed into the room. The student in question was sitting close to the door. I asked if I could speak to him outside. He flatly said, "No." I asked again, and again he refused. I then asked Ms. Pina what his name was, confirmed his grade level with him, and left to go find out who his advisor was. I asked Mr. Castro, who told me that I should report it directly to Admin, as this would constitute a violation of his DRB.
Interventions Tried	Private conversation, warning before report
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration,	I am unaware of his record or reputation, but I trust Admin, his Advisor, and/or his teacher's to know what is best in this case. Personally, I think that the initial disruption in the hall or intervention	was a less serious infraction than the flat refusal to speak in private in the hallway.

Teacher Name	Jaureguy
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	10
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Severe - student is being sent out of class and immediate admin action is needed (Office Phone Call Made)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	I was not sure what to mark for severe or moderate. I marked severe since he was not in the room he was assigned to and could not be accounted for during class. Student was marked absent during 2nd period. I saw him reclining on the steps by the front of school after school talking with a friend. I asked him where he had been during class and he could not remember. His eyes were visibly red. Combined with his memory lapse he appeared to be high on marijuana. I asked him to join me in the office. As we walked into the office he recalled and reported that he had been in Ms. Tang's room during 2nd period. I had to conference with office staff on another matter and when I came out an office, [redacted] had left.
Interventions Tried	Student is an SST candidate and grade level closely monitors progress and attendance. Gauthier calls him in during Advisory for academic support.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Spoke with Gorsich after incident. She said he would be assigned detention on Wednesday and mandatory tutoring with me on Thursday to make up the work he missed.

Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] parents are going through a divorce, which has clearly had an impact on her behavior in the spring semester. This referral serves to document some of her behaviors today, all of which have been repeated and represent patterns. [redacted] came into class screaming, talking to other students about drama (thereby distracting them from getting started), and physically hitting her friends (horseplay). I told her numerous times to please find her seat, and I even had her walk out of class and come back in. None of it helped, and she ignored me many times. Throughout the lesson, [redacted] attempted none of her work, talking the entire time and ignoring my redirection. At one point she openly yelled the n-word, and at another she was loudly telling a group about how some people drink urine. [redacted] did not attempt her software or read in the reading station. At every attempt of redirection, she either ignored me or talked over me.
	I spent the entire class redirecting her individually, but she

Interventions Tried	was the only student who struggled with understanding directions. She dis not attempt to read my written directions from the board, and she did not attempt to listen to my verbal directions the first time I gave them. Josh came in at one point, and [redacted] did not fully stop disrupting the room or begin reading. She pretended to be on task. So admin presence did not help either.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	The ninth grade team is calling home on Friday during teacher prep, but [redacted] needs to be pulled from class in the future. She does not respond to anything that I tell her in class, and admin presence does not help her while in the class either. On this day, she disrupted my class to the point that we did nothing productive and the majority of kids were distracted from their learning. So in the future, I would like to be able to send her out for the rest of us to continue learning.

Hey, Sherrie!

Happy New Year! I wanted to invite you to come observe one of my English 11 classes sometime in the near future so you can let me know what you think of my new strategy for sharing and then looping back to objectives (both content and language) and proving behaviors. If you let me know what day you might come, I can give you some time parameters to shoot for. For example, if you came on Tues./Wed. of this week, you could see it in action (along with student discussions) around the 20-minute mark.

Also, do you have notes from our last meeting? I know we talked about focusing on a particular area for our future observations and debriefs, but I cannot for the life of me remember what we said. The last two weeks of Semester 1 are a blur of exhaustion!

Best,
Sara

Tip #2: 60 Second Strategy – Professional Courtesy

Do you ever wonder how you can gain your students' attention after independent time?

Watch this short video to understand "Professional Courtesy", which is something you can teach your students.

https://www.edutopia.org/video/60-second-strategy-professional-courtesy

In this section of News from New Teacher Development, various members of our Green Dot Education Team will share their Lessons Learned from their first year of teaching.

Lessons Learned

Brittney Rupert, Science Curriculum Specialist

“You’re doing what?” “You’re going where?” “Why would you want to go teach THERE, isn’t it incredibly dangerous?” These were a few of the many questions I received from well-intentioned family and friends upon making my final decision to accept the invitation to join Teach For America as a 2009 Corp Member, making the move from small-town Kansas to Los Angeles. My typical responses involved many cliche phrases such as “call to action”, “underserved kids”, “I want to help these kids”, or “achievement gap based on where you were born”. My oh my how my responses to those questions would change from then to now. My first year, in addition to the years teaching that followed, taught me SO much about the students and families in the communities I had/have the privilege of working with every day.

I was quite the “type-A”, “know-it-all” type and so I just knew I was going to achieve all my goals in my first year teaching. Ha! I got a big reality check when I stepped into that corner classroom of what is now Animo Jefferson. I began my first year teaching science at a former Green Dot school, Animo Justice. I originally began as a 12th grade Anatomy/Physiology teacher and a 10th grade Health teacher, but then it was realized that our students needed a Physical Education class for graduation and so clearly as the Health teacher, it made sense to couple Health with PE. I thought “well I am athletic and love sports, PE will be GREAT!”. A student concussion and collisions later, I realized that I had ZERO clue how to teach PE. That’s when the PE teacher from the school next door (Animo Ralph Bunche) took me under his wing and gave me some pointers on how to effectively (or as effectively as I had the capacity for at the time) to teach PE. I literally would not have made it through that first year without him and the countless other teachers guiding me along the way. That does not mean that my first year was a breeze because of the support I received from my colleagues, BUT it was survivable.

I now cherish many moments from my first year, including at the end of the year when Animo Justice announced its closing, one of the kids who loved to challenge me daily (often by skateboarding in the back of my classroom…what?!?!) told me how sorry he was and that he really thought that I was a great teacher, especially to “put up with me” as he put it. I quickly realized that I was reaching even those students who seemed to be a thorn in my side, with many of the subtle things I brought to the classroom every day (kindness, patience, empathy, etc.). To say that my first year was full of lessons learned is an understatement, however I would be lying if I said I learned all of these lessons immediately in the first year. Many of these lessons learned took time to reflect upon and apply new learnings toward in order to gain new insights into experiences from my first year.

As we begin a new year and are enthralled in the excitement of creating New Year's resolutions, I encourage you all to reset and set a "New Year's resolution" for the remainder of your first year. A new trend I have noticed with New Year's resolutions is to choose a word for your year. If I were to look back and choose a word for my first year, I think it would be absorb. Take in all of the knowledge and skills being thrown your way, absorb it, and when the year is over spend time making sense of it all through the experiences your first year brought you. Now it's your turn, what is your word for your first year teaching?

ALL NEW TEACHERS: Getting Your To Do List Under Control

Building routines around recurring tasks can help new teachers save effort and focus on what really matters.

By Marissa King
October 11, 2018

Teaching is a big job. From early morning setup to after-school grading, teachers are constantly making decisions, multitasking, and hustling through lengthy to-do lists. For new teachers, it can be especially hard to get everything done and still have much-needed time for personal wellness.

This year, take a page from successful veteran teachers who rely on smart, purposeful routines to get things done. These teachers often adopt routines in order to save time, eliminate unnecessary decision making, and prioritize what matters. Charles Duhigg, author of The Power of Habit, points out that creating routines allows us to focus on what matters instead of sweating the details on when to accomplish a daily or weekly task. In other words, adding purposeful routines is a way for teachers to save effort and still get stuff done.

PLANNING ROUTINES

Instead of planning the night before or hauling home unneeded books, use the power of routine to create a sustainable planning schedule. Start by making a list of all your planning requirements. Include everything—if you make homework packets or need to plan a new math center each week, add those tasks to your list.

When you have an idea of what you need to accomplish every week, take a realistic look at your calendar to decide what time slots you'll dedicate to planning. List your school planning period and available after-school hours. But if you usually use your planning period on Friday to tidy up your classroom, leave it off your list—it's taken already.

Then schedule your time off. If you love sleeping in on Saturdays or hitting up trivia night with friends on Tuesdays, block those times off. Consider picking at least one day of the week when you leave school as early as possible and one day to work late. A scheduled early leave time each week makes it a little easier to complete errands and schedule doctor's appointments without shifting your entire planning routine.

When you have your basic time slots ready, the next goal is to create a schedule that batches similar work together for efficiency. If you teach science every day, block out a time on Monday when you can prep the entire week. If you make daily bell-ringer activities, complete a full week's worth at one time. You'll save yourself time and effort when you can group similar tasks together. Making all your copies at once, for example, is faster than doing a batch each morning. The goal is to find a routine that allows you to effectively plan without dominating every moment of your life.

Your first planning routine may require a few tweaks. If you end up feeling stressed when you're prepping homework packets on Sunday night, adjust your plan until it's comfortable. If you find yourself waiting in long lines at the copy or lamination machines, schedule your office work for low-traffic times or save it all for the one day you stay late at school.

PARENT CONTACT ROUTINES

Parent contact can seem like a big task until it's broken down into small routines. First, figure out what kind of contact you plan to have. Personal notes, phone calls, class newsletters, or Remind texts are just a few options. Then, figure out a time you can use each week. Perhaps you'll dedicate the 20 minutes between the after-school bell and the faculty meeting to making parent phone calls each Monday.

In some cases, class time can work for a parent contact routine too. During my first year in the classroom, I wrote a quick card or two to parents during daily independent writing time. While students dug into their own writing, I knelt next to a desk and jotted a few positive sentences to parents.

Whether you choose to dedicate an entire planning period or a few minutes each day to this task, track which parents you contact so you can slowly work through the entire list.

ORGANIZATIONAL ROUTINES
Time-savvy, get-it-done routines can be applied to out-of-class responsibilities too. Dedicate a specific time to managing email, and consider using the OHIO (Only Handle It Once) method. When you read an email, reply or act immediately so you aren't constantly checking back in on old emails or forgetting tasks altogether. One smart colleague of mine keeps a whiteboard by her desk where she records all email to-do items so she never misses one.

Use routines to streamline any areas of work that seem daunting, disorganized, or time consuming. If the moments before school are a little stressful, create a priority list to complete each morning. If you find yourself scrambling to complete important tasks or missing personal activities, consider creating routines to help you reliably fit these things into your work week.

Teachers have long lauded the importance of routines for student learning, and we can develop some useful ones for ourselves too.

NTD Spotlight

There are 80+ teachers in Green Dot in their first year of teaching. These teachers are living through many ups and downs, experiencing funny moments, and have a strategy, best practice or a moment of perseverance to share. In this section, we will spotlight a beginning teacher who will share their experience and growing wisdom.

Highlighting English Teacher, Justina Britt!

I enjoy knowing: the instruction that I provide will give students the necessary tools for success, in the future.

I have secret handshakes with some students so, at any given moment during passing periods I am seen dancing, nodding, and doing nonverbal gestures.

My best practice is organization. My classroom runs on color coating from: Read 180 rotations to lexiled books, my organization is my best practice. It allows my students to conduct task quickly, effectively, and efficiently!

EL Updates

NEW Fall Reclassification Round 2
After our fall reclassification window, we received ELPAC scores for students who are new to Green Dot this year. Some of these students are eligible for reclassification based on their ELPAC Scores, Quarter 1 ELA grades and RI Scores. The students on your roster who reclassify now will not take the ELPAC in the spring. It most cases it is best to leave these students in their designated classes for the remainder of the school year. Decisions to move them out should be on a case by case basis.

Reclass Next Steps:

- Please view your reclassification tracker in the District EL Collaboration Folder today to see the names of any students who have been added and are now eligible for reclassification.
- Please give the teacher forms out for approval and update the tracker by Wednesday, December 19th.

NEW EL PD Support
EL PD #5 if now available on CONNECT. Additionally, some schools have added an extra PD between PDs 3 and 4 to practice Language Criteria for success. Please view this example to get ideas of what this could look like if you have room in your PD schedule to insert this extra practice.

Planning for the ELPAC Summative
The testing window for the ELPAC Summative is February 25th – March 29th.

1. Supports for ELPAC Test Facilitators:

   - There will not be a pull-out day for teacher or admin training this school year. The ELD department will create a PPT deck for trained admin/staff to use with teachers/staff who need to be trained. Please consider reserving approximately 2 hours of time (can be split up as needed) for you to train new staff. The PPT deck will be available on January 18th.
   - Admin, teachers or counselors who were trained last year do not need to be trained again. However, they will need to access Moodle (an on-line training resource) for approximately one hour to calibrate on scoring the speaking section.

2. ELPAC Summative Materials

   - KM will place orders for your materials which should arrive after winter break.

Alumni Newsletter
We are excited to announce that the first issue of our Alumni Newsletter was released on November 14th to nearly 1,800 recent grads! Educational Opportunities

Awesome Opportunity for Students
The Coro Youth Fellowship application is now available! The application is due April 1, 2019. This is an awesome program that is an immersive, experiential, cohort-based summer program that engages high school participants in leadership skill development and understanding how local systems work. Youth Fellows will interview local leaders, participate in site visits to learn about how things get done in Southern California, and participate in small group projects that challenge them to engage with local stakeholders, practice their skills, and develop mentors and networks that will support their future career development. The program provides need based financial aid. Please visit this site to learn more about the program and have students apply: https://www.corola.org/youth/.

We have reached out to counselors and Advisory Leads to encourage students to apply and also to potentially set up recruitment sessions with the Program Liaison. We have created this deck to advertise within advisory or other relevant courses.

EL Updates

NEW Fall Reclassification Round 2
After our fall reclassification window, we received ELPAC scores for students who are new to Green Dot this year. Some of these students are eligible for reclassification based on their ELPAC Scores, Quarter 1 ELA grades and RI Scores. The students on your roster who reclassify now will not take the ELPAC in the spring. It most cases it is best to leave these students in their designated classes for the remainder of the school year. Decisions to move them out should be on a case by case basis.

Reclass Next Steps:

- Please view your reclassification tracker in the District EL Collaboration Folder today to see the names of any students who have been added and are now eligible for reclassification.
- Please give the teacher forms out for approval and update the tracker by Wednesday, December 19th.

NEW EL PD Support
EL PD #5 if now available on CONNECT. Additionally, some schools have added an extra PD between PDs 3 and 4 to practice Language Criteria for success. Please view this example to get ideas of what this could look like if you have room in your PD schedule to insert this extra practice.

Planning for the ELPAC Summative

1. Supports for ELPAC Test Facilitators:

   - There will not be a pull-out day for teacher or admin training this school year. The ELD department will create a PPT deck for trained admin/staff to use with teachers/staff who need to be trained. Please consider reserving approximately 2 hours of time (can be split up as needed) for you to train new staff. The PPT deck will be available on January 18th.
   - Admin, teachers or counselors who were trained last year do not need to be trained again. However, they will need to access Moodle (an on-line training resource) for approximately one hour to calibrate on scoring the speaking section.

2. ELPAC Summative Materials

   - KM will place orders for your materials which should arrive after winter break.

Alumni Newsletter
We are excited to announce that the first issue of our Alumni Newsletter was released on November 14th to nearly 1,800 recent grads! For any questions, contact Theresa or Narineh.

Educational Opportunities

Awesome Opportunity for Students
The Coro Youth Fellowship application is now available! The application is due April 1, 2019. This is an awesome program that is an immersive, experiential, cohort-based summer program that engages high school participants in leadership skill development and understanding how local systems work. Youth Fellows will interview local leaders, participate in site visits to learn about how things get done in Southern California, and participate in small group projects that challenge them to engage with local stakeholders, practice their skills, and develop mentors and networks that will support their future career development. The program provides need based financial aid. Please visit this site to learn more about the program and have students apply: https://www.corola.org/youth/.

We have reached out to counselors and Advisory Leads to encourage students to apply and also to potentially set up recruitment sessions with the Program Liaison. We have created this deck to advertise within advisory or other relevant courses.

Good Food Zones Motion
On Tuesday, United Parents and Students stood alongside the LA Food Policy Council in support of the Good Food Zones Motion before the Economic Development Committee at City Hall. The motion passed in the committee and will now go to the full council for a vote in the spring. The motion assesses the feasibility of piloting a Good Food Zone in South LA to support public and private investments in sustainable food entrepreneurs and businesses across the supply chain. This is a great next step in the food justice campaign!

Summative Deadline is next Friday (12/21)

If you have started a Fall observation cycle and will not be able to finish it for any reason, please contact Julia Fisher and your manager so that we can determine how to best move forward. New contract language allows us to finish fall Observation Cycles in the spring (if it wasn't completed because of teacher absence) but this requires some manual Ed Reflect work and an open Observation Cycle will not be there in the spring when you return.

Sharing Evidence

The contract has specific language around sharing scripts, but this remains an inconsistent practice across sites. For spring semester, please make sure you are consistently sharing scripts in Ed Reflect with teachers according to the contract stipulations below.

Informals: Shortly after an Informal Observation, the teacher's evaluating administrator shall share evidence with the teacher via EdReflect (prior to debrief)

Unscheduled Observations: Shortly after an Unscheduled Observation, the teacher's evaluating administrator shall align evidence to any observed CRTF Domain 2 and 3 indicators and share such evidence with the teacher via EdReflect. (prior to debrief)

Scheduled Observation: No later than two (2) work days prior to the Post-Observation Conference (described below), the teacher's evaluating administrator shall align the evidence to any observed, applicable CRTF Domains 2 and 3 indicators and share such evidence with the teacher via EdReflect. Please hold Goal Setting meetings before break. The IGC is due by Data Analysis Support for Midyear RI Test Administration: The RI midyear testing window ended just before the winter break. Below are some helpful tools for school site analysis, goal setting and for communication of progress with parents.

NEW! Internal Literacy Growth Report

This brand new report includes a test completion status tab as well as grade level RI proficiency band data, % of students meeting growth goals, and average lexiles for first and last RI tests. The data can also be filtered by subgroups. If you'd like assistance navigating this report, please reach out to Tarah Jensen or Leona Matthews.

Progress to College and Career RI reports –

This valuable report can be downloaded from Leader Central, but because not all teachers have access to SAM and to save you time pulling reports, Ceci Howard downloaded all of the files for each school organized by grade level files. You can access the reports in this file folder. We recommend that teachers share this report with students along with midyear reflection resources on CONNECT. It is also an excellent report to send home to parents to facilitate discussion about lexile and independent reading goal setting. Please reach out to Leona Matthews or the literacy specialist at your site with questions about how to use this report. You can also request a midyear data analysis meeting to guide lexile and literacy program implementation analysis.
